WISCONSIN POWER AND LIGHT CO. AND NORTH WEST UTILITIES CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING AND ORDER FOR CONSOLIDATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 8th day of October, A. D. 1945.

Notice is hereby given that applications and declarations have been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, particularly sections 6, 7, 9, 10, and 12 thereof, by North West Utilities Company ("North West"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of The Middle West Corporation, also a registered holding company, and by Wisconsin Power and Light Company ("Wisconsin"), a public utility subsidiary of North West.

All interested persons are referred to said documents which are on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Wisconsin proposes to amend its Articles of Organization (a) by changing each share of its common stock having a par value of $50 to five shares of common stock having a par value of $10 each, (b) by increasing the authorized Preferred Stock from $20,000,000 to $28,800,000, and (c) by incorporating various provisions stated to be designed for the protection of the Preferred Stock. Wisconsin then proposes to change its entire outstanding common stock, represented by 146,185 shares of the par value of $50 per share, 141,970 of which shares are owned by North West, into 730,925 shares of the par value of $10 per share.

Wisconsin proposes to issue and sell to North West, and North West proposes to acquire 450,000 additional shares of common stock of the par value of $10 per share for $4,500,000 in cash. Wisconsin proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of such common stock, together with other funds of the company, to effect the redemption of so much of its outstanding preferred stock as is not exchanged for new 4½% Preferred Stock.

Wisconsin proposes to issue 120,000 shares of 4½% Preferred Stock at $105 per share to the holders of its presently outstanding 106,068 shares of 7% Preferred Stock and 61,595 shares of 6% Preferred Stock in exchange for 120,000 shares of such stock on a share for share basis and to pay to the holders of the outstanding preferred stock, (a) $5 in cash (the difference between the issue price of $105 of the 4½% Preferred Stock and $110, the redemption price of the outstanding preferred stock), and (b) an additional amount in cash equal to the difference between the accrued dividends per share on the outstanding Preferred Stock and the 4½% Preferred Stock to the date fixed for redemption. If more than 120,000 shares of 7% and 6% Preferred Stock are offered in exchange, the number of shares to be exchanged will be reduced pro rata, as nearly as may be done without the issuance of fractional shares, to a maximum of 120,000 shares. If less than 120,000 shares of 7% and 6% Preferred Stock are offered in exchange, Wisconsin may at its option either withdraw the exchange offer or exchange the shares so deposited.

Wisconsin requests exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 with respect to the preferred stock exchange offer. However, should the exchange offer be withdrawn, Wisconsin proposes to offer for sale at competitive bidding, $12,000,000 par amount of preferred stock, the dividend rate and price to be paid to be fixed by the bidders, and to use the proceeds, together with the necessary additional moneys from the Company's treasury, to retire said $12,000,000 par amount of presently outstanding 7% and 6% Preferred Stock.

Wisconsin proposes to issue and sell to certain banks $3,800,000 principal amount of 2%, Serial Notes, (5% after maturity) payable semi-annually over a period of seven years and to apply the proceeds from the sale of such notes, together with other funds of the company, to the payment and retirement of all its outstanding Serial Notes in the aggregate principal amount of $4,070,000, maturing serially to August 1, 1951 and bearing interest at 2¼%, 2¾% and 3%.

Wisconsin proposes to call a special stockholders' meeting to be held in October 1945 to consider and vote upon the proposed refinancing and related matters and has requested immediate entry by the Commission of Interim Order authorizing the solicitation of proxies in connection therewith pursuant to the requirements of Rule U-62.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters, and that said applications and declarations shall not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of the Commission:

It further appearing that the foregoing matters are related, and that evidence offered in respect to each of the matters may have a bearing on the other, and that substantial saving in time, effort and expense will result if said matters are consolidated;

It is hereby ordered, That said proceedings be, and hereby are, consolidated subject to the reservation that the Commission may at any time it appears conducive to an orderly, efficient or economical disposition of any of the matters herein, order a separate hearing concerning any of the issues in the consolidated proceedings, close the record with respect to any of such issues or take any action on any such issues prior to the close of the record on the other issues therein, or consolidate with this proceeding other matters filed pertaining to the instant proceedings.

It is further ordered, That a hearing on said matters under the applicable provisions of said act and the rules of this Commission thereunder be held on October 22, 1945 at the offices of this Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pa. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which said hearing will be held. At such hearing, cause shall be shown why such declaration shall be permitted to become effective and such applications granted.

It is further ordered, That Robert P. Reeder or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing on such matters. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under Section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues otherwise to be considered in the proceedings, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether the proposed issue and sale of Serial Notes, Preferred Stock and common stock by Wisconsin are solely for the purpose of financing the business in which it is engaged.

(2) Whether the terms and conditions of the proposed exchange offer affecting the Preferred Stocks of Wisconsin are fair and reasonable and appropriate in the public interest and the interest of investors and consumers and whether exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 should be granted with respect thereto.

(3) Whether the acquisition by North West of the common stock of Wisconsin will be detrimental to the carrying out of the provisions of section 11 and will have the tendency required by section 10 (c) (2) of the act and will otherwise meet the requirements of section 10 of the act.

(4) Whether the issue of the promissory note by North West conforms to the provisions of section 7 of the act.

(5) Whether the accounting entries to be recorded in connection with the proposed transactions are proper and conform to sound principles of accounting and meet the standards of the act.

(6) Whether the terms and conditions of the issues of said securities are detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers.

(7) Generally whether the proposed transactions comply with the applicable provisions of the act and the rules, regulations and orders promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That notice of said hearing is hereby given to Wisconsin Power and Light Company, to its respective security holders, to the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin, to the Federal Power Commission, and to all interested persons; said notice to be given to Wisconsin Power and Light Company, the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin and the Federal Power Commission by registered mail, and to other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by general release of this Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

§ 701.702 Control of funds, pooling agreements, conservation practices and rates of payments—(a) Control of funds. Control of funds distributed to any State will be maintained in one of the following ways:

(1) The State committee will establish a limit on expenditures for each county. The county committee will keep within the county limit by approving payment for only those practices for which the extent of the practice is approved by the county committee prior to the performance of the practice, except that practices performed before April 1, 1946, may be approved retroactively by the county committee.

(2) The State committee will establish a limit on expenditures for each county and will approve for each county a formula for setting farm allowances. The total amount of the farm allowances for any county shall not exceed the county limit on expenditures. Amount earned within the farm allowance will be paid in full and payment for the extent of practices performed in excess of the farm allowance will be made on a pro rata basis to the extent of the unobligated portion of the county limit on expenditures.

(3) The State committee will prescribe a formula for setting farm allowances. The total amount of the farm allowances for the State shall not exceed the funds distributed to the State. Amounts earned within the farm allowance will be paid in full and the payment for the extent of practices performed in excess of the farm allowance will be made on a pro rata basis to the extent of the unobligated portion of the funds distributed to the State.

County limits on expenditures and farm allowances shall be established and approval granted on a basis which will provide equitable assistance to all farms, taking into consideration the conservation needs of the county, and of individual farms, respectively.

(b) Pooling agreements. Producers in any local area may agree in writing, with approval of the county and State committees, to perform designated amounts of practices which the State committee determines are necessary to conserve or improve the agricultural resources of the community. For purposes of payments, practices carried out under such an approved written agreement will be regarded as having been carried out on the farms of the producers who performed the practices.

(c) Conservation practices—(1) Basis for approval. In any State or area the conservation practices for which payment will be made shall be those practices which are recommended by the State committee and regional director and approved by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, as practices best adapted to achieve sound soil and water conservation and use, and which will not be carried out in desired volume unless payment is made therefor. Practices to be approved will include only those which maintain or increase soil fertility; control and prevent soil erosion caused by wind or water; encourage conservation and better agricultural use of water; or conserve and increase range and pasture forage. In order to encourage the performance of practices which are needed most on all farms or on groups of farms in a county, the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, may designate from the practices approved for the State or area, those practices which will be applicable on all farms or designated groups of farms in the county.

(2) Practices carried out with State or Federal aid. The extent of any practice shall not be reduced because it is carried out with materials or services furnished by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, equipment furnished by the Soil Conservation Service, materials or services furnished by an agency of a State to another agency of the same State, or trees purchased from a Clark-McNary Cooperative State Nursery. In other cases of State or Federal aid, the total extent of any practice performed shall be reduced for purposes of payment by not less than the percentage of the total cost of the practice which the county committee determines was furnished by a State or Federal agency.

(d) Rates of payment. In any area the rate of payment for carrying out any practice shall be the rate recommended by the State committee and the regional director and approved by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration. The rates of payment for the application of lime, phosphate, potash, gypsum, and mulching materials shall not exceed 80 percent of the estimated average cost of the materials on a farmyard delivery basis. The rates of payment for construction and engineering practices shall not exceed 80 percent of the estimated average cost of construction. The rates of payment for other practices shall not exceed 80 percent of the estimated average cost of performing the practices except where a higher rate of payment is justified on the basis of need for the practice in the area, or lack of familiarity on the part of farmers with the practice.

§ 701.703 Division of payments—(a) Conservation practice payments. The payment earned in carrying out practices with conservation materials or services shall be credited to the producer to whom the materials or services are furnished. Payment for practices performed with conservation materials and services shall have priority over payment for other practices. The payment earned in carrying out other practices shall be paid to the producer who carried out the practices. If more than one producer contributed to the carrying out of such practices, the payment shall be divided in the proportion that the county committee determines the producers contributed to the carrying out of the practices. In making this determination, the county committee shall take into consideration the value of the labor, equipment, or material contributed by each producer toward the carrying out of each practice on a particular acreage, assuming that each contributed equally unless it is established to the satisfaction of the county committee that their respective contributions thereto were not in equal proportion.

(b) Death, incompetency, or disappearance of producer. In case of the death, incompetency, or disappearance of any producer, his share of the payment shall be paid to his successor, determined in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in ACP–122, as amended.

§ 701.704 Increase in small payments. The payment computed for any person with respect to any farm shall be increased as follows:

(a) Any payment amounting to 71 cents or less shall be increased to $1.

(b) Any payment amounting to more than 71 cents but less than $1 shall be increased by 40 percent.

§ 701.705 Payments limited to $10,000—(a) Individuals, partnerships, and estates. The total of all payments made in connection with the 1946 program to any individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places located within a single State, territory, or possession, shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

(b) Others. The total of all payments made in connection with the 1946 program to any person other than an individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places in the United States (including Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

(c) Evasion. All or any part of any payment which has been or otherwise would be made to any person under the 1946 program may be withheld or required to be refunded if he has adopted or participated in adopting any scheme or device designated to evade, or which has the effect of evading, the provisions of this section.

§ 701.706 Conservation materials and services—(a) Availability. Liming materials, phosphate, seeds and other farming materials or services may be furnished by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration to producers for carrying out approved practices.

Title to any material distributed by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, either directly or through purchase orders, shall vest in the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration until the material is applied or planted or all charges for the material are satisfied.

(b) Amount. The amount of materials or services furnished for any farm shall not exceed the farm allowance in States where such allowances are used and shall not exceed the quantity required to carry out practices for which approval is granted in other States.

(c) Cost to producer. The producer shall pay that part of the cost of the material or service as established by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, which is in excess of the credit for the use of the material or service in carrying out approved practices.

(d) Deductions. A deduction shall be made for materials or services furnished by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, from the payment of the producer to whom the material or service is furnished. The deduction shall be the same as the credit rate for use of the material or service in carrying out an approved practice except that where the cost to the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, is less than the credit rate, the deduction shall be equal to the cost. If the producer misuses any material or service furnished, an additional deduction equal to the original amount of the deduction for the material or service misused shall be made. If the deduction for materials or services exceeds the payment for the producer to whom the material or service is furnished, the amount of the difference shall be paid by the producer to the Treasurer of the United States.

Any producer to whom materials are furnished shall be responsible to the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, for any damage to the materials unless he shows that the damage was caused by circumstances beyond his control. If materials are abandoned or not used during the program year, they may at the option of the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, be transferred to another producer or otherwise disposed of by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, at the expense of the producer who abandoned or failed to use the materials.

(e) Materials and services in lieu of payment. If all the practices carried out on the farm which are eligible for payment are performed with conservation materials and services for which the deduction charged by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, equals the credit value of the practices, such materials and services shall be in lieu of the entire payment for the farm.

§ 701.707 General provisions relating to payments—(a) Breaking out permanent vegetative cover. In any area designated by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, as an area subject to serious wind erosion, a deduction of $3.00 shall be made for each acre of native sod or any other permanent vegetative cover broken out during the 1946 program year without the approval of the county committee if the county committee finds, in accordance with standards approved by the State committee, that the land broken out is not suited to the continuing production of cultivated crops and will become a wind erosion hazard to the community. The deduction shall be made from the payment of the person responsible for breaking out the land after the payment has been increased in accordance with the provisions of § 701.704.

(b) Failure to maintain practices under previous programs. If the county committee determines that any conservation practice carried out under previous agricultural conservation programs is not maintained in accordance with good farming practices or the effectiveness of any such practice is destroyed during the 1946 program year, a deduction shall be made for the extent of the practice destroyed or not maintained. The deduction rate shall be the 1946 practice rate, or if the practice is not offered in 1946, the practice rate in effect during the year the practice was performed. The deduction shall be made from the payment of the person responsible for destroying or not maintaining the practice after the payment has been increased in accordance with the provisions of § 701.704.

(c) Practices defeating purposes of programs. If the State committee finds that any producer has adopted or participated in any practice which tends to defeat the purposes of the 1946 or previous programs, it may withhold or require to be refunded all or any part of any payment which has been or would be computed for such person.

(d) Depriving others of payment. If the State committee finds that any person has employed any scheme or device (including coercion, fraud, or misrepresentation), the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment under the program, it may withhold, in whole or in part, from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require him to refund in whole or in part, the amount of any payment which has been or would otherwise be made to him in connection with the 1946 program.

(e) Failure to carry out approved erosion control measures. Payment will not be made to any person with respect to any farm which he owns or operates in a county if the county committee finds that he has been negligent and careless in his farming operations by failing to carry out approved erosion-control measures on land under his control to the extent that any part of such land has become an erosion hazard during the 1946 program year to other land in the community.

(f) Payment computed and made without regard to claims. Any payment or share of payment shall be computed and made without regard to questions of title under State law; without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in paragraph (g) of this section, and except for indebtedness to the United States subject to set-off under orders issued by the Secretary) and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

(g) Assignments. Any person who may be entitled to any payment in connection with the 1946 program may assign his payment in whole or in part as security for cash loaned or advances made for the purpose of financing the making of a crop in 1946. No assignment will be recognized unless it is made in writing on Form ACP–69 and in accordance with the instructions in ACP–70.

§ 701.708 Application for payment—(a) Persons eligible to file applications. Except where conservation materials or services are furnished in lieu of the entire payment for the farm, an application for payment with respect to a farm may be made by any producer who is entitled to share in the payment determined for the farm.

(b) Time and manner of filing application and information required. Payment will be made only upon application submitted on the prescribed form to the county office. Where conservation materials or services are furnished by the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, there need be reported on the application for payment with respect to such materials and services only the total credit and deduction value of the materials and services furnished. Payment may be withheld from any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm which such person is operating or renting to another. Any application for payment may be rejected if any form or information required of the applicant is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the regional director, which time shall not be later than December 31, 1947. At least 2 weeks' notice to the public shall be given of the expiration of a time limit for filing prescribed forms or required information, and any time limit shall afford a full and fair opportunity to those eligible to file the form or information within the period prescribed. Such notice shall be given by mailing notice to the office of each county committee and making copies available to the press.

§ 701.709 Appeals. Any producer may, within 15 days after notice thereof is forwarded to or made available to him, request the county committee in writing to reconsider its recommendation or determination in any matter affecting the right to or the amount of his payment with respect to the farm. The county committee shall notify him of its decision in writing within 15 days after receipt of written request for reconsideration. If the producer is dissatisfied with the decision of the county committee he may, within 15 days after the decision is forwarded to or made available to him, appeal in writing to the State committee. The State committee shall notify him of its decision in writing within 30 days after the submission of the appeal. If he is dissatisfied with the decision of the State committee, he may, within 15 days after its decision is forwarded to or made available to him, request the regional director to review the decision of the State committee.

Written notice of any decision rendered under this section by the county or State committee shall also be issued to each other producer on the farm who may be adversely affected by the decision.

§ 701.710 State and Regional Bulletins, Instructions and Forms. The Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, is authorized to make determinations and to prepare and issue State and regional bulletins, instructions and forms required in administering the 1946 program.

[Fair Price Regs., Revision 3]

PART 734—CONSERVATION MATERIALS AND SERVICES PROGRAM

FIXING OF FAIR PRICES

The regulations governing the fixing of fair prices for conservation materials and services acquired under purchase orders (9 F.R. 14709), § 734.1 issued by the Assistant War Food Administrator on December 15, 1944, are hereby completely revised to read as follows:

§ 734.1 Regulations governing the fixing of fair prices for conservation materials and services acquired under purchase orders—(a) Delegation to the Director of the Field Service Branch. The Director of the Field Service Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, shall designate the conservation materials and services which may be furnished under purchase orders in connection with the agricultural conservation program, the persons who shall determine the fair prices, and the method of making such determination: Provided, however, That any such determination shall be made in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (b), (c), (d) (e), and (f), hereof.

(b) Materials other than liming materials. A fair price shall be the price at which vendors in an area should be able to supply a material for local delivery under purchase orders, taking the following into consideration to the extent they can be ascertained:

(1) The prices which farmers are currently paying for the material through local supply channels,

(2) The prices at which farmers could obtain the same material through other than local channels, and

(3) The actual or estimated cost to the vendor and a reasonable margin for handling and profit.

(c) Liming materials. A fair price shall be the price at which a vendor agrees to furnish the material at a given time under a given set of conditions, providing it is not excessive in relation to:

(1) The prices which farmers are currently paying for the same or similar material under the same or similar conditions, and

(2) The prices at which farmers could obtain the same material through other than local channels, and

(3) The actual or estimated cost to the vendor and a reasonable margin for profit.

(d) Services. A fair price shall be the price at which a vendor equipped to perform a service agrees to furnish it at a given time and under a given set of conditions, providing it is not excessive in relation to:

(1) The prices which farmers are currently paying for the same or a similar service under the same or similar conditions, and

(2) The actual or estimated cost to the vendor and a reasonable margin for profit.

(e) Ceiling prices. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) hereof, no fair price may be set which is higher than the highest ceiling price at which any vendor in the area covered is authorized to sell a material or service under the General Maximum Price Regulation or other applicable regulations issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(f) Defective material. A material shall be deemed not to have been furnished at a fair price if it is determined that the material does not meet quality specifications. At the option of the Field Service Branch such material shall be rejected, or accepted subject to a deduction equal to three times the difference between the value of the material of the quality specified and the value of the material of the quality furnished.

Chapter IX—War Production Board

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

APPEALS PROCEDURE

§ 944.37 Priorities Regulation 16—(a) What this regulation does. This regulation explains the procedure for appealing from orders, regulations and administrative actions of the War Production Board, except suspension orders issued on the recommendation of Compliance Commissioners. It also explains how the appeals will be handled by WPB.

(b) Definitions. For purposes of the regulation: "An appeal" means a request for individual relief on the grounds that compliance by the appellant or another would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship which is not suffered generally by others in the same industry or activity, or on the grounds of improper discrimination. It does not include an initial application or initial request for an authorization, a preference rating, an allocation or any other administrative action expressly contemplated by the orders and regulations of WPB. In the absence of exceptional and unreasonable hardship not suffered generally by others or in the absence of improper discrimination an appellant may expect his appeal to be denied. There are two kinds of appeals, and they are defined below:

(1) "Appeal from an order or regulation" means an initial appeal for individual relief from any provision of a published order or regulation (including any published direction, schedule or other supplement to an order or regulation) which applies generally to all persons or to a class of persons described in the order or regulation.

(2) "Appeal from administrative action" means an appeal for reconsideration or modification of WPB action taken with respect to a particular person. Such administrative actions include the issuance of or refusal to issue individual authorizations, directives, preference ratings or quotas. The action of the WPB in granting or denying an initial "appeal from an order or regulation" or in granting or denying an application for an authorization under an order, is an administrative action; so a request for reconsideration of such action on the grounds of hardship or improper discrimination is an "appeal from administrative action". Such an appeal is initially called a first "appeal from administrative action", and a further appeal from the WPB action taken upon it is called a second "appeal from administrative action".

(c) How appeals are prepared and filed. An appeal not prepared and filed as required below may be returned to the appellant without action.

(1) Number of copies. Unless otherwise specified, all appeals must be filed in triplicate.

(2) Form of appeal. An "appeal from an order or regulation" should refer to the provision appealed from, and must be filed on Form WPB-1477 unless the order or regulation specifies filing upon some other particular form or by letter. An "appeal from administrative action" must (unless otherwise stated in specific instructions) be filed by letter referring to the action appealed from and identifying the initial request by WPB form number and case number, if any.

(3) Statement of grounds for appeal. The fact that a person is appealing must be stated, and the grounds for claiming exceptional and unreasonable hardship or improper discrimination should be clearly set out.

(4) Statement of manpower requirements not necessary. Regardless of conflicting provisions in any order, regulation or WPB form, no statement of manpower information on Form WPB-3820 or by letter need be filed with any appeal.

(5) Request for consideration by the Appeals Board. If the appellant, in the case of a second or further "appeal from administrative action", wants consideration of his appeal by the Appeals Board, he should expressly request in writing its referral to the Appeals Board as further explained in paragraph (e) below.

(d) Where appeals are filed. (1) "Appeals from orders or regulations" must be filed where indicated in the orders or regulations. If there is no indication, such appeals should be addressed to Appeals Routing Unit, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. An exception to this rule is that a person who, in connection with the subject matter of his appeal, is also making an application on any form which he is instructed to file in a field office may, at his election, attach his appeal to the application and file both with the appropriate field office.

(2) An "appeal from administrative action" should be filed at the same place the initial application or "appeal from an order or regulation" was filed, or if the administrative action was based upon neither an application nor an "appeal from an order or regulation" it should be addressed to the Appeals Routing Unit, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. However, any request to reopen a case granted or denied on the recommendation of the Appeals Board may be filed with that Board. Appeals should never be addressed to the Executive Secretary or Recording Secretary who attests the execution of War Production Board actions.

(e) Appeals Board. (1) The Appeals Board of the War Production Board is established as an impartial body primarily to consider second and further "appeals from administrative actions" in cases in which exceptional and unreasonable hardship or improper discrimination is claimed. Any person complaining of administrative action on these grounds may have a second or further "appeal from administrative action" submitted to the Appeals Board for final action if he expressly requests it in writing. On the other hand, the Appeals Board will not normally consider any cases which do not involve these factors or which are not second or further "appeals from administrative actions". It is not its ordinary function to review actions involving judgment as to the proper distribution of materials, programming of military or civilian production and their relative essentiality. If the basis for the second or further appeal is relative essentiality and not a claim of exceptional and unreasonable hardship or improper discrimination no request for referral to the Appeals Board should be made. For further information concerning proceedings before the Appeals Board see Direction 1 to this regulation.

(2) Any second or further "appeal from administrative action" in which exceptional and unreasonable hardship or improper discrimination is claimed, if not granted promptly on the recommendation of the official who took the action appealed from (or an official superior to him) will be referred to the Appeals Board: Provided, That the referral has been expressly requested in writing by the appellant. However, the referral to the Appeals Board will preclude further consideration of the case by such officials on the above grounds, and the decision of the Appeals Board will be final.

(3) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(f) Grants and denials of appeals. An "appeal from an order or regulation" will generally be granted or denied on the recommendation of the official administering the order or regulation. When the original administrative action has been taken by a field office of WPB the appeals in certain cases will be sent to Washington. A first "appeal from administrative action" may be granted or denied on the recommendation of the official who took the original action. A second or further "appeal from administrative action" may likewise be granted or denied unless referral to the Appeals Board has been requested in writing by the appellant. A second or further "appeal from administrative action" may be granted or denied on the recommendation of the Appeals Board.

The grant or denial of any appeal in whole or in part will be valid only when issued in the name of the War Production Board, countersigned or attested by the Executive Secretary or Recording Secretary, or in accordance with WPB Regulation No. 1 (§ 903.0). The grant or denial of an appeal referred to the Appeals Board will be indicated by a phrase such as "on the recommendation of the Appeals Board".

The denial of any appeal, in whole or in part, on the recommendation of the Appeals Board, is final unless the Appeals Board elects to reopen the matter.

(g) Public files. Whenever an order or another regulation of the War Production Board expressly so provides, public files containing records relating to the appeals from such orders or regulations or from administrative actions taken under them shall be set up and shall be available for public inspection during the business hours of the War Production Board.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 12th day of October 1945.

PART 3278—SALVAGE

TINPLATE SCRAP

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of tin for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3278.1 Conservation Order M-325—(a) What this order does. This order restricts deliveries of tinplate scrap for purposes of tin salvage. There are special provisions regarding the inventories of residual tinplate scrap and the preparation and delivery by manufacturers of damaged or rejected tin cans to detinning plants. Upon application, WPB authorizations may be issued exempting specific deliveries from the restrictions of the order.

(b) Definitions. Whenever used in this order: (1) "Tinplate scrap" means any material or product made in whole or in part of tinplate (except detinned scrap) which is the waste of industrial fabrication or which has been discarded after being put into actual use, excluding used tin plate crowns, screw caps or similar closures for various containers. The term shall also include tinplate sheets recovered from used tin cans or from other articles.

(2) "Tinplate" means steel sheets coated with tin (including primes, seconds, waste-waste and waste).

(3) "Detinned scrap" means tinplate scrap which has been treated by a chemical or electro-chemical detinning process so that it contains not more than 3/10 of one percent of tin by weight.

(4) "Used tin can" means any used container made in whole or in part of tinplate which is not to be reused for packing a product.

(5) "Prepared used tin can" means a used tin can which has been thoroughly cleaned so as to remove all organic matter (including paper labels), the ends removed or sufficiently loosened to be folded within the container, and the sides flattened.

(6) "Tinplate clippings" means tinplate scrap, such as discs or butts, generated in the manufacture of cans, closures or other articles.

(9) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(10) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(11) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

Used tin cans

(c) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(d) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(e) Required disposal of certain tin cans. Except as stated below, any person who, in the course of his manufacturing operations, discards tin cans because the cans or their contents are defective, or cuts open tin cans for the purpose of using the contents of such cans or for the purpose of repacking their contents in other containers, must deliver all such cans to or for the account of a detinning plant or shredding plant in a form acceptable to such plant, or to a broker or dealer for delivery by him to a detinning plant or shredding plant in a form acceptable to such plant. However, this restriction shall not apply to any such person during any ninety day period where the amount of cans discarded or cut open during that period is less than a minimum carload quantity, and where such person is unable to dispose of those cans to a broker or dealer. This restriction shall not apply to those cans which a person intends to reuse or deliver to others for reuse.

Special restrictions

(f) Tinplate scrap deliveries. No person shall deliver or accept delivery of tinplate scrap (including tinplate clippings but excluding used tin cans) except where delivery is made to or for the account of (1) a detinning plant, or (2) a broker or dealer for delivery by him to a detinning plant.

(g) Required disposal of residual tinplate scrap. No person who generates tinplate scrap in the course of his manufacturing operations shall keep in his possession for more than 30 days, a quantity of tinplate scrap which exceeds 60,000 pounds or any amount constituting a minimum carload quantity accepted by ODT, whichever is greater. All deliveries of such tinplate scrap pursuant to this paragraph shall be made in accordance with paragraph (f) above.

(h) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

General provisions

(i) Authorization for exemption from certain restrictions. (1) Specific authorization to make delivery or accept delivery of tinplate scrap as an exception to paragraph (f) of this order, may be granted by the War Production Board from time to time. Applications for such authorizations shall be made to the Tin, Lead and Zinc Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-325. Authorization to make delivery or accept delivery of the requested material will ordinarily be granted only in cases where the requested material will be used in place of better grade material or where a substantial part of the requested material will be delivered to a specified salvage depository in a prescribed form. No authorization issued under this paragraph permitting delivery or acceptance of delivery of any material shall constitute an exception to the provisions of any other regulation or order of the War Production Board.

(j) Appeals. Appeals from this order shall be filed by addressing a letter in triplicate to the Tin, Lead and Zinc Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-325. The letter of appeal need not follow any particular form. It should state informally but completely, the particular provision appealed from, the precise relief desired, the reasons why denial of the appeal would result in exceptional and unreasonable hardship and such other statistical and narrative information as may be pertinent.

(k) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(l) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected hereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

Issued this 12th day of October 1945.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR WORK GLOVES

§ 3290.120f Schedule F to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in Order M-328B for manufacturers of work gloves to get preference ratings for fabric to make the items listed in this schedule.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this schedule:

(1) "Work gloves" means any gloves or mittens of the types and meeting the specifications listed in Schedules A and B of Order M-375 and designed for wear by men, women or children while engaged in their occupations, and customarily sold as work gloves.

(2) "Base period" means the third calendar quarter of 1943.

(c) Special requirements for priorities assistance. (1) Three copies of Form WPB-3732 (Revised) should be filed in accordance with the rules stated in paragraph (c) of Order M-328B, except that for the fourth quarter of 1945 the applications must be postmarked by September 5, 1945.

(3) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(d) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(e) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(f) Style provisions for base period manufacturers. Base period manufacturers who are granted ratings under this schedule must make (subject to Order M-375) each style of work glove that they made in the first quarter of 1945 under the following rule: The production of each style of each item made in any quarter must not vary more or less than 10 percent from the proportion of that style of work glove to the total quantity of all styles of work gloves made in the first quarter of 1945. This rule does not apply to hot mill and 2-thumb husking gloves and mittens, which may be made to the full extent of a manufacturer's capacity. These styles should also be excluded in making the computations stated above for other styles.

(g) Special inventory rule. Manufacturers who use ratings assigned under this schedule are subject to the inventory provisions of paragraph (f) (4) of Order M-328B except that a 60-day inventory limit applies instead of a 45-day one.

(h) Notification of unused allocations. A person who finds that for any reason (such as increases in Army or Navy contracts) he will not place rated orders to the extent authorized on Form WPB-3732 (Revised) for a particular calendar quarter, or will cancel rated orders he has placed, must promptly write a letter giving notice to the Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau of the War Production Board showing the reference number on his authorization. Letters must specify the quantity and kind of fabric in the same terms in which the authorization was made.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR COTTON FABRICS FOR CIVILIAN APPAREL ITEMS

§ 3290.120c Schedule C to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in Order M-328B for manufacturers of civilian apparel made of cotton fabric to get preference ratings for fabric to make the items listed in this schedule.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Fabric", unless otherwise designated, means a woven fabric twelve inches or more in width.

(2) "Cotton fabric" means any fabric containing less than 25% wool by weight, but of which the remaining fibers are 50% or more cotton by weight.

(3) "Cotton item" means an item of which more than 50% of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is cotton fabric.

(4) "Base period manufacturer" and "base period" mean the same as they do in M-328B except that a person who did not manufacture an item listed in this schedule during the base period at or below the maximum price set forth in the schedule shall not be a base period manufacturer.

(c) Requirements for obtaining priorities assistance. (1) Three copies of form WPB-3732 must be filed in making application for priorities assistance under this schedule in accordance with the rules stated in paragraph (c) of Order M-328B, except that for the fourth quarter of 1945 applications shall be postmarked not later than September 5, 1945.

(2) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(3) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(4) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(5) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(6) When a fabric is removed from the fabric column for any item, each manufacturer must immediately cancel or unrate any unfilled orders for that fabric which he placed with ratings assigned under this Schedule for that item.

(7) Whenever a fabric is added to a Preference Rating Schedule for any item, an applicant who has filed WPB-3732 for that item need not file a new application, but may send a letter to the War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., requesting authorization to use the new fabric in place of or in addition to fabrics previously applied for. Where the change is only in the sley of the fabric, the authorization to be issued by the War Production Board will give effect to such change and no letter is required. The letter must specify the item number, the description of the item, the complete description of all of the authorized fabrics which the applicant wishes to use during the quarter and the number of linear yards of each fabric for which priorities assistance is requested. Such letters should be mailed within five days of the issuance date of an amendment incorporating additional fabrics for an item.

(d) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get the particular cotton fabrics shown in the fabric column of the preference rating schedule to make the cotton items specified.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration; or

(ii) The price specified in the Maximum Price column.

(3) If applications are received for fabric in excess of the amount of fabric which can be allocated to any item, allocations will be assigned in proportion to the manufacturer's base period production of that item. However, an equitable portion of available fabrics will be allocated to applicants who did not produce the items in the base period. If the quantity of a specific construction of fabric is requested in excess of the quantity of that construction which is available for allocation under this schedule the War Production Board may substitute other fabrics for the fabrics applied for taking into account the price of such fabrics with relationship to the price at which the manufacturers will sell the finished item.

(4) A manufacturer who is not a base period manufacturer must comply with the provisions of paragraph (c) (6) of M-328B.

(5) The quantity of cotton fabric which may be applied for by a base period manufacturer, for making an item in each price specified in his application, may not be greater than 100% of the linear yardage used by him in the base period for making that item at such specified price; except that a manufacturer may apply for a larger quantity of an item at a lower price if he decreases the quantity of an item applied for at a higher price by the same number of units.

(6) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(7) Manufacturers who did not manufacture an item in the base period must produce the item in the size assortments listed opposite each item in the size assortment column. Where normal industry practice appears, the manufacturer should state his proposed sizes in the remarks section of Form WPB-3732 (revised). If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

Issued this 12th day of October 1945.

[Conservation Order M-328B, Schedule K, as Amended Oct. 12, 1945]

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR WOOL CIVILIAN ITEMS

§ 3290.120k Schedule K to Order M-328B—(a) Explanation. This schedule states the special rules in addition to those set forth in M-328B for manufacturers of civilian items manufactured from wool fabric to get preference ratings for wool fabric for delivery beginning in the fourth quarter of 1945 to make the items listed in this schedule:

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this schedule:

(1) "Fabric" unless otherwise designated, means a woven or knitted fabric 12 inches or more in width.

(2) "Wool fabric" means any fabric incorporating 25% or more by weight of new, re-processed or re-used wool fiber except upholstery pile fabrics and floor coverings and blankets and felt. The term includes woolen and worsted fabrics.

(3) "Wool item" means an item of which 50% or more of the fabric yardage incorporated in it, exclusive of linings, bindings and trimmings, is made of woolen or worsted fabrics.

(4) "Base period manufacturer" and "base period" mean the same as they do in Order M-328B, except that a person who did not manufacture an item listed in this schedule during the base period at or below the maximum price set forth in the schedule shall not be considered a base period manufacturer.

(c) Special requirements for obtaining priorities assistance. (1) Three copies of form WPB-3732 must be filed in accordance with the rules stated in paragraph (c) of Order M-328B, except that for the fourth calendar quarter of 1945 applications must be postmarked not later than September 5, 1945.

(2) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(3) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(4) A base period manufacturer may not apply for a quantity of wool fabric for any item greater than 100% of the linear yards used by him in the base period for the production of that item.

(d) General provisions. (1) Preference ratings assigned under this schedule may be used only to get wool fabrics to make the wool items specified in the preference rating schedule.

(2) The fabrics must be incorporated into an item produced for sale by the manufacturer at or below the lower of the following two prices:

(i) The price at which the manufacturer is permitted to sell the item under regulations of the Office of Price Administration.

(ii) The price specified in the maximum price column.

(3) A manufacturer who is not a base period manufacturer must comply with the provisions of paragraph (c) (6) of Order M-328B.

(4) A manufacturer who did not manufacture an item on the base period must state his proposed production by size assortment per dozen in the "Remarks" section of Form WPB-3732. If his application is granted, he must comply with these size assortments.

(5) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(6) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(7) [Deleted Oct. 12, 1945.]

(e) Quantity of wool fabric production subject to ratings. A producer of wool fabric shall not be required to deliver or use, in the fourth quarter of 1945, to fill orders bearing CC ratings assigned under Order M-328B, more than a yardage of wool fabric equal to 45 percent of his fourth quarter production.

(f) Acceptance of rated orders. (1) If a supplier of wool fabric receives orders bearing CC ratings (assigned under Order M-328B) before October 6, 1945, he may hold them until that date before determining whether he is required to accept them. However, he must not actually reject any such CC orders before that date. If, on October 6, 1945, he has received such rated orders for more than the yardage subject to M-328B ratings under paragraph (e), he may then reject any such CC rated orders previously served on him to the extent of the excess. This subparagraph (1) does not affect AA-3 rated purchase orders which have been accepted and which may be rerated CC before October 1, 1945, in accordance with Direction 18 to Order M-328.

(2) Any purchaser who is unable to get his rated orders accepted, should notify the War Production Board.

(g) The special rules of this Schedule K for the handling of ratings apply only to CC ratings assigned under Order M-328B. Nothing in this Schedule affects CC ratings assigned on Form WPB-541A under Priorities Regulation 28, or MM ratings.

Issued this 12th day of October 1945.

c. Paragraph (h) entitled "Radio parts" is relettered (i).

2. Section 19 (g) (1) (relettered (h) (1) by this amendment) is amended to read as follows:

(h) Radio tubes—(1) Definition. For the purpose of this section, "Radio tubes" means "Radio receiving tubes" which were in actual use for radio receiver purposes in March 1942. The term does not mean special purpose and transmitting tubes or any tubes not made in March 1942, or tubes for which list prices were not established on March 31, 1942.

3. Section 19 (h) (relettered (i) by this amendment) is amended to read as follows:

(i) Radio parts—(1) Definition. For the purpose of this section, the term "Radio parts and electronic circuit parts" means:

Fixed capacitors of all types (excluding mica capacitors);

Variable condensers, all types, including padders and trimmers (except mica condensers);

Fixed wire wound resistors, excluding heater elements;

Fixed resistors other than wire wound, designed especially for radio and radar use;

Variable resistors, all types, designed for radio and radar use;

Transformers, coils and chokes designed for radio and radar use;

Speakers and vibrators designed for use in electronic applications;

Parts for electric phonographs or phonograph recorders or electric phonographs combined with radios;

Hardware, molded parts, terminals, shields and switches and other parts designed for radio and radar use.

This description does not include:

Radio tubes and tube parts and radio cabinets;

Such parts and materials that require additional fabrication before they become identified as an integral electronic component part.

(2) Base date. For the purposes of the increased prices provided by this paragraph, the "base date" for all radio parts and electronic circuit parts shall be taken to be October 1, 1941.

(3) Maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales by manufacturers of any new radio parts and electronic circuit parts shall be the higher of the following:

(i) For unmodified radio parts and electronic circuit parts, the maximum prices in effect on October 10, 1945, or the prices established under section 7 (using October 1, 1941, as the base date established by this paragraph) increased by the following percentages:

	Percent
Coils for radio equipment (including R. F. and I. F. coils)	26.3
Fixed capacitors	16.4
Radio power and audio transformers, chokes and vibrators	16.1
Variable condensers	13.5
Speakers and speaker parts	13.5
Parts for electric phonographs or phonograph recorders or electric phonographs combined with radios	11.5
Fixed and variable resistors	9.5
All other radio parts	9.5

(ii) For modified radio parts and certain electronic circuit parts, the maximum prices established on October 10, 1945, or the prices computed under section 8, using the prices computed under the preceding subdivision (i) as the "established price in effect on the base date" for the item before modification.

(4) Resellers. A reseller of radio parts and electronic circuit parts may increase his maximum price by the same percentage by which the maximum price of his supplier has been increased by this paragraph on sales and deliveries to the reseller.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation 132 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1315.68 (a) (8) is amended to read as follows:

(8) "Canvas rubber footwear" means canvas-topped rubber-soled shoes of vulcanized construction.

"Casual rubber footwear" means all fabric-topped rubber-soled shoes of vulcanized construction other than canvas topped athletic shoes and conventional styles and types of other canvas-topped shoes of vulcanized construction.

2. The headnote of § 1315.73 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1315.73 Appendix D: Maximum prices for canvas rubber footwear other than casual rubber footwear as defined in § 1315.68 (a) (8).

3. The heading of Table II in § 1315.73 is amended to read as follows:

TABLE II—CANVAS RUBBER FOOTWEAR OTHER THAN CASUAL RUBBER FOOTWEAR PRICES FROM WHICH DISCOUNTS MUST BE DEDUCTED [1] [2]

4. Footnotes [1] and [2] are added at the end of Table II in § 1315.73 to read as follows:

[1] Where an item of canvas rubber footwear priced in the table above is made with loose-lining construction, or with soles of colors other than black, or with arch supports, or with heel cushions, the following differentials may be added to the maximum prices established for the item in the table:

For loose lining construction 50 cents per pair. For colored soles (any color but black)—10 cents. For arch supports, or if no arch supports, for heel cushions:

Men's	$0.25
Youths'	.15
Boys'	.20
L. G.	.10
Women's	.20
Child's	.10

The maximum price for any item to which the above differential has been added shall not be deemed to be the maximum price unless and until the manufacturer has reported his proposed list price for the item being priced to the OPA and has sent a sample of the item to the OPA. If the maximum list price proposed to the OPA by the manufacturer is less than the maximum price computed for it by adding the appropriate differential, the proposed list price shall be the manufacturer's maximum price. In such cases the manufacturer may at any time thereafter redetermine his maximum price by adding all or any unused portion of the differential and reporting such redetermined maximum price to the OPA. Before or with the first delivery to any reseller of any of the items priced by this footnote, the manufacturer shall furnish the list prices to such reseller. This footnote does not apply to canvas rubber footwear which is priced under paragraph (b) below or to "casual rubber footwear" as defined in § 1315.68 (a) (8).

[2] Where an item of canvas rubber footwear listed in Table II above meets the required specifications and has added or special features (not covered by footnote [1] above) that are not generally used in such footwear, or is of a special or novel style or type, its maximum price may be established by the Office of Price Administration after application therefor by the manufacturer pursuant to § 1315.65a.

5. Paragraph (b) of § 1315.73 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Maximum prices for canvas rubber footwear covered by this section which the manufacturer proposes to sell at prices lower than the maximum prices listed in Table II of paragraph (a)—(1) Applicability. This paragraph applies to canvas rubber footwear which is listed in Table II of paragraph (a) and which does not meet the specifications required for pricing under that paragraph and which the manufacturer proposes to sell at list prices which are lower than the list prices of the corresponding items listed in Table II of paragraph (a).

(2) Maximum prices. The manufacturer's maximum price for an item of canvas footwear described in paragraph (b) (1) above shall be the maximum list price therefor proposed by the manufacturer (which proposed list price must be lower than the maximum price for the corresponding item listed in Table II of paragraph (a)) in a report that he shall file with the Office of Price Administration. The manufacturer shall submit a sample of the footwear being priced with his report. The maximum price proposed by the manufacturer is not his maximum price until the report and sample have been submitted to the Office of Price Administration. Before or with the first delivery to any reseller of any of the footwear priced, the manufacturer shall furnish the list price of the item to such reseller.

6. A new section designated § 1315.73a is added to read as follows:

CASUAL FOOTWEAR PRICES FROM WHICH DISCOUNTS MUST BE DEDUCTED [1]

Mens'	$3.00
Boys'	2.80
Youths'	2.60
Women's	2.37
Misses'	2.19
Child's	2.01

[1] In order to determine his maximum price for casual rubber footwear subject to this paragraph, the manufacturer shall deduct from the price for the casual rubber footwear in question set forth in the above table, all discounts, allowances and other deductions from the list price that he had in effect to a purchaser of the same class on December 3, 1941, for comparable casual footwear; or if he was not selling comparable casual footwear on December 3, 1941, on the most recent date prior thereto, not earlier than January 1, 1941, on which he was selling such casual footwear. If a manufacturer had no discount policy for comparable casual footwear in effect at any time between January 1, 1941, and December 3, 1941, he shall deduct all discounts, allowances and other deductions from the list price that his most closely competitive seller of comparable casual footwear had in effect to a purchaser of the same class on December 3, 1941.

This amendment shall become effective October 17, 1945.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT RETAIL IN GROUP 3 AND GROUP 4 STORES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 422 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 18a is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 18a. Gift and holiday packages assembled by you. If you assemble into gift or holiday packages, any food item covered by this regulation, with or without any items not covered by this regulation, you must figure your ceiling price for such package under whichever of the following paragraphs applies:

(a) For packages assembled in cardboard, wooden, or other plain containers, your ceiling price will be the sum of the following, multiplied by 1.05:

(1) Your direct cost of each item included in the package multiplied by 1.40; plus

(2) Your direct cost of the packaging materials, including the container, used for the particular package.

(b) For packages assembled in permanent containers designed and constructed for re-use (including but not limited to trays, cedar boxes, hampers, teakwood chests, and fancy baskets), your ceiling price will be the sum of the following, multiplied by 1.15:

(1) Your direct cost of each item included in the package multiplied by 1.40; plus

(2) Your ceiling price for the container figured under the applicable maximum price regulation. (If you have no ceiling price for the container, you may multiply the direct cost of the container by 1.40); plus

(3) Your direct cost of the packaging materials used for the particular package.

"Direct cost" as used in the above subparagraphs, means your "net cost" for each item subject to this regulation. For items included in the package not otherwise subject to this regulation, it means the lawful amount you paid your supplier less all discounts except the discount for prompt payment, plus all transportation charges you paid.

2. Section 18b is added to read as follows:

SEC. 18b. Special allowance for forwarding gift package to a donee in a foreign country. If you deliver a food package directly upon order of the purchaser to a donee (other than a member of the armed forces of the United States) in a foreign country outside of the North American continent, you may add to your ceiling price an amount not to exceed 50 cents for forwarding such package, plus the actual mailing and insurance charges.

This allowance may be applied only to the shipment and delivery of individual food gift packages and not of wholesale lots.

This amendment shall become effective October 18, 1945.

Issued this 12th day of October 1945.

§ 8305.4 Declarations. As provided in § 8301.13[2] of this chapter declarations of all surplus real property (whether or not section 23 real property) shall be filed with the Administrator on form SPB 5.[3] The Administrator will transmit two copies of the declaration to the appropriate disposal agency, and will notify the owning agency thereof.

The owning agency shall take reasonable steps to ascertain the needs of Government agencies for such interests, and to this end may utilize the facilities of the Public Buildings Administration of the Federal Works Agency. form of arrangement with another Government agency having primary jurisdiction over the property no longer needs the property, such real property and any interest therein shall be returned to the agency having primary jurisdiction over the property in accordance with the arrangement between such agencies, except where the property has been substantially improved while being so utilized. In this latter event the agency utilizing the property shall make a report of the facts to the Administrator for its determination as to how the interests of the Government will be best subserved.

§ 8305.9 Easements having no commercial value. Any Government agency may, with or without consideration, dispose of an easement to the owner of the land subject to the easement when such agency shall determine that the easement has no commercial value and is no longer needed; Provided, That, when any such easement shall have been acquired for a substantial consideration such disposal shall be made only for a reasonable value, taking into consideration any portion of the purchase price paid for severance damages.

Such assumption shall be completed within sixty (60) days after the disposal agency receives the declaration, unless additional time is allowed by the Administrator. Pending the assumption of custody and control of the property by the disposal agency, the owning agency may lease the property at the current market rental or issue temporary occupancy permits to other Federal agencies. Such leases or permits shall be revocable at the will of either the owning or disposal agency (according to which has custody or control of the property), and administration of the same shall be transferred to the disposal agency at the time it assumes custody and control of and accountability for the property.

(c) Improvements. Disposal agencies shall make repairs necessary for the preservation and maintenance of the property, but no funds shall be expended by disposal agencies for improvement of real property declared to them as surplus or for the erection of structures thereon unless such expenditures are authorized by the Administrator.

(d) Transfer of title papers, documents, etc. Upon request of the disposal agency, the owning agency shall immediately supply the disposal agency with the originals or true copies of all information and documents pertaining to the surplus real property in the possession of the owning agency and copies of which have not been filed with the declaration. These shall include appraisal reports, abstracts of titles, tax receipts, deeds, affidavits of title, copies of judgment in condemnation proceedings and all other title papers relating to the property. All such papers and documents which may still be needed by the owning agency shall be returned to it as soon as the needs of the disposal agency have been satisfied. The disposal agency may transfer to the purchaser of surplus real property, as a part of the disposal transaction, any abstract of title which relates to the property being transferred and which is no longer needed either by the owning or the disposal agency. The terms upon which such transfer shall be made may be fixed by the disposal agency.

§ 8305.11 Priorities[2]—(a) Order of priority. In disposing of surplus real property, disposal agencies shall recognize the following priorities:

(1) Government agencies shall be accorded first priority to acquire all classes of surplus real property for their use; Provided, That Smaller War Plants Corporation shall have such priority to acquire any such surplus property for its use and for resale as provided in section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944.

(2) State or local governments shall be accorded second priority as to all classes of surplus real property. Any State or local government which has lost a highway or street over surplus section 23 real property because of Government acquisition or action shall be accorded a special priority, prior to all other State or local governments, to permit it to re-establish such highway or street. This right shall extend to the original right-of-way and any new or additional rights-of-way needed to re-establish the street or highway on a new or more adequate location.

(3) A former owner shall be accorded third priority as to any surplus section 23 real property acquired from him by any Government agency after December 31, 1939. This priority shall relate to property which is substantially the identical tract acquired by the Government from the owner. If this tract is not available to the former owner or is not desired by him because it is no longer suitable for the purpose for which it was used when acquired by the Government, he may be offered substitute property. Such substitute property shall be in the same area, be classified as suitable for the use for which the original tract was used when acquired and otherwise be similar to the original tract. With respect to any substitute property thus made available to him the former owner shall be accorded a priority subordinate only to the priorities of Government agencies, State or local governments, a former owner or a tenant of a former owner of the substitute property. Acquisition of a substitute tract shall extinguish the priority of the former owner with respect to the original tract.

(4) A tenant of a former owner, who was in possession of agricultural section 23 real property at the time the same was acquired by any Government agency after December 31, 1939, shall be accorded fourth priority with respect to substantially the same property occupied by him as tenant at the time of such acquisition.

(5) A veteran, and the spouse and children (in that order) of a person who died while in the active military or naval service of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, shall be accorded a priority as to all surplus section 23 real property classified by the Administrator as suitable for agricultural, residential or small business purposes. This priority shall be subordinated to all the priorities described in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph.

(6) Owner-operators shall be accorded a priority with respect to all surplus section 23 real property classified by the Administrator as suitable for agricultural use. This priority shall be subordinate to the priorities described in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph.

(7) Nonprofit institutions shall be accorded a priority with respect to all surplus real property. This priority shall be subordinate to the priorities described in subparagraphs (1) through (6) of this paragraph.

(b) Extent of priorities. The priorities of Government agencies, State or local governments and nonprofit institutions are continuing priorities which are not exhausted because of their effective exercise with respect to a given piece of property. The priority of a veteran, the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman, or an owner-operator ceases to exist after it has once been effectively exercised with respect to one appropriate unit. The priority of a former owner or tenant is limited to the particular property as described in paragraph (a) (3) and (4) of this section.

(c) Transfer of priorities and transmission on death. No assignment or transfer of a priority shall be recognized, but the priority of a former owner may be exercised through an agent duly authorized in writing where the priority holder is so situated that he cannot exercise it in person. Upon the death of a veteran or former owner his spouse or children (in that order) shall succeed to his priority rights. The priority right of a tenant shall be extinguished by his death.

(d) Time and method of exercise. The time for exercise of priorities shall be a period of ninety (90) days after the date given in the notice required by § 8305.12 (c) (2), or such additional period as the Administrator may allow when necessary or appropriate to facilitate a sale of the property to a former owner entitled to priority. Within such period the priority holder shall indicate an intention to exercise the priority by submitting to the disposal agency a written offer to purchase, accompanied by such deposit as the disposal agency may require. When, however, an offer cannot be made because the disposal agency lacks necessary information on price, units or other matters, it shall be sufficient if the priority holder files a written statement of his desire to acquire the property of one or more appropriate units thereof. As soon as the necessary information becomes available (whether during or after the priority period or any extension thereof), those who have filed such statements shall be so advised and given an opportunity to make an offer. Veterans, the spouse and children of deceased servicemen, and owner-operators may offer to purchase any or all units offered for sale. The offer of a Government agency or of a State or local government shall be in the form of a written application in duplicate requesting that the property be held for disposal to it. Such application shall state the price that applicant is willing to pay for the property or that a transfer without reimbursement or transfer of funds is authorized by law, and give all pertinent facts pertaining to the applicant's need for the property. If the applicant shall require time to acquire funds or authority to take the property without reimbursement or transfer of funds, it shall so state and indicate the length of time needed for that purpose. Upon receipt of an application with such a statement the disposal agency shall forward a copy of the same to the Administrator. The Administrator will review the application and determine what time (if any) shall be allowed applicant to conclude the acquisition of the property and will advise the disposal agency and the applicant of such determination. During the time thus allowed the property may not be disposed of unless the priority period has expired and applicant's price (where it is seeking to acquire the property on a reimbursable basis) is less than the maximum price it may be charged and a higher price has been offered by another person.

(e) Failure to offer full amount or to exercise in time. Priorities of Government agencies and State or local governments shall not expire because they are not exercised within the priority period, but an offer by such a priority holder made after the expiration of the priority period shall be disregarded if a contract to sell the property to another has previously been entered into. Priorities of all others not exercised during the priority period shall expire upon the termination of such period and the disposal agency shall certify that it has complied with the requirements of § 8305.12 (c) (2) and (3) and, if such is the case, that no person has attempted during the priority period to exercise the priority of a former owner, a tenant, a veteran or the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman. A certified copy of such certification shall be given to any purchaser of the property at the time of transfer. The disposal agency may in its discretion permit veterans, or the spouse and children of deceased servicemen, or owner-operators to make offers after the priority period and be considered on the same basis as if they had exercised their priority during the priority period, but such action on the part of a disposal agency shall not be regarded as extending the priority period. An offer to purchase at a price below the maximum which the offeror may be charged will preserve the offeror's priority status only as against lower priority or non-priority offerors who do not offer a higher price and priority offerors in the same priority group who offer the same or a lower price.

§ 8305.12 Disposal methods and principles—(a) Descriptions, surveys and subdivisions. The disposal agency shall obtain the full and correct legal description of the property to be disposed of and take the steps necessary to determine its exact location and area. Surveys shall be made, when necessary, and markers or monuments placed upon the ground. For disposal to others than Government agencies, State or local governments, former owners or tenants, surplus section 23 real property shall be subdivided by the disposal agency into appropriate units for disposal. Section 23 real property classified as suitable for agricultural use shall be subdivided by the disposal agency into economic family-size units wherever practicable. The size of such units may vary according to the conditions and farming practices in the locality where the land is situated. Section 23 real property not classified as suitable for agricultural use shall be subdivided into such units as seem suitable in view of the character of the property, the use or uses to which it may be put and the possibilities of giving veterans and those who will use the property personally a fair opportunity to acquire and advantageously utilize the property. Plans for such subdividing shall be developed immediately after the disposal agency receives the declaration of surplus. The actual work of subdividing shall be carried forward as rapidly as practicable in view of all the circumstances, with effort made to complete the task at the earliest possible date after the expiration of the priority period. Subdivision may be delayed if it appears that the property will be absorbed by the priorities of Government agencies, State or local governments, former owners or tenants.

(b) Evaluation and appraisal. All surplus real property shall be valued at its current market value. This value is the highest price the property will bring in terms of money if offered for sale in the open market with reasonable time to find a purchaser buying with knowledge of the uses and purposes to which it is adapted and for which it is capable of being used. To determine such value the disposal agency shall have the property appraised by experienced and qualified appraisers familiar with the types of property to be appraised by them. They may be staff appraisers of the disposal agency, individuals employed on a loan reimbursable basis from other Federal agencies or independent appraisers in private business. All appraisal reports shall contain the appraiser's certificate that he has no interest, direct or indirect, in the property or sale or disposition thereof.

(c) Notice and advertisement—(1) Wide publicity. The disposal agency shall avail itself of all suitable means to give wide publicity to the availability for disposal of surplus real property.

(2) Publication of notice. Upon receipt of a declaration of surplus real property the disposal agency shall promptly and widely publicize the same, giving information adequate to inform interested persons of the general nature of the property and its possible uses. Such publicity shall be by public advertising, and may also include press releases, display advertisements, and any other appropriate means which it is customary to use for advertising notices of sale. Such public advertising shall consist of a sale notice containing substantially the matters set forth in Exhibit A and shall be published at least three (3) times during the ninety (90) days following the date such notice is first published at approximate intervals of twenty-one (21) days.

(3) Notice by mail. At the time of the first publication of the notice required by subparagraph (2) of this paragraph the disposal agency shall also send a copy of the notice by mail to all Government agencies listed in Exhibit B, to the State and the political subdivision in which the property is located, and to the former owner when he is entitled to priority. The notice to the former owner shall be sent by registered mail to his last known address with return receipt requested.

(4) Additional notice. A disposal agency which has decided to accept offers after the priority period from veterans and the spouse and children of deceased servicemen and owner-operators who have not exercised their priority during such period, may give such additional notice to such persons as the disposal agency shall deem proper.

(d) Information available to purchasers. Within thirty (30) days after notice is first published as required by paragraph (c) of this section, or as soon thereafter as possible, every effort shall be made to have available in the office of the officer having charge of the disposal all necessary information concerning the property. This shall include the appraised value of the property, the unit sizes in which the property will be sold to various classes of purchasers, the priorities and the time and method of exercising them, the maximum prices which may be charged different priority buyers (see paragraph (h) of this section) and all other terms and conditions of sale. Any person shall be entitled, upon request, to receive such information or have access thereto at all reasonable times, as well as information concerning offers, exercises of priorities and sales that have been made at the time of the inquiry.

[1] See SPB Special Order No. 5 (10 F.R. 5162).

[2] For an aid in ascertaining priorities and their order see priority chart in Exhibit C.

(e) Offers. During the priority period the disposal agency shall receive offers from priority and nonpriority buyers; but no offers shall be accepted during the priority period, except when an immediate transfer is requested by a Government agency for war purposes and such transfer is approved by the Administrator. Offers shall specify what price the buyer is willing to pay, and shall be upon forms prescribed by the disposal agency.

(f) Terms and conditions of disposal. Disposals shall be made upon such terms and conditions as may be necessary to protect the interests of the Government and carry out the requirements of this part. No credit shall be extended by the disposal agency in its capacity as such, except in cooperation with Smaller War Plants Corporation to facilitate sales to small business concerns.

(g) Form of transfer. Unless otherwise authorized by the Administrator, the sale or transfer shall be of the full interest of the Government. Disposal agencies may, however, lease the property to place it in productive use pending ultimate disposition, provided that such leases shall be revocable at the election of the disposal agency. Deeds or instruments of transfer (other than leases) shall be in the form approved by the Attorney General. Transfers shall be by quitclaim deed unless the disposal agency finds that a warranty deed is necessary to obtain a reasonable price for the property or to render the title marketable and the use of such a deed is recommended and approved by the Attorney General as provided in the act.

(h) Prices; donations—(1) General requirements. The purchasers mentioned in subparagraphs (2), (3), (4) and (5) of this paragraph shall in no event be charged more than the prices at which they are entitled to purchase under the provisions of such subparagraphs. On sales or disposals to all others it shall be the duty of the disposal agency to obtain the highest competitive price actually obtainable. No sale or disposal shall be made at a price which is more than twenty-five (25) percentum below the current market value until such sale or disposal has been reviewed and approved by the Administrator, unless that price is the maximum price which may be charged the purchaser.

(2) Former owner and tenant. Persons purchasing surplus real property pursuant to the priority of a former owner or tenant of a former owner shall be entitled to purchase at the lower of (i) the current market value or (ii) the price for which the property was acquired by the Government adjusted to reflect any increase or decrease in the value of such property resulting from action by the United States.

(3) Government agencies, State or local governments, nonprofit institutions and owner-operators. Government agencies, State or local governments, nonprofit institutions, and owner-operators shall be entitled to acquire surplus real property at a price not to exceed the current market value. State or local governments purchasing rights-of-way for highways and streets, pursuant to the priority provided for in § 8305.11 (a) (2) shall be entitled to purchase the same at a rate of compensation not exceeding that paid for it by the Government. Government agencies shall be entitled to acquire property without charge where a transfer without reimbursement or transfer of funds is authorized by law.[1]

(4) Veterans. Veterans and the spouse and children of deceased servicemen shall be entitled to purchase surplus real property at a price not to exceed a unit price fixed by the disposal agency after taking into consideration the current market value, the character of the property, and, if income-producing, the estimated earning capacity thereof.

(5) Disposals for educational or health purposes. State or local governments or nonprofit institutions seeking to acquire surplus real property for educational use or to promote or protect the public health shall be entitled to acquire such property at the current market value less any discount which the Administrator may allow because of the benefit which has accrued or may accrue to the United States by such use. Applications for such discounts shall be filed with the Administrator and shall show the ways in which and the extent to which the United States will be benefited by the proposed use. Each such application shall be accompanied by a certificate under oath by an authorized official of the buyer that the buyer is a State or local government or that it is a nonprofit institution as defined in § 8305.2 (h), and that the property is being acquired solely for educational or health purposes. The certificate also shall set forth how the property will be employed for educational or health purposes and to what extent and such further information as will aid the Administrator in determining to what extent the United States will be benefited by the proposed use of the property. After considering the application, and any additional evidence it may deem appropriate, the Administrator will notify the applicant of his action on the application and will certify to the disposal agency the amount of any discount which may be granted. The Administrator may authorize any such disposal to be made upon such conditions as it may deem expedient, including provisions for the reversion of such property to the United States if the buyer ceases to use it for educational or health purposes.

(6) Donations. Surplus real property may be donated only to government agencies, State or local governments or nonprofit institutions organized and operated for educational or charitable purposes and only when the disposal agency finds that the property either (i) has no commercial value or (ii) that the cost of its care and handling and disposition would exceed the estimated proceeds.

Before making any donation, however, the disposal agency shall in all cases obtain the prior approval of the Administrator. To obtain such approval the disposal agency shall submit to the Administrator a copy of its findings, together with any supporting evidence and a full description of any donation that may be proposed.

(i) Acceptance of offers. Upon the expiration of the priority period designated in § 8305.11 (d) the disposal agency shall proceed with the acceptance of offers, except to the extent that delay is necessary to obtain offers from priority holders who filed statements of their desire to purchase during the priority period. Offers from priority holders at their respective maximum prices shall be accepted in the order of their priority. An offer at a price below the maximum price of the offeror shall be accepted according to the priority order of the offeror only if there is no other offer at a higher price. If there are several acceptable offers at the same price from offerors in the same priority group, the offer to be accepted from that group shall be selected as provided in paragraph (k) of this section. If offers have been received from persons having no priority and there is no acceptable offer from a person holding a priority, only the highest of such offers may be accepted by the disposal agency. If there are several acceptable nonpriority offers at the same price, the one to be accepted shall be selected by lot. Disposal agencies may reject any offer which is for a price below the current market value other than an offer from a priority holder for the maximum price which can be charged the offeror. When a veteran, the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman or an owner-operator shall have made offers for more than one unit, only one of the offers of such offeror shall be accepted.

(j) Proof of priority status. Before a disposal agency shall dispose of surplus real property on the basis of the priority claimed by the offeror, it shall require satisfactory proof of the priority status, identity or authority of the person making the offer.

(k) Selection of offers from among same priority group. If equal offers are received for the same property during the priority period from two or more offerors of the same priority group, the offer which shall be accepted shall be selected in accordance with subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(1) In the case of Government agencies, State or local governments or nonprofit institutions the selection shall be determined on the basis of need. If the matter cannot be determined by agreement between the claimants, the disposal agency shall report the matter in writing to the Administrator, setting forth the names of the competing claimants, a summary of their respective claims, a description of the property involved, and the recommendations, if any, of the disposal agency, together with any statements in writing which the claimants or any of them may wish to file with the Administrator. The Administrator shall review the matter and report his determination to the disposal agency. The Administrator's determination shall be final for all purposes.

(2) With respect to all other priority groups the selection shall be made by lot. Drawings shall be conducted openly and fairly. If a veteran, the spouse and children of a deceased serviceman or an owner-operator is selected for more than one unit, he shall elect in writing which one he shall take and thereupon the right to purchase the remaining unit or units of property shall go to the remaining applicants in the particular priority group in the order in which their names are drawn.

(l) Notice to unsuccessful bidders; nonperformance by successful bidder. When an offer for surplus real property has been accepted, the disposal agency shall notify the unsuccessful bidders of such acceptance and return their deposits to them. If performance of the contract of the successful bidder is not completed, or if a Government agency or State or local government fails to complete its acquisition of the property after having it held for the time allowed by the Administrator, the disposal agency shall promptly notify by mail all those who made unsuccessful offers during the priority period or any time allowed thereafter that if they renew their offers within fifteen (15) days from the date of mailing of the notice they will be reconsidered on the same basis on which they would have been considered had the offer accepted not been received in the first instance.

(m) Absence of acceptable offers; methods of sale. If no acceptable offer is received during the priority period or none results from a statement filed during the priority period, or if no acceptable offer is renewed after the giving of notice under the circumstances provided for in paragraph (l) of this section, the disposal agency shall proceed to dispose of the property by negotiated sale, auction or other suitable method. Such disposals shall be subject to the price restrictions of paragraph (h) (1) of this section.

(n) Disposal of improvements. Whenever practicable, disposal agencies shall dispose of improvements and fixtures with the land. If this is not practicable, disposal agencies shall dispose of the improvements or fixtures separately from the land. Demolition contracts whereby title to the improvements or fixtures passes to the contractor in consideration of his restoration of the premises or demolition of the improvements shall be let only on open competitive bid. Copies of all specifications, bids, abstracts of bids and awards used or issued in connection with such contracts shall be filed with the Administrator.

§ 8305.13 Records and reports. Owning and disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with the provisions of this part as to each disposal transaction. The information in such records shall be available at all reasonable times for public inspection. Reports shall be prepared and filed with the Surplus Property Administrator in such manner as may be specified by orders issued under this part, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 8305.14 Regulations by agencies to be reported to the Administrator. Each owning agency and each disposal agency shall file with the Administrator copies of all regulations, orders and instructions of general applicability which it may issue in furtherance of the provisions, or any of them, of this part.

This revision of this part shall become effective October 9, 1945.

W. STUART SYMINGTON,
Administrator.

An opinion accompanying this order issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of Federal Register.

In the judgment of the Regional Administrator of Region II of the Office of Price Administration, the maximum prices established and the regulations prescribed by this order are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9599, and do not exceed the general level of prices fixed by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, and the general level of prices in the area.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region II of the Office of Price Administration by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and by section 9 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251, this order is hereby issued.

SECTION 1. Transactions covered by this order. This order covers all sales of composition re-siding and re-roofing on an installed basis, together with accessories on residential structures in the area hereinafter described. It also includes related and incidental construction work when sold by installers of re-siding and re-roofing, whether such sale is made as a part of a general contract or not.

The term "composition re-siding" includes asphalt shingle re-siding, asbestos cement re-siding, insulated brick or stone re-siding and roll brick re-siding but shall not include wood shingles or wood re-siding.

The term "re-roofing" includes composition re-roofing such as asphalt shingles and mineral surface roll re-roofing and smooth surface roll re-roofing but does not include wood, metal or slate re-roofing.

The term "related" and "incidental" construction work means any installation of building materials or construction work other than installed re-roofing and re-siding, when sold by installers of re-roofing and re-siding.

SEC. 2. Relationship of this order to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251. (a) The provisions of this order supersede sections 6, 7 and 8 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 with respect to sales of re-roofing and composition re-siding on an installed basis on residential structures and with respect to related and incidental construction work sold by installers of composition re-siding and re-roofing on an installed basis. All other provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 251 are applicable to transactions subject to this order unless otherwise provided in this order.

(b) On and after the effective date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell, offer to sell or deliver composition re-siding and re-roofing on residential structures on an installed basis or related and incidental construction work as herein defined at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this order: Provided, That deliveries made not more than thirty days after the effective date of this order on bona fide contracts executed prior to the effective date of this order shall not be considered to be violations of this order.

(c) An employer paying or about to pay labor rates higher than those in effect for him on the effective date of this order by reason of the predetermination of wage rates by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act or any order or authorization of the Wage Adjustment Board, National War Labor Board or Economic Stabilization Director, may file an application for an amendment of this order to reflect such increased labor rates. Such a petition for amendment shall conform in all respects to the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that it shall be filed with the New York Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration.

[Region II Rev. Order G–64 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PA.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, and under § 1340.209 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 120, it is ordered:

(a) What this order does—(1) Maximum prices area covered. If you are a dealer, or producer of bituminous coal making "direct-delivery" sales at retail, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may charge, and if you are a purchaser in the course of trade or business, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may pay, for certain sizes and quantities of bituminous coal, delivered to or at any point in Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Coal Area XII. That area consists of all of Allegheny County in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

(2) Schedules of prices and charges. The applicable prices and authorized charges from which you shall determine the maximum prices for designated kinds, sizes and quantities of bituminous coal delivered within Allegheny County are set forth in Schedule I hereafter.

(3) To what sales this order applies. If you are a dealer, or producer of bituminous coal, making "direct-delivery sales at retail", you are bound by the prices and charges, and by all other provisions of this order for all deliveries within Allegheny County, whether or not you are located in Allegheny County. If you are a dealer making "yard sales", you are likewise bound by all provisions of this order for all such sales within Allegheny County.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract or other obligations, you shall not:

(1) Sell, or, in the course of trade or business, buy bituminous coal of the kinds, sizes, and in the quantities set forth in the schedule herein, at prices higher than the maximum prices computed as set forth in paragraph (c) of this order, although you may charge, pay or offer less than maximum prices.

(2) Obtain any price higher than the applicable maximum price by:

(i) Changing the discounts authorized herein, if any, or

(ii) Charging for any service which is not expressly requested by the buyer, or

(iii) Charging for any service for which a charge is not specifically authorized by this order, or

(iv) Charging a price for any service higher than the schedule price for such service, or

(v) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government, or

(vi) Using any other device by which a higher price than the applicable maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(c) How to compute maximum prices. You must figure your maximum prices as follows:

(1) Refer to Schedule I which contains separate tables of prices for "direct-delivery" sales and "yard sales" of bituminous coal. You will find Schedule I in paragraph (d).

(2) Take the dollars-and-cents figure given in the applicable table of the schedule, for the kind, size and quantity of bituminous coal you are selling.

(3) Deduct from that figure the amount of the discount which you are required to give, as specified herein. Where a discount is required, you must state it separately on your invoice.

(4) If, at your purchaser's request, you actually render him a service for which this order authorizes a charge, you may add to the figure obtained as above no more than the maximum authorized service charge. You must state that charge separately on your invoice. The only authorized service charges are those provided for in the schedule.

(d) Schedule I. Schedule I establishes specific maximum prices for certain kinds, sizes and quantities of bituminous coal, delivered to or at any point within Area XII. There is a separate table of prices for "direct-delivery" sales and "yard sales".

(1) Sales on a "direct-delivery" basis by dealers and bituminous coal producers.

This treatment charge may be added only if the treated coal is kept separate and not mixed with other untreated coal. You need not separately state the amounts of this treatment charge if you clearly indicated on the invoice that the coal is so treated. Provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to sales of solid fuel in less than ¼ ton lots unless requested by the purchaser.

(e) Commingling. If one size or kind of bituminous coal is sold commingled with another size or kind of bituminous coal, the maximum price for the combination shall be the maximum price established in this order for the smallest of the sizes or for the least expensive kind so commingled, whichever is lower, except in the following situation: Where a purchaser requests that two or more sizes or kinds of bituminous coal be commingled in one delivery, then, and in that event, if these sizes and kinds are separately weighed at the point of loading, the dealer may commingle those sizes and kinds in the truck or other vehicle, in which the delivery is made. The price for solid fuel so commingled shall be calculated on the basis of the applicable per net ton price for such size and kind in the combination, and the invoice shall separately state the price, so dteermined, for the quantity of each size and kind in the combination.

(f) Ex Parte 148 freight rate increase. Since the Ex Parte 148 Freight Rate increase has been rescinded by the Interstate Commerce Commission, dealers' freight rates are the same as those of December 1941. Therefore, you may not increase any schedule price on account of freight rates.

(g) Addition of increase in producer's or supplier's maximum price prohibited. The specific maximum prices established by this order already reflect increases in maximum prices of bituminous coal producers affected and in the case of dealers, in their supplier's maximum prices, which occurred up to the effective date of this order. You may not increase the specific maximum prices established by this order to reflect, in whole or in part, any subsequent increases in your maximum mine price, if you are a bituminous coal producer, nor in your supplier's maximum prices, if you are a dealer. The Regional Administrator, will, if he deems it to be warranted, take appropriate action to amend this order to reflect such subsequent increases that may occur.

On sales to the United States or any agency thereof, or to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any political subdivision thereof, you need not state this tax separately.

(i) Adjustable pricing. You may not make a price adjustable to the maximum price which will be in effect at some time after delivery of the bituminous coal has been completed; but the price may be adjustable to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery.

(j) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(k) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator or the Price Administrator may amend, revoke, or rescind this order, or any provision thereof at any time.

(l) Applicability of other regulations. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you are governed by the licensing provisions of Licensing Order 1. Licensing Order 1 provides, in brief, that a license is required of all persons making sales for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for the license. The license may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. If your license is suspended, you may not sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

(m) Records. If you are a dealer or producer subject to this order, you shall preserve, keep and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration, a record of every sale of bituminous coal hereunder, showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged, and the solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also state separately each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(n) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips and receipts. (1) If you are a dealer or producer subject to this order, you shall post all your maximum prices (as set forth in Schedule 1 of this order) in your place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public.

(2) If you are a dealer or producer subject to this order, you shall, except for a sale of less than one-half ton, give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt showing your name and address, the kind, size, and quantity of solid fuel sold to him, the date of the sale or delivery and the price charged, separately stating the amount, if any, of the required discounts which must be deducted from and the authorized service charges and the taxes which may be added to, the specific maximum prices prescribed herein.

In the case of all other sales, you shall give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt containing the information described in the foregoing paragraph, if requested by such purchaser.

(o) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Pittsburgh District Office of the Office of Price Administration, or with the Price Panel of the appropriate War Price and Rationing Board.

(p) Definitions and explanations. When used in this Revised Order No. G-64, the term:

(1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of the foregoing.

(2) "Sell" includes, sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer, and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The term "sale", "selling", "sold", "seller", "buy", "purchaser", and "purchase" shall be construed accordingly.

(3) "Dealer" means any person selling coal of the kinds and sizes set forth in the schedules herein, and does not include a producer or distributor making sales at or from a mine, a preparation plant operated as an adjunct of any mine, or a briquette plant.

(4) "Bituminous coal producer" means a person engaged in the business of mining bituminous coal or preparing bituminous coal at a preparation plant which is an adjunct of a mine or mines, and any person acting as an agent of a producer in the sale of bituminous coal.

(5) "Direct delivery" means delivery to buyer's bin or other storage space designated by buyer, or to the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage at which the coal can be discharged directly from the seller's truck.

(6) "Yard sales" means sales accompanied by physical transfer to the buyer's truck or vehicle at the yard, dock, barge, car or at a place of business of the seller other than at seller's truck or vehicle.

(7) "Shoveling" refers to housing of solid fuel by dumping it near the consumer's coal window, at the curb or on the sidewalk or driveway, and manually shoveling it through the window into the bin or storage space.

(8) "Wheeling" refers to housing of solid fuel by dumping it at the curb or on the sidewalk or driveway, shoveling it into wheelbarrow, and then wheeling it into the bin or storage space, or wheeling it to the coal window and dumping or shoveling through the window into the bin or storage space.

(9) "Carrying" refers to housing of solid fuel by dumping it at the curb, or on the sidewalk or driveway, as near as possible to the consumer's coal window but at a distance and on a level which will not permit "chuting", "shoveling", or "wheeling", then shoveling it into baskets and carrying (including carrying up steps) to and dumping into the bin or storage space, usually through consumer's coal window.

(10) "Carrying" and "wheeling" refers to housing of solid fuel where both types of services are required to be performed in the course of a single delivery.

(11) "Single chute" refers to housing of solid fuel by placing a single chute of 12 feet or less on the side of the truck, extending it into the coal window, then usually shoveling the fuel from the bed of the truck into the chute through which it is moved or moves, largely by gravity, into the bin or storage space. (This service is not to be confused with "dumping by way of chute".)

(12) "Double or multiple chute" refers to housing of solid fuel in the same manner as by "single chute," but where the distance between the truck and the coal bin opening exceeds twelve feet and two or more chutes must be attached together. The solid fuel is shoveled from the bed of the truck into the chutes and forced through the chutes into the bin or storage space.

(13) "Tail-end-gate chute" refers to housing of solid fuel where it is necessary to attach a chute to the end gate of the truck at an angle which will not permit the flow of fuel by gravity but requires manual labor to keep the fuel flowing through the chute into the bin or storage space. (No charge may be made if the angle of the chute is such that the fuel flows by gravity and no manual labor is required to keep the fuel flowing.)

(14) "High lift truck, coaltoter or coalveyor" refers to housing of solid fuel by the use of mechanical equipment of the types designated, the handling of which requires the services of more than one man to discharge the fuel in the bin or storage space. A high lift truck is one, the body of which can be raised at both ends by means of mechanical equipment. Coaltoters or coalveyors are chutes with a mechanically driven belt by means of which the solid fuel passes through the chute without manual assistance.

(15) "Trimming" refers in general to the movement of coal by shovel, in bin or storage space, usually for the purpose of making room for more coal to be delivered.

(16) "District No." refers to the geographical coal-producing districts as defined in the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 as amended, and as they have been modified as of midnight, August 23, 1943.

(17) All designations in this order of sizes, classifications, etc., applicable to bituminous coal, refer to the sizes, classifications, etc., as set forth in the minimum price schedules for the various producing districts issued by the Bituminous Coal Division of the United States Department of Interior, as in effect, midnight, August 23, 1943.

(18) "Underground mine coal" means coal that is taken entirely from underground seams from which the overburden is not removed, and does not include coal from a mine which takes coal from the ground by the stripping method, except that, for purposes of this order, underground mine coal shall include coal from strip mines that has been especially prepared and for which the producer has been authorized to charge the maximum prices for underground mine coal.

(19) Except as otherwise provided herein or as the context may otherwise require, the definitions set forth in §§ 1340.255 and 1340.266 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 shall apply to terms used herein.

(q) Effect of order on revised maximum price regulation No. 122 and maximum price regulation No. 120. To the extent applicable, this order supersedes Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 and Maximum Price Regulation No. 120.

NOTE: The record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This Revised Order No. G-53 shall become effective September 10, 1945.

The application states that Oklahoma Utilities Company, Alberta Corporation and The Tarrent Corporation, all of which were named as applicants in the original application, have been liquidated and dissolved and it is requested that they be permitted to withdraw as parties in this proceeding.

All interested persons are referred to said document, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

[1] Gives effect to the retirement on Aug. 1, 1945, of $86,000 principal amount of said bonds.

All securities of its subsidiaries held by Crescent are pledged under the indenture securing the Income Bonds.

This plan is proposed to be carried out in the following manner:

(1) Sale of securities of subsidiaries—(a) Empire Southern. Crescent proposes to sell all the securities of Empire Southern to a purchaser not designated in the application, and to pay the proceeds, estimated at $376,000, to the indenture trustee to be utilized in carrying out the provisions of the plan.

(b) Colorado Central. Colorado Central proposes to change its capitalization from 10,000 shares of common stock without par value, stated value $300,000, to 43,750 shares of new common stock, par value $10 per share. In connection therewith, Colorado Central proposes to transfer $85,636 and $51,864 from its Capital Surplus and Earned Surplus accounts, respectively, to its Capital Stock account.

Crescent proposes to surrender the 10,000 shares of old common stock; and to acquire the 43,750 shares of new common stock, to sell them at competitive bidding, pursuant to Rule U-50, and to pay the proceeds, estimated at $1,100,000, to the indenture trustee to be utilized in carrying out the provisions of the plan.

(2) Recapitalization of Central Ohio and refinancing of its preferred stock. (a) Crescent proposes to donate to Central Ohio 5,343 shares of Central Ohio's common stock without par value, thus reducing the outstanding amount from 20,000 shares, stated value $1,000,000, to 14,657 shares, stated value $732,850. The donated shares are to be cancelled and the difference in stated value to be credited to capital surplus.

(b) Crescent proposes to exchange 14,657 common shares and 1,972 $6 preferred shares of Central Ohio for 73,285 shares of new common stock with a par value of $10 per share. The shares surrendered are to be cancelled and the difference (amounting to $195,237 as of July 31, 1945) between the stated value of such cancelled shares and the par value of the new stock is to be credited to capital surplus.

(c) Central Ohio proposes to increase the stated value of the 12,000 $6 preferred shares remaining outstanding to the liquidation price of $110 per share and to charge this increase (amounting to $131,947 as of July 31, 1945) to capital surplus.

(d) Central Ohio proposes to redeem, at $110 per share, the 12,000 $6 preferred shares remaining outstanding. Central Ohio proposes to sell at competitive bidding, pursuant to Rule U-50, 12,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $100 per share. The rate of dividends and the price are to be determined by such bidding.

(e) Crescent proposes to purchase from Central Ohio 10,715 shares of new common stock for $300,020, $28 per share. The excess of the proceeds over the par value, amounting to $192,870, are to be credited to premium on capital stock.

(3) Exchange offer to Crescent bondholders. After consummation of the foregoing steps, the assets of Crescent will consist substantially of 84,000 shares of Central Ohio common stock, to which the company assigns a value of $28 per share or a total of $2,352,000, and cash estimated at $1,476,000.

Crescent proposes to offer to the holders of its Income Bonds the opportunity, for a period of 20 days, to exchange each $1,000 Income Bond for 30 shares of Central Ohio common stock (value assigned by the company $840) plus a cash payment of $180. Accrued interest on the Income Bonds, at the rate of 6% per annum, is to be paid to the date upon which the exchange offer shall be declared effective. Holders of Income Bonds of $500 and $100 denominations are to receive a proportionate amount of the Central Ohio common stock and cash. In the event that Income Bonds are deposited for exchange in excess of a total principal amount of $1,800,000, an allocation is to be made among such holders to the nearest $100 of principal amount, but holders of Income Bonds in the aggregate principal amount of $500 or less will be permitted to receive the full amount of shares provided for in the offer.

The offer is to be conditioned upon acceptance by holders of at least $1,650,000 principal amount of Income Bonds, but the company reserves the right to declare the plan effective if holders of $1,375,000 principal amount or more have deposited their bonds.

Bondholders are to have the right to withdraw their bonds up to the time when the exchange offer shall have been declared effective.

(4) Retirement of unexchanged bonds. Crescent proposes to call for redemption the remaining outstanding Income Bonds at principal amount plus accrued interest.

(5) Distribution to Crescent Stockholders and dissolution of the Corporation. After retirement of all the Income Bonds outstanding, and satisfaction of all other liabilities of Crescent, the remaining assets of Crescent are to be distributed to its stockholders. Assuming that $1,800,000 principal amount of Income Bonds are exchanged, the Crescent stockholders would receive one share of Central Ohio common stock for each two shares of Crescent stock held. The remaining assets would consist entirely of cash and be distributed as a liquidating dividend. Cash is to be given in lieu of fractional shares.

The consummation of the plan is subject to all necessary approval by this Commission and to approval by a United States Court having jurisdiction with respect thereto, and upon such approvals having been obtained, the plan and each of the steps, terms and provisions thereof is to be binding upon all security holders of Crescent.

Crescent requests that if the Commission should approve the plan, such order or orders of approval shall contain recitals sufficient to meet the requirements of Supplement R of the Internal Revenue Code.

III. It appearing to the Commission, on the basis of the allegations hereinbefore set forth, that the holding company system of Crescent is not confined in its operations to those of a single integrated public utility system, within the meaning of the act, or to those of a single integrated public utility system together with such additional integrated public utility systems as meet the requirements of section 11 (b) (1) and such other businesses as may be retained under the standards of section 11 (b) (1), and that proceedings should be instituted under section 11 (b) (1) with respect to Crescent's holding company system; and

It further appearing to the Commission, on the basis of the allegations hereinbefore set forth, that the corporate structure of Crescent's holding company system is unduly and unnecessarily complicated, that voting power is unfairly and inequitably distributed among the security holders thereof, and that proceedings should be instituted under section 11 (b) (2) with respect to Crescent's holding company system; and

It further appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the amended plan filed by Crescent pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act and the proceedings instituted herein by the Commission under sections 11 (b) (1) and 11 (b) (2) of the act; and

It further appearing to the Commission that the said proceedings involve common questions of law and fact and should be consolidated and heard together;

It is hereby ordered, That a proceeding be and it hereby is instituted under sections 11 (b) (1) and 11 (b) (2) of the act directed to Crescent and its subsidiaries, that such proceeding be and it hereby is consolidated with the proceeding with respect to the amended plan filed herein pursuant to section 11 (e), and that a hearing in the consolidated proceedings under the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations of the Commission thereunder be held on October 22, 1945, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such day, the hearing room clerk will advise as to the room where such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and it hereby is reserved to separate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, for disposition in whole or in part, any issues or questions which may arise in these proceedings, and to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt and economical disposition of the matters involved.

It is further ordered, That Crescent and its subsidiaries file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before the 17th day of October, 1945, answers to the allegations contained in paragraphs numbered (1) through (7), both inclusive, of Section II herein, in the form prescribed by Rule U-25 of the rules and regulations under the act.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing above ordered. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

Notice is hereby given of said hearing to the above named applicants, Public Utilities Commission of Colorado, Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, Railroad Commission of Texas, and to all interested persons, said notice to be given to said applicants and to the Public Utilities Commission of Colorado, Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, and Railroad Commission of Texas by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. It is requested that any persons desiring to be heard in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of this Commission on or before October 17, 1945, an appropriate request or application to be heard, as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Crescent shall give additional notice of said hearing to all known holders of its Income Bonds and its common stock by causing a copy of this notice and order of hearing to be mailed to such holders at their respective last-known addresses, such mailing to be made not less than ten days prior to the date of said hearing.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented in such consolidated proceedings, particular attention shall be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether the plan as amended or as it may hereafter be modified is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby;

(2) Whether the proposed offer of common stock of Central Ohio and cash to the bondholders of Crescent is fair and equitable to the bondholders and stockholders of Crescent;

(6) Whether the accounting adjustments and entries proposed to be made in connection with the plan are proper and in accordance with sound accounting practice;

(7) Whether the proposed acquisitions of the common stock of Central Ohio by Helene Curley Rea, Robert W. Rea, Floyd W. Woodcock, Kathleen T. Woodcock and Robin Corporation will tend towards interlocking relations or the concentration of control of public utility companies, of a kind or to an extent detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumer; will be detrimental to the carrying out of the provisions of section 11; and whether the proposed acquisitions will serve the public interest by tending towards the economical and efficient development of an integrated utility system;

(8) Whether the plan, as filed or as modified, makes appropriate provision for the payment of expenses, fees and remuneration in connection with the reorganization, in what amounts such expenses, fees and remuneration should be paid, and the fair and equitable allocation thereof;

(9) Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, what modifications should be required to be made therein and what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the statutory standards;

(10) Whether the allegations contained in Section II hereof are true and correct;

(11) What action, if any, is necessary and shall be required to be taken by the respondents herein, or any of them, to limit the operations of the Crescent holding company system to a single integrated public utility system, and to such other businesses as are reasonably incidental, or economically necessary or appropriate to the operation of such integrated public utility system;

(12) Whether the corporate structure or continued existence of Crescent unduly or unnecessarily complicates the structure, or unfairly or inequitably distributes voting power among security holders, of the Crescent holding company system; and if so, what action shall be required with respect thereto pursuant to section 11 (b) (2) of the act.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Niagara Hudson Power Corporation ("Niagara Hudson"), a subsidiary of The United Corporation, a registered holding company.

All interested persons are referred to said document which is on file in the offices of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Niagara Hudson proposes to reduce the par value of its Common Stock (25,436,450 shares authorized, 9,581,008⅝ shares issued and outstanding) from $10 per share to $1 per share thereby creating capital surplus in the amount of $86,229,076.50 to be available for any required or desirable adjustment of the carrying value of Niagara Hudson's investments in its subsidiaries or for any other proper adjustment to its accounts or for any other proper corporate purpose. Niagara Hudson also proposes to convert 15,678 reacquired shares of its First Preferred Stock, 5% Series into 783,900 shares of Common Stock ($1 par value per share).

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said declaration and that said declaration shall not be permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of the Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said declaration under the applicable provisions of the act and rules of the Commission thereunder be held on October 24, 1945, at 10 a. m., e. s. t., in the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said declaration, particular attention will be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

(2) Whether Niagara Hudson's proposal to convert its reacquired shares of First Preferred Stock into common stock is detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors and consumers;

(3) Generally, whether the proposed transactions comply with the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act and all the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder;

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD.

MICA

NOTICE TO ALL MANUFACTURERS AND FABRICATORS

Mica of black stained, red stained, and other varieties required for civilian items is not available in sufficient quality to meet all needs. On September 5, 1945, the War Production Board announced a plan for releasing from government stocks low quantity mica, Grades 4 and Larger, in order to aid industry in meeting reconversion demands.

On October 24, 1945, the War Production Board will recommend the release of additional mica to fabricators and manufacturers for orders on hand for which they have no mica. The following table shows the quantities available and the averaged prices or the stocks of micas suitable for civilian needs:

Grade	Quantity available	Approximate averaged price
	Pounds
4	80,000	$1.50
3	14,000	2.85
2	5,000	4.25
1	7,000	4.10
A-1 or Special	1,500	5.00

In order to distribute the available mica equitably, it will be necessary to furnish all the information previously submitted on Form WPB-1085. In addition, each fabricator or manufacturer should state the quantity of mica of the various grades requested that he has in inventory, on the day of his application, in all qualities lower than stained. If he has contracted to purchase mica of this type from other sources he should state the expected date of receipt and the quantity of the various qualities and grades he will receive. Form WPB-1085 should be used in presenting the information.

Based on the information supplied, and available stocks, the War Production Board will recommend the release of the mica on October 24, 1945 in such a manner that every fabricator has a fair share of the various types of mica in stock and available for civilian consumption. All Forms WPB-1085 should reach the War Production Board, Miscellaneous Minerals Division, Washington 25, D. C., by October 23, 1945. Any person requiring micas of qualities better than Black Stained, Red Stained, and other varieties which are priced above the averaged prices listed, should also make his request for the mica on Form WPB-1085.

Issued this 11th day of October 1945.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

(14) Any term not specifically defined herein shall have the meaning set forth for such term in War Food Order No. 75, as amended (10 F.R. 4649).

(b) Quantity; quality; specifications. No federally inspected slaughterer and no slaughterer whose cattle are slaughtered in an establishment operated under Federal inspection shall deliver meat unless he shall set aside, reserve, and hold for delivery to governmental agencies, authorized purchasers, contract schools, marine hospitals, maritime academies, and ship suppliers;

Boned beef and trimmings, fresh (chilled) or frozen	1.41

The net weight of beef which is cooked and used in the preparation of canned meat not specified above shall be the weight thereof before cooking.

(3) The Assistant Administrator may, upon written application, revise any conversion weight factor where it is shown that such factor is working an undue hardship in the preparation of certain products

(d) Credits allowed on deliveries. Subject to paragraph (e) hereof, any set aside beef delivered to a governmental agency, authorized purchaser, contract school, marine hospital, maritime academy, or ship supplier may be credited against the set aside requirements of this order for beef of the type and grade so delivered.

(e) Certificates. No set-aside beef shall be delivered to any authorized purchaser, and no credit shall be allowed for any such delivery unless, within 10 days after delivery, the slaughterer obtains a certificate signed by the authorized purchaser, acknowledging receipt of the beef and containing the following: the name and address of both parties and the date of delivery; the contract number of the contract between the authorized purchaser and the governmental agency; and a statement by the authorized purchaser that the set-aside beef so delivered, or an equivalent amount of set-aside beef, will be or has been used in the fulfillment of such contract. The slaughterer shall endorse on such certificate the conversion weight of such beef, together with a description permitting conversion in accordance with paragraph (c) hereof. The slaughterer and the authorized purchaser shall each retain an original of such certificate for at least two years and shall submit the same to the Assistant Administrator upon request. All statements contained in or accompanying such certificates shall be deemed representations to an agency of the United States. No person shall be entitled to rely upon any such certificate if he knows or has reasonable cause to believe it to be false.

(f) Storage; packaging. All beef set aside and reserved under this order shall be stored in such manner as to maintain the quality thereof, and shall be prepared and packaged in accordance with Army specifications.

In the absence of such allocation, slaughterers may, subject to paragraph (e) hereof, sell beef so set aside to any such person or agency.

(i) Existing contracts. The provisions of this order shall not be construed as reducing the amount of meat which any slaughterer is required to offer or to deliver under any existing contract with a governmental agency, as defined herein, or with the United States Maritime Commission.

(j) Reports. Every slaughterer subject to this order shall report to the Assistant Administrator concerning his production of and transactions in beef. Such reports shall be made at such times and upon such forms as the Assistant Administrator may require, and shall be subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(k) Audits and inspections. The Assistant Administrator shall be entitled to make such audits and inspections of the books, records and other writings, premises, supplies of livestock or stocks of meat of any person, and to make such investigations as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

Petitions shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought. The Order Administrator may take any action with reference to such petition which is consistent with the authority delegated to him by the Assistant Administrator. If the petitioner is dissatisfied with the action taken by the Order Administrator, he may, by request addressed to the Order Administrator, obtain a review of such action by the Assistant Administrator. After said review, the Assistant Administrator may take such action as he deems appropriate, which action shall be final.

(m) Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this order may, in accordance with the applicable procedure, be prohibited from receiving, making any deliveries of, or using livestock, meat, meat products, or animal fats. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order is guilty of a crime and may be prosecuted under any and all applicable laws. Civil action may also be instituted to enforce any liability or duty created by, or to enjoin any violation of, any provision of this order.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1381—SOFTWOOD LUMBER

[2d Rev. MPR 19,[1] Amdt. 12]

SOUTHERN PINE LUMBER

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Section 6 of Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation 19 is amended to read as follows.

SEC. 6. Distributors' direct-mill sales—(a) Definitions—(1) Direct-mill distributor. A direct-mill distributor is a person making either a wholesale-type or commission-type direct-mill sale of Southern pine lumber and who has been registered and assigned a registration number as required under paragraph (b) of this section.

(2) Wholesale-type sale. A wholesale-type sale is a sale in which the seller buys lumber from a mill or concentration yard or wholesaler and takes title to and delivers the lumber to the buyer in substantially the same form.

(3) Commission-type sale. A commission-type sale is a sale through a commission-man. For purposes of this section, a commission-man is a person who customarily represents, and customarily sells lumber in carload quantities for, two or more mills or concentration yards, receives his compensation in the form of commission based on the amount of the lumber sold, and is independent of both buyer and seller.

(b) Registration. All direct-mill distributors without registration numbers must register with the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. and receive a registration number before charging or receiving the additions provided in paragraph (c) of this section. This registration number must be shown on all invoices covering distributors' direct-mill sales carrying the direct-mill distributors' additions. Distribution yards subject to Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation 215 do not have to be registered to charge the wholesaler's mark-up.

(c) Prices—(1) Wholesale-type sales. On wholesale-type direct-mill sales of Southern pine lumber by a registered direct-mill distributor, there may be added to the regular f. o. b. mill prices established in this regulation 6 percent (but not more than $3.00 per M'BM). The distributor's addition must be evened out to the nearest quarter-dollar per M'BM or in the case of plastering or fence lath to the nearest 5 cents per 1,000 pieces. For example, if the maximum price for a particular item is $30.00 the ceiling price for a wholesale-type sale is $31.75. This mark-up applies only to carload quantities if shipped by rail, or to quantities of 5 M'BM or more if shipped by truck or water.

(2) Commission-type sales. On commission-type direct-mill sales of Southern pine lumber made through a registered direct-mill distributor the ceiling price is 4 percent (but not more than $2.00 per M'BM) higher than the regular f. o. b. mill prices established in this regulation. The distributor's commission must be evened out to the nearest quarter-dollar per M'BM or in the case of plastering or fence lath to the nearest 5 cents per 1,000 pieces. The mill must allow the direct-mill distributor a commission at least equal to the excess over the standard f. o. b. mill price. For example, if the maximum price for a particular item is $30.00, the mill ceiling on a commission-type sale made through a direct-mill distributor is $31.25 and the mill must allow the distributor at least $1.25. This mark-up applies only to carload quantities if shipped by rail, or to quantities of 5 M'BM or more if shipped by truck or water.

(3) Mill's price or realization. This Section 6 increases maximum prices only on sales by direct-mill distributors. The mill's price, or realization after deducting the 4 percent commission, may never be higher than the regular prices established in this regulation. The mill, of course, may sell at a price at which it will realize less than its regular ceiling.

(4) Pyramiding prohibited. The price additions permitted in this Section 6 may not be made more than once to the regular f. o. b. mill price, regardless of the number of persons participating in the transaction. For example: If direct-mill distributor making a "commission-type" sale sells a car of $30.00 lumber to a yard which, in turn, sells to a consumer for direct-mill shipment, the mill's ceiling price on the sale through the distributor is $31.25 (4 per cent addition) and the yard's ceiling price to the consumer is $31.75 (6 per cent addition). Note that the yard cannot add its 6 per cent either to the $31.25 on a purchase through a direct-mill distributor making a commission-type sale or to $31.75 if the purchase was from a direct-mill distributor making a "wholesale type" sale. In both cases, the 6 per cent may be added only to the regular f. o. b. mill price of $30.00.

Moreover, none of the additions in this section may be applied above the addition for direct-mill retail sales in Section 7 below.

(5) Exceptions. No commission or addition, as provided in this section, may be charged, paid or collected in connection with any sale of lumber manufactured or concentrated by a mill or concentration yard controlled by the distributor, controlling the distributor or under common control with the distributor. If any direct-mill distributor adds a mark-up on a sale of lumber produced or concentrated by a mill or concentration yard having control relationship with any other direct-mill distributor, the latter distributor may not thereafter charge any mark-up, commission or addition provided in paragraphs (1) or (2) regardless of where the lumber originates.

"Control" as used in this section includes all circumstances of common ownership or beneficial interest, profit or loss sharing arrangements, or control based on close family relationships.

(d) Any person who between February 16 and August 15, 1945, was given permission to qualify as a "new distributor" under former Section 6 (c) may withdraw any commissions and additions required to be placed in escrow and need not return same to the purchasers as previously required even though he did not complete delivery of 1,000,000 board feet of Southern pine lumber on CPA allocations or under government contracts. If any such person has already returned to the purchaser commissions or additions held in escrow, the refund of such commissions or additions to the distributor is permissible.

This amendment shall become effective October 12, 1945.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 12th day of October 1945.

Section 39 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 373 is amended as follows:

1. Paragraph (f) (22) is amended to read as follows:

(22) "Meats, canned" means canned meats and meats in combination with other foods (in containers of tin, glass, or any other material) such as luncheon meat spreads, sausages, hamburger, loaf goods, brains, tongues, bacon, corned beef, spaghetti and meat balls, stew, chili con carne, tamales, raviolas, tortillas and similar Mexican dishes whether made with meat, poultry or vegetables, and similar items, when sold uncut by the retailer, whether in shelf sizes or not, and whether or not customarily stored under refrigeration. This classification does not include meats opened by the retailer and then sold in less than the customary retail unit. "Canned meats" includes mixtures of meats with noodles or other paste products.

2. Paragraph (f) (29) is amended to read as follows:

(29) "Pickles and certain fruits and vegetables" means all kinds of pickles, whole, diced or sliced, including pickles packed in vinegar, brine or mustard, and fruits or vegetables packed in vinegar, miso sauce or liquors, such as spiced tomatoes or misozuke but does not include other fruits and vegetables packed in brine or heavy syrup, either spiced or unspiced.

3. Paragraph (f) (44) is amended to read as follows:

(44) "Vegetables, canned" means vegetables packed in containers of metal, glass, or any other material and includes, but is not limited to, beans, carrots, corn, okra, mushrooms, seaweed, poi, wild rice, rhubarb, sauerkraut, and all vegetables packed in brine or heavy syrup, either spiced or unspiced..

4. Paragraph (f) is amended by adding two additional definitions designated (54) and (55) and reading respectively as follows:

(54) "Miscellaneous household hardware items" means any household hardware item sold in retail grocery stores, such as fly guns and sprays, electric light bulbs, hand brushes, mops or parts thereof, dish scourers, cutlery and like items not covered by another section of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 373.

(55) "Miscellaneous drug store items" means any drug store items sold in retail grocery stores, such as toothpaste, aspirin, Kleenex, nail polish and similar items not covered by another section of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 373.

5. Table B (c) is amended by adding a subparagraph (1) to read as follows:

(1) "Computation of prices of bulk items." In computing the price of bulk items such as vinegar in barrels, dried shrimp in barrels and other food items in barrel or box containers the bulk ceiling price shall be in accordance with the stated contents appearing on the face of the container; Provided, however, That the retailer, by remeasurement or recount, may ascertain the correct contents of a container and the number of units contained.

For bulk sales, the retailer may then divide the ceiling price per case by the actual content of the bulk container rather than the nominal or stated number of units named on the container.

6. Table B (d) is amended by adding two items designated respectively 54 [2] and 55 [2] reading as follows:

Grocery item	Division factors
	Column 1	Column 2
54 [2] Miscellaneous household hardware items	.75	.78
55 [2] Miscellaneous drug store items	.75	.78

7. Table B (d) is amended by adding thereto immediately following note [1] a note [2] reading as follows:

[2] However, any retailer of an item covered by commodity classification numbers 54 and 55 may, at his option, use as his maximum price, the price established under General Maximum Price Regulation for the Territory of Hawaii in lieu of the price arrived at by means of the division factors listed herein.

This amendment shall become effective as of October 1, 1945.

Issued this 15th day of October 1945.

8307.4 Manner of exercising preference; application to Smaller War Plants Corporation.
8307.5 Prices, terms, billing and shipments.
8307.6 Fair value.

AUTHORITY: §§ 8307.1 to 8307.9, inclusive, issued under Surplus Property Act of 1944, 58 Stat. 765, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1611, and under Pub. Law 181, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.

§ 8307.1 Definitions—(a) Terms defined in act. Terms not defined in paragraph (b) of this section which are defined in the Surplus Property Act of 1944 shall in this part have the meaning given to them in the act.

(b) Other terms. (1) "Own" business or professional or agricultural enterprise means one of which more than fifty (50) per cent of the invested capital or net income thereof is owned by, or accrues to, a veteran or veterans. A veteran may be deemed to have his "own" business or professional or agricultural enterprise for the purpose of acquiring particular tools or equipment when he is engaged by others as an employee or agent and is required by his employment to have his own tools or equipment.

(2) "Small business" may include any commercial or industrial enterprise, or group of enterprises under common ownership or control, which does not at the date of purchase of surplus property hereunder have more than five hundred (500) employees, or any such enterprise which by reason of its relative size and position in its industry is certified by Smaller War Plants Corporation, with the approval of the Surplus Property Administrator, to be a small business.

(3) "Veteran" means any person in the active military or naval service of the United States during the present war, or any person who served in the active military or naval service of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, and prior to the termination of the present war, and who has been discharged or released therefrom under honorable conditions. Veterans "released" from military or naval service shall include persons on terminal leave or final furlough and those whose status has been changed from "active" to "inactive."

§ 8307.2 Scope. This part shall apply to disposals to veterans of surplus property located in the continental United States, its territories and possessions. It shall not apply to real property, industrial plants, shipyards and facilities, property designated in classes (1) to (8), inclusive, in section 19 (a) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, or surplus vessels which the Maritime Commission determines to be merchant vessels or capable of conversion to merchant use.

§ 8307.4 Manner of exercising preference; application to Smaller War Plants Corporation. A veteran desiring to exercise his preference hereunder shall apply to any office of the Smaller War Plants Corporation and shall furnish the Corporation with complete information regarding the property desired. Smaller War Plants Corporation shall satisfy itself through reference to the applicant's discharge papers or to other satisfactory evidence that the applicant is a veteran and that the property applied for is to be used in his own small enterprise, and shall require of the applicant a supporting statement or affidavit. Smaller War Plants Corporation shall issue a certificate to such veteran stating that he is a veteran entitled to preference in the purchase of the types and quantities of the property described therein. Smaller War Plants Corporation shall also assist the veteran by referring him to the appropriate disposal agency, and, by agreement with the veteran, may act as his agent in purchasing the property certified. Disposal agencies shall rely upon the certificate of the Smaller War Plants Corporation that the holder is a veteran entitled to preference in the purchase of the types and quantities of the property described therein. Purchases under preferences accorded veterans shall be filled from reserves or other property made available to Government agencies under Part 8302.[1] Property available for veterans may be inspected by them. Whenever a disposal agency receives an application from a veteran desiring to exercise his preference hereunder but not accompanied by a certificate from the Smaller War Plants Corporation, it shall refer the application to Smaller War Plants Corporation together with full information regarding the availability of the property and the price, terms, and conditions of sale.

§ 8307.7 Purchases by veterans without exercising preference. This part applies only to veterans desiring to exercise their preference hereunder and nothing herein shall prevent a veteran from purchasing any property directly from a disposal agency without exercising his preference if he is included within the class of buyers to whom the disposal agency is offering such property. Such purchases made by a veteran without exercising his preference shall be governed by the prices, terms, and conditions of the offering made by the disposal agency and not by the provisions of this part.

§ 8307.9 Records and reports. Disposal agencies and the Smaller War Plants Corporation shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with the provisions of this part and with the applicable provisions of the act. Reports shall be prepared and filed in such manner as may be specified by order issued under this part subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This part shall become effective on October 15, 1945.

W. STUART SYMINGTON,
Administrator.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 35—VETERANS' REGULATIONS

ADJUSTMENT OF MONTHLY RATES OF COMPENSATION OR PENSION FOR SPECIFIC SERVICE-INCURRED DISABILITIES IN EXCESS OF TOTAL DISABILITY

Instruction under Public No. 182, 79th Congress (Act of September 20, 1945).

1. The increased rates of pension or compensation provided are payable only under Public No. 2, 73d Congress, pursuant to §§ 35.011 (b) (11) to (16) and 35.012 (b) (11) to (16), as amended, and not under Public No. 141, 73d Congress, or any other statute. The rates contained in section 2 are applicable to veterans pensioned or pensionable under § 35.012 (b), as amended.

2. It will be noted that Public No. 182, 79th Congress, recognizes the great difference existing between double amputations at various levels, and provides a more flexible scale for the authorization of monetary benefits to the most severely disabled veterans.

3. The new law continues the present criterion of "light perception" for blindness of one eye under §§ 35.011 (b) (11) and 35.012 (b) (11), but provides specific rates for three grades of blindness (a) with 5/200 visual acuity or less (§§ 35.011 (b) (12) to (15) and 35.012 (b) (12) to (15)); (b) requiring regular aid and attendance (§§ 35.011 (b) (13) and 35.012 (b) (13)); and (c) anatomical loss (§§ 35.011 (b) (14) and 35.012 (b) (14)). In connection with (a) above, concentric contraction of the field of vision beyond 10° in both eyes will be considered the equivalent of 5/200 visual acuity.

4. Previously the additional allowances of $35.00 or $26.25 monthly for anatomical loss or loss of use of one hand or of one foot or for blindness of one eye, having only light perception, under §§ 35.011 (b) (11) and 35.012 (b) (11) were payable only in addition to the pension provided in §§ 35.011 (b) (1) to (10) and 35.012 (b) (1) to (10). It will be observed that under Public No. 182, 79th Congress, the additional allowances under §§ 35.011 (b) (11) and 35.012 (b) (11) are now payable in addition to pension payable under §§ 35.011 (b) (12) to (14) and 35.012 (b) (12) to (14) and that such additional allowance is payable for each loss or loss of use when existing in addition to the requirements for these rates, provided the total does not exceed $300.00 in § 35.011 (b) cases or $225.00 in § 35.012 (b) cases. For example, a war veteran who has suffered the loss of use of both hands, one foot, and one eye (light perception only) will be compensated or pensioned at $200.00 plus two allowances of $35.00 each or $270.00 under the second part of § 35.011 (b) (11) and 35.012 (b) (11). It will be further observed that provision is not made for the application more than once of the special monthly pension under §§ 35.011 (b) (11) and 35.012 (b) (11), except in cases meeting the requirements of §§ 35.011 (b) (12) to (14) and 35.012 (b) (12) to (14).

5. The maximum rate, as a result of including helplessness as one of the entitling multiple disabilities, is intended to cover, in addition to obvious losses and blindness, conditions such as transverse myelitis with loss of use of both legs and loss of anal and bladder sphincter control; also the loss of use of two extremities with absolute deafness and nearly total blindness, or with severe multiple injuries producing total disability outside the useless extremities, these conditions being construed as loss of use of two extremities and helplessness.

6. The authority contained in §§ 35.011 (b) (16) and 35.012 (b) (16) to allow the next higher rate or an intermediate rate will be administered as follows:

(a) With the anatomical loss, or loss of use, of one hand or one foot, and anatomical loss, or loss of use, of another extremity at a level or with complications preventing natural elbow or knee action with prosthesis in place, the rate will be $217.50 (or $163.13).

(b) With the anatomical loss, or loss of use, of one extremity at a level or with complications preventing natural elbow or knee action with prosthesis in place, and the anatomical loss of another extremity so near the shoulder or hip as to prevent the use of a prosthetic appliance, the rate will be $250.00 (or $187.50).

(c) With the anatomical loss, or loss of use, of one hand or one foot, and the anatomical loss of another extremity so near the shoulder or hip as to prevent the use of a prosthetic appliance, the rate will be $235.00 (or $176.25).

(d) With the requirements for any of the rates provided in §§ 35.011 (b) (12) to (14) and 35.012 (b) (12) to (14), inclusive, and additional disability independently ratable at 50% or more, the rate will be intermediate, i. e., half-way, between the rate authorized for the subparagraph whose requirements are met, and the next higher rate authorized in §§ 35.011 (b) (13) to (15) and 35.012 (b) (13) to (15).

(e) With the requirements for any of the rates provided in §§ 35.011 (b) (12) to (14) and 35.012 (b) (12) to (14), inclusive, and additional disability independently ratable, apart from any consideration of individual unemployability, at 100%, the rate will be the next higher rate authorized in §§ 35.011 (b) (13) to (15) and 35.012 (b) (13) to (15).

(f) Other cases in which any of the rates are deemed inadequate will be referred to the central office, citing § 2.1142.

7. The effective date of increases accomplished pursuant to the review authorized herein, will be October 1, 1945. In the adjudication of claims filed on or after October 1, 1945, the rates of pension specified in Public No. 182, 79th Congress, are applicable, but not over any period prior to that date. Such increased rates include the 15 percent increase in the rate of compensation or pension payable for service-incurred disability under section 1, Public No. 312, 78th Congress, or Public No. 469, 78th Congress. On the Form 553 series will be entered a notation specifying Public No. 182, 79th Congress, and this Instruction as authority for the award. The rating sheets will cite entitlement under the appropriate subparagraphs of §§ 35.011 (b) and 35.012 (b), as amended by Public No. 182, 79th Congress.

8. The veteran, his representative, if any, or guardian will be notified of the award action taken under Public No. 182, 79th Congress, setting forth the reasons therefor. (Public No. 182, 79th Congress.)

General, U. S. Army,
Administrator.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

[File No. 31-55]

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of October A. D. 1945.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company having filed an application pursuant to section 2 (a) (8) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 for an order declaring it not to be a subsidiary of The North American Company, a registered holding company;

The Commission having by order dated September 10, 1941, denied said application, the Commission finding that the facts in the record, including, among others, the ownership by The North American Company of 17.71% of the voting stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the furnishing of periodic reports by Pacific Gas and Electric Company to The North American Company and the presence on the board of directors of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of two represntatives of The North American Company, did not demonstrate that Pacific Gas and Electric Company was entitled to the requested exemption;

The Commission having by order dated April 14, 1942, directed The North American Company to dispose of its ownership, control and holding of securities of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company;

Pacific Gas and Electric Company having filed an application renewing its application for an order under section 2 (a) (8) declaring it not to be a subsidiary of The North American Company and having stated in such application that The North American Company has recently disposed of a large amount of its stock in Pacific Gas and Electric Company, with the result that it now owns of record and beneficially only 5.24% of such stock, including 56,900 shares owned by The North American Utilities Securities Corporation, a subsidiary of The North American Company, that one of the two representatives of The North American Company on the board of directors of Pacific Gas and Electric Company has submitted his resignation, that Pacific Gas and Electric Company understands that the other such representative will resign when The North American Company disposes of the remainder of its stock in Pacific Gas and Electric Company, that Pacific Gas and Electric Company will in the future furnish to such representative on its board, if requested by him, such reports and other information as are available to other members of its board, and that Pacific Gas and Electric Company will furnish to The North American Company such financial reports with respect to Pacific Gas and Electric Company, in addition to reports furnished generally to stockholders, as The North American Company is required to supply to financial institutions under its existing loan agreements or renewals thereof.

It appearing to the Commission that the circumstances which gave rise to the Commission's order of September 10, 1941, denying the said application of Pacific Gas and Electric Company have changed materially and that it is appropriate, in the light of the facts contained in the application of Pacific Gas and Electric Company renewing its application for an order under section 2 (a) (8), that said order of September 10, 1941, be revoked and that an order be entered granting said application of Pacific Gas and Electric Company:

It is ordered, That (a) said order of September 10, 1941, insofar as it denied Pacific Gas and Electric Company's application for an order declaring it not to be a subsidiary of The North American Company, be, and the same is hereby, revoked, and (b) said renewed application of Pacific Gas and Electric Company for an order declaring that it is not a subsidiary of The North American Company be, and the same is hereby, granted.

By the Commission.

FLORIDA POWER CORP. ET AL.

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATIONS TO BECOME EFFECTIVE AND AMENDING PRIOR ORDER

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of October 1945.

In the matter of Florida Power Corporation, General Gas & Electric Corporation, File No. 70-1161; Florida Power Corporation, File No. 70-235.

General Gas & Electric Corporation ("Gengas"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of Denis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp, Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation ("Agecorp"), also a registered holding company, and Florida Power Corporation ("Florida"), a subsidiary of Gengas, having filed declarations, as amended, pursuant to sections 6 (a), 7, and 12 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, with respect to transactions which may be summarized as follows:

The Plan of Divestment of Assets, Simplification of Corporate Structure and Equitable Distribution of Voting Power ("Plan") of Gengas which was approved by orders of the Commission dated July 25, 1945 and August 23, 1945 (Holding Company Act Release Nos. 5950 and 6001) and which is now pending before the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York for enforcement, provides, among other things, that (1) the presently outstanding 3,000,000 shares of no par value common stock of Florida be reclassified into 1,000,000 shares of $7.50 par value common stock, and (2) 460,759.2 shares of such reclassified shares of Florida common stock be distributed to the public holders of Gengas common stocks, Class A and B, and 396,383.8 shares of such stock be distributed to or upon the order of the Agecorp Trustees, leaving a balance of 142,857 shares of such reclassified common stock to be issued and sold by Florida for financing.

Gengas, pursuant to the direction of the Agecorp Trustees, proposes to sell at competitive bidding the 396,383.8 shares of Florida common stock, $7.50 par value, distributable to the Agecorp Trustees under the Plan, and Florida proposes to sell the 142,857 remaining shares of its reclassified common stock. The proceeds to be received by Florida from the sale of its remaining reclassified common stock will be used to repay temporary bank loans outstanding in the amount of $500,000, to raise additional capital for construction purposes, and other corporate purposes. The proceeds to be received by Gengas will be distributed to the Trustees of Agecorp in lieu of common stock of Florida distributable to them under the terms of the Gengas Plan.

As part of the proposed transaction Gengas will make available to its public stockholders to whom, under the terms of the Gengas Plan 460,759.2 shares of Florida's reclassified common stock will be distributed, the opportunity to subscribe to 76,793 shares of the additional reclassified common stock on the basis of one share of Florida common stock for every thirty shares of Gengas common stock Class A and B, at the price to be paid to Florida by the underwriters. No fractional shares of additional reclassified common stock will be issued.

By its order dated July 25, 1945, the Commission pursuant to section 11 (b) of the act ordered the Agecorp Trustees to divest themselves of all direct and indirect interest in and control over any and all properties and businesses of Florida and its subsidiary, Georgia Power and Light Company. In this connection Gengas has requested that the order of this Commission permitting said declarations to become effective contain the recitals and other provisions necessary to meet the requirements of Supplement R of the Internal Revenue Code as amended.

Florida has also applied to the Commission for the removal of a dividend restriction imposed by order of the Commission dated April 10, 1941, in the Matter of Florida Power Corporation, File No. 70-235 (9 S.E.C. 29 (1941); Holding Company Act Release No. 2691) whereby payment of dividends on common stock in any calendar year beginning January 1, 1941 is and has been restricted to such earnings as may be in excess of the sum of annual preferred stock dividend requirements plus $300,000. In lieu of such restriction, Florida proposes to amend its Certificate of Reincorporation, to provide for a partial restriction on the payment of dividends on its common stock, so long as any shares of its preferred stock of any series are outstanding, if its common stock equity should become less than 25% of total capitalization and surplus.

A public hearing having been held after appropriate notice, and the Commission having considered the record in this matter, and having made and filed its findings and opinion herein:

It is ordered, Pursuant to the applicable provisions of said act that the aforesaid declarations, as amended, be and hereby are, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions provided in Rule U-24 and to the further condition that the proposed issuance and sale of securities shall not be consummated until the results of the competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order shall have been entered by the Commission in the light of the record so completed, which order may contain further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate, jurisdiction being reserved for this purpose.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved over the payment of all legal fees and expenses of all counsel in connection with the proposed transactions.

It is further ordered, That the order of the Commission dated April 10, 1941 (File No. 70-235) whereby payment of dividends by Florida on common stock in any calendar year beginning January 1, 1941 is and has been restricted to such earnings as may be in excess of the sum of annual preferred stock dividend requirements plus $300,000, be and hereby is amended by eliminating such dividend restriction from said order.

It is further ordered and recited, That the following transactions authorized and permitted by this order are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935: The transfer, sale and delivery for cash by Gengas at competitive bidding of 396,383.8 shares of the reclassified common stock, $7.50 par value, of Florida Power Corporation.

By the Commission.

On all sales other than sales to the ultimate consumer this additional adjustment charge may be made and collected only if it is separately stated on each invoice. The adjusted price is subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts and allowances on sales of the same or similar articles. The adjustment charge authorized in this paragraph (b) is in addition to any adjustment charge permitted for wholesalers by Order No. 1052 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(c) Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing prices adjusted in accordance with this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established by paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the articles. This notice may be given in any convenient form, and is, in addition to any notice required by paragraphs (d) or (e) of Order No. 1052 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(d) All requests not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(e) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective on the 13th day of October 1945.

[Region II Order G-56 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN ERIE COUNTY, PA.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is ordered:

(a) What this order does—(1) Dealers' maximum prices; area covered. If you are a dealer in solid fuels, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may charge, and if you are a purchaser in the course of trade or business, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may pay, for certain sizes and quantities of "Pennsylvania anthracite", (hereinafter called simply "anthracite") "By-Product Coke", "Disco", and for "Ambricoal Briquettes" delivered to or at any point in Erie County, Pennsylvania, except By-Product Coke and Ambricoal Briquettes in the borough and township of North East; and for certain sizes, quantities, and types of bituminous coal delivered in that part of Erie County, Pennsylvania, described in Schedule II, paragraph (e).

(2) Schedules of prices, charges and discounts. The applicable prices, authorized charges, and required discounts, from which you shall determine the maximum prices for anthracite, by-product coke, disco, and ambricoal briquettes, within Erie County, except by-product coke and ambricoal briquettes in the borough and township of North East, are set forth in Schedule I hereafter, and for bituminous coal, in Schedule II.

(3) To what sales this order applies. If you are a dealer in anthracite, by-product coke, disco, or ambricoal briquettes, you are bound by the prices, charges, and discounts, and by all other provisions of this order for all deliveries within Erie County except by-product coke and ambricoal briquettes in the borough and township of North East, whether or not you are located in that county. If you are a dealer in bituminous coal, you are similarly bound for all deliveries within the area described in Schedule II, whether or not you are located in that area.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract or other obligations, you shall not:

(1) Sell, or, in the course of trade or business, buy solid fuels of the kinds, sizes, and in the quantities set forth in the schedules herein, at prices higher than the maximum prices computed as set forth in paragraph (c) of this order, although you may charge, pay, or offer less than maximum prices.

(2) Obtain any price higher than the applicable maximum price by:

(i) Changing the discounts authorized herein, or

(ii) Charging for any service which is not expressly requested by the buyer, or

(iii) Charging for any service for which a charge is not specifically authorized by this order, or

(iv) Charging a price for any service higher than the schedule price for such service, or

(v) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(vi) Using any other device by which a higher price than the applicable maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(c) How to compute maximum prices. You must figure your maximum prices as follows:

(1) Use the schedule which covers your sale. (Schedule I applies to "direct-delivery" sales and "yard sales" of anthracite, by-product coke, disco, and ambricoal briquettes within Erie County except by-product coke and ambricoal briquettes in the borough and township of North East. You will find Schedule I in paragraph (d). In like manner, Schedule II applies to "direct-delivery" sales and "yard sales" of bituminous coal within the designated portions of Erie County. You will find Schedule II in paragraph (e)))

(2) Take the dollars-and-cents figure given in the applicable table of the applicable schedule, for the kind, size, and quantity of solid fuel you are selling.

(3) Deduct from that figure the amount of the discount which you are required to give, as specified therein. Where a discount is required, you must state it separately on your invoice.

(4) If, at your purchaser's request, you actually render him a service for which this order authorizes a charge, you may add to the figure obtained as above no more than the maximum authorized service charge. You must state that charge separately on your invoice. The only authorized service charges are those provided for in the schedules.

(d) Schedule I. Schedule I establishes a specific maximum price for certain kinds, sizes, and quanties of anthracite, by-product coke, disco, and ambricoal briquettes, delivered to or at any point within Erie County, except by-product coke and ambricoal briquettes in the borough and township of North East. There is a separate table of prices for "direct-delivery" sales and for "yard sales".

(3) Addition by dealers of charges for oil or chemical treatment of bituminous coal. Notwithstanding other provisions of this order, if you are a dealer charged a price for oil or chemical treatment of bituminous coal from Districts 2, 7, and 8, you may, on sales of such treated coal, add to the maximum prices set by this order the treatment charge made by your supplier: Provided, That it does not exceed 10¢ per net ton. This treatment charge may be added only if the treated coal is kept separate and is not mixed with other untreated coal. You need not separately state the amount of this treatment charge if you clearly indicate on the invoice that the coal is so treated. Provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to sales of solid fuels in less than ¼ ton lots, unless requested by the purchaser.

(f) Commingling. If one size or kind of solid fuel is sold commingled with another size or kind of solid fuel, the maximum price for the combination shall be the maximum price established in this order for the smallest of the sizes or for the least expensive kind of fuel so commingled, whichever is lower, whether the sale be a "delivered sale" or "yard sale", except in the following situation: Where a purchaser requests that two or more sizes or kinds of fuel be commingled in one delivery, then, and in that event, if these sizes and kinds are separately weighed at the point of loading, the dealer may commingle these sizes and kinds in the truck or other vehicle, in which the delivery is made. The price for fuel so commingled shall be calculated on the basis of the applicable per net ton price for each size and kind in the combination, and the invoice shall separately state the price, so determined, for the quantity of each size and kind in the combination.

(g) Ex parte 148; freight rate increase. Since the ex parte 148 freight rate increase has been rescinded by the Interstate Commerce Commission, dealers' freight rates are the same as those of December 1941. Therefore, you may not increase any schedule price on account of freight rates.

(h) Addition of increase in supplier's maximum prices prohibited. You may not increase the specific maximum prices established by this order to reflect in whole or in part, any subsequent increase to you in your supplier's maximum price for the same fuel. The specific maximum prices already reflect increases to you in your supplier's maximum prices occurring up to the effective date of this order. If increases in your supplier's maximum prices should occur after such date, as the result of any amendment to or revision of a maximum price regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration governing sales and deliveries made by such suppliers, the Regional Administrator will, if he then deems it to be warranted, take appropriate action to amend this order to reflect such increases.

(i) Taxes. If you are a dealer subject to this order you may collect, in addition to the specific maximum prices established herein, provided you state it separately, the amount of the Federal tax upon the transportation of property imposed by Section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 actually paid or incurred by you, or any amount equal to the amount of such tax paid by any of your prior suppliers and separately stated and collected from you by the supplier from whom you purchased. On sales to the United States or any agency thereof, or to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any political subdivision thereof, you need not state this tax separately.

(j) Adjustable pricing. You may not make a price adjustable to a maximum price which will be in effect at some time after delivery of the anthracite has been completed; but the price may be adjustable to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery.

(k) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(l) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator of the Price Administrator may amend, revoke, or rescind this order, or any provision thereof, at any time.

(m) Applicability of other regulations. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you are governed by the licensing provisions of Licensing Order 1. Licensing Order 1 provides, in brief, that a license is required of all persons making sales for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for the license. The license may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. If your license is suspended, you may not sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

(n) Records. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall preserve, keep, and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration, a record of every sale of solid fuel hereunder, showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged, and the solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also state separately each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(o) Posting of maximum prices: sales slips and receipts. (1) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall post all of your maximum prices (as set forth in the applicable schedule or schedules of this order) in your place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public.

(2) If you are dealer subject to this order, you shall, except for a sale of less than one-half ton, give each purchaser an invoice, sales slip or receipt showing your name and address, the kind, size, and quantity of solid fuel sold to him, the date of the sale or delivery and the price charged, separately stating the amount, if any, of the required discounts which must be deducted from, and the authorized service charges and the taxes, which may be added to, the specific maximum prices prescribed herein.

In the case of all other sales, you shall give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt containing the information described in the foregoing paragraph, if requested by such purchaser.

(p) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Pittsburgh District Office of the Office of Price Administration, or with the Price Panel of the appropriate War Price and Rationing Board.

(15) Except as otherwise provided herein or as the context may otherwise require, the definitions set forth in §§ 1340.255 and 1340.266 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 shall apply to terms used herein.

PART 4—OIL AND GAS LEASES

OIL AND GAS RIGHTS; POLICY AS TO DEVELOPMENT

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the act of March 4, 1917 (39 Stat. 1150, 16 U.S.C. 520), and 40 Ops. Att'y Gen. No. 7, §§ 4.1 and 4.2 of Part 4, Subtitle A, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations, are hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 4.1 Oil and gas rights to which these regulations apply. The regulations herein promulgated are applicable to oil and gas rights owned by the United States and under the jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture or any agency thereof. They are not applicable to oil and gas rights in (a) lands reserved from the public domain or acquired by exchange pursuant to the act of March 20, 1922 (42 Stat. 465, 16 U.S.C. 485, 486), as such lands are subject to the mineral laws applicable to the public domain and the authority to execute such laws is vested in the Secretary of the Interior, or (b) to lands acquired by any agency under the supervision of the Farm Credit Administration.

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

DIRECTION TO SHIPPERS OF COAL PRODUCED IN DISTRICTS 1, 3, 4 OR 6 MOVING VIA THE GREAT LAKES

To accelerate shipments of coal moving via the Great Lakes so that required minimum shipments are made before the close of the season of navigation, it is necessary, pursuant to SFAW Regulation No. 1, as amended, to issue the following direction:

(1) Notwithstanding any provision of SFAW Regulation No. 27, shippers of coal produced in Districts 1, 3, 4 or 6 shall immediately arrange their distribution schedules for the period October 15, 1945 to November 17, 1945 so that commitments for coal moving via the Great Lakes to a dock or other unloading facility located in the areas described in paragraph (2) below, are met in full. Such commitments include

(a) Those contracts entered into in accordance with SFAW Regulation No 25, and

(b) Contracts for coal moving via the Great Lakes entered into in accordance with SFAW Regulation No. 24, as modified by any SFAW directions, approvals or adjustments. In so far as practicable, distribution schedules shall be arranged so that not less than one-half of the coal necessary to fill such commitments will be shipped before November 1, 1945.

(2) This direction shall apply to coal produced in Districts 1, 3, 4 or 6 moving via the Great Lakes to any dock or other unloading facility, except those located at the following points: All points on Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, the Welland Canal, and the St. Lawrence River; all points on Lake Michigan within the States of Illinois and Indiana.

(3) In the event that compliance with the provisions of this direction will cause substantial disruption of normal shipments to other markets, the shipper shall immediately notify the Area Distribution Manager for the district in which the coal is produced of all pertinent facts. Such notification shall be furnished to the Area Distribution Manager in duplicate. The filing of such notification shall not, however, in any way relieve a shipper from the obligation of arranging and proceeding without delay to comply with the provisions of this direction.

(4) This direction supersedes the preference provisions of SFAW Regulation No. 27 and the provisions of all directions and orders inconsistent herewith. It shall not affect, however, the provisions of the Notice of Direction to Shippers and Industrial Consumers of Coal Moving Via the Great Lakes and Ex-Lake Dock, issued August 30, 1945.

This direction shall become effective immediately.

Producers, wholesalers and lake or tidewater dock operators are hereby notified that because the information is not considered necessary at this time the failure to file the report specified by § 602.770 (e) of SFAW Regulation No. 28, as amended, will not be deemed adequate basis for taking any compliance action.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Supplementary Order M-317A, as Amended Oct. 16, 1945]

COTTON FABRIC PREFERENCE RATINGS AND RESTRICTIONS

§ 3290.116 Supplementary Order M-317A—(a) Contents of this order. This Order M-317A is supplementary to Order M-317 and contains distribution schedules 1 and 2. These schedules apply only to woven cotton fabrics of more than 12" in width, but do not apply to duck. Restrictions on the production of cotton fabrics appear in Order L-99.

(b) Deletion of preference rating schedules. The preference rating schedules formerly contained in this order have been deleted. All AA ratings for the fourth quarter of 1945 become invalid as explained in Priorities Regulations 1 and 3 and Direction 18 to M-328.

(c) Effect of change in distribution schedules on third quarter set-asides. Cotton fabrics produced in the third quarter of 1945 but not delivered by the producer before October 1, 1945, must be delivered in accordance with the provisions of the Distribution Schedules of Order M-317A as amended September 5, 1945.

Issued this 16th day of October 1945.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

DISTRIBUTION SCHEDULES 1 AND 2

The obligations in Column III of Distribution Schedules 1 and 2 are to be calculated quarterly from the first day of each quarter, beginning October 1, 1945.

(a) Column I indicates the corresponding item numbers of the various cotton fabrics in these schedules as each appears on Form WPB-658-C (9/7/45) for Fine Cotton Goods and Form WPB-658-B (9/7/45) for Carded Gray Goods, Colored Yarn and Napped Fabrics and Specialties.

(c) Column III shows the percentage of the producer's current calendar quarterly production which must be delivered by him to fill rated export orders. Deliveries of cotton fabrics on rated orders of garment manufacturers for incorporation into clothing for delivery on rated export orders may be credited to the Column III obligation. Except for clothing in the above case, only exports of cotton fabrics in piece goods form may be credited to this obligation. For example, delivery of cotton fabrics to a coater to fill a rated export order for coated fabrics may not be credited to the Column III obligation.

(d) (1) Only deliveries on purchase orders placed in accordance with paragraph (b) (1) of Order M-317 may be credited toward the obligations of Column III. When these obligations are fulfilled, the producer is not required to accept any additional export orders, regardless of the provisions of Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) Export by or for the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration (including U. S. Army and Marine Corps Post Exchanges, U. S. Navy and Coast Guard Ships' Service Departments, and War Shipping Administration Training Organizations Ships' Service Activities), and the American Red Cross may not be credited toward these obligations.

(3) In calculating the export obligation contained in Distribution Schedule 1 (Fine Cotton Goods) the producer shall eliminate his production of cotton fabrics wider than 42½". However, if he received a rated export order for these goods, he must treat it as a rated order to the extent of his obligation and the delivery shall be credited toward his export obligation relating to narrow goods within the same reference number.

(e) (1) Column IV contains special provisions concerning the use and delivery of particular fabrics. Unless otherwise specified, the provisions of this Column apply to cotton fabrics in piece goods form only, not including seconds, shorts, remnants and rags.

(2) Unless otherwise specified, the provisions of Column IV apply only to producers as defined in Order M-317. Where a provision in Column IV requires a purchaser to furnish a certificate, no person giving such a certificate may use or deliver the cotton fabrics he buys contrary to his certificate.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1.1 Prohibition against dealing in fats and oils at prices above the maximum. No person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver, or transfer, and no person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive, fats or oils at prices higher than the maximum prices, except that contracts entered into prior to December 13, 1941, providing for a higher price than the maximum prices may be carried out at the contract price. The maximum prices shall include commissions and all other charges. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 106 (10 F.R. 2015) permits, under certain conditions, the addition of extra packing expenses to maximum prices on sales to procurement agencies of the United States.]

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 31 (7 F.R. 9894, 8 F.R. 1312, 3702, 9521) provides that: "Notwithstanding the provisions of any price regulation, the tax on transportation of all property (excepting coal) imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for purposes of determining the applicable maximum price of any commodity or service, be treated as though it were an increase of 3% in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated, under any provision of any price regulation or any interpretation thereof, as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price."]

SEC. 1.2 Exempt sales. Sales of fats and oils products in the finished form, sales of refined fats and oils (except coconut oil) destined for use or consumption without further processing or packing by the buyer, and sales of lard destined for human consumption without further processing are exempt from the operation of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53, unless a maximum price for such fats or oils product, or refined fat or oil, or lard, is enumerated in terms of dollars and cents, or a method for computing a maximum price for such fats or oils product, or refined fat or oil, or lard, is set forth in Article III or any subsequent article of this regulation.

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 42 (8 F.R. 4068, 11951) provides that no price regulation of the Office of Price Administration shall apply to sales or deliveries of any commodity or service made to Government agencies pursuant to secret contracts or subcontracts.]

SEC. 1.3 Exempt Governmental purchases of foreign fats and oils. All purchases of fats and oils located in any foreign country by the United States Government or any agency thereof, or by an agent, broker or other representative purchasing for the account of the United States Government or any agency thereof, shall be exempt from the operation of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53, whether the purchase is made directly in the foreign country or through an agent, broker or other representative of the foreign seller located in the United States. Where fats and oils located in a foreign country are purchased by an agent, broker or other representative of the United States Government or any agency thereof who has a contract to resell the fats and oils so purchased to the United States or any agency thereof, such resale shall be exempt from the operation of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53. This provision shall have no application to purchases by the United States Government or any agency thereof of fats and oils located in the United States which have been imported into this country without a contract to resell the fats and oils so imported to the United States Government or any agency thereof.

SEC. 1.4 Application for determination of a maximum price. If the maximum price on a particular fat or oil covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53 cannot be determined under the provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53, the affected party shall file an application with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., containing:

(a) A description of the fat or oil and showing wherein it is impossible to determine a maximum price therefor;

(b) A statement of the facts of all transactions since January 1, 1941, of the applicant and all information he may have obtained concerning transactions of others from said date in the fat or oil in question in any form or state of processing including transactions in the oil bearing material, raw product, and crude oil.

(c) (1) An itemized statement of the applicant's total cost of said fat or oil (including any manufacturing or processing costs), (2) the applicant's maximum price for that commodity presently sold by the applicant that has a maximum price presently determinable and that is most nearly similar to the fat or oil for which a maximum price is sought and (3) an itemized statement of the applicant's total cost of such most nearly similar commodity (including any manufacturing or processing costs).

Upon receipt of such application the Office of Price Administration will proceed to fix a maximum price or instruct the applicant as to the method of determining the same and for reporting the price he may determine. Any price fixed or determined under this paragraph shall be subject to adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 1.5 Imports and exports. (a) The maximum prices for fats and oils shipped into the United States by ocean transportation or otherwise are those prices fixed by Article I and subsequent articles of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53.

(b) The maximum prices at which a person may export fats and oils for which maximum prices are established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53, outside the continental limits of the United States shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation [3] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

[Sec. 1.5 amended by Am. 26, 9 F.R. 7420, effective 7–8–44 and Am. 47, 10 F.R. 7406, effective 6–25–45.]

SEC. 1.6 Brokers' commissions paid by buyers. (a) Where the buyer pays a broker or other person a commission or other contingent compensation for services in bringing about, or otherwise connected with, any purchase, sale, delivery, acquisition, or other transfer of any fats or oils for which a maximum price is established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53, (1) the maximum total price that the buyer may pay for the fats or oils and as such commission or other contingent compensation, shall be the maximum prices for such fats or oils specified in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53, and (2) the maximum price that the seller may receive for the fats or oils sold shall be that sum which, when added to such commission or other contingent compensation paid by the buyer, equals the maximum prices for such fats or oils specified in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53.

(b) Exception. The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section 1.6 shall not apply to purchases made from the United States Government, or any state, municipal or other governmental unit, or any agencies of any of them, where the buyer customarily has paid broker's commissions or fees during the two years preceding the month of March 1942; in such case the buyer, in addition to paying the broker's commissions or fees, may pay the seller, and the seller may receive, the maximum prices specified in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53.

SEC. 1.7 Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 1.8 Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53 may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[4]

[NOTE: Procedural Regulation No. 6 (9 F.R. 10623; 10 F.R. 1382, 9394) provides for the filing of applications for adjustment of maximum prices for commodities or services under Government contracts or subcontracts. Revised Supplementary Order No. 9 (8 F.R. 6175; 10 F.R. 9394) makes the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 6 applicable to all price regulations, excepting those which expressly prohibit such applications, and certain specific regulations listed in Revised Supplementary Order No. 9.]

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 28 (7 F.R. 9619; 8 F.R. 7256) provides for the filing of applications for adjustment or petitions for amendment based on a pending wage or salary increase requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board.]

SEC. 1.9 Evasion—(a) General. The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53 shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery, or transfer of fats or oils, or by way of premium, commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by any other trade understanding or by any other means.

(b) By purchasing oil-bearing materials and paying for processing. The purchase of oil-bearing materials from a processor who is to process the oil-bearing materials for the purchaser is forbidden, if the combined cost of (1) the oil-bearing materials and (2) the processing toll exceeds the maximum price established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 53 for the type and quantity of oil produced from the oil-bearing materials. If the meal or other by-products produced from the oil-bearing materials are to be retained by the

(a) No maximum prices to be determined under section 1499.2 (b). No maximum price shall be determined for any margarine under the provisions of section 1499.2 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

Where maximum prices for any margarine have been determined, or purport to have been determined, under the provisions of § 1499.2 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation prior to August 22, 1944, maximum prices for such margarine shall be recalculated and redetermined in accordance with the provisions of sections 19.1 (b) and (c) hereof.

(b) Maximum prices of brands that were not sold or offered during March 1942, and that are now sold by processors who sold or offered any margarine during March 1942. The maximum price of a brand of margarine that was not sold or offered for sale by the processor during March 1942, and that is now sold by a processor who sold or offered for sale any margarine during March 1942, shall be the highest price charged by the processor during March 1942 for the most nearly equivalent margarine sold or offered by such processor during March 1942.

(c) Maximum prices of brands that were not sold during March 1942 and that are now sold by processors who did not sell or offer any margarine during March 1942. The maximum price of a brand of margarine that was not sold or offered for sale during March 1942, and that is now sold by a processor who, did not sell or offer any margarine during March 1942, shall be determined under the provisions of Order No. 375 under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, excepting that in no case may a maximum price so determined be above the general level of prices prevailing for similar margarine in the same general area as that in which it is proposed to distribute the margarine.

(d) Application for adjustment in certain cases of increased costs resulting from changes in method of manufacture or distribution. (1) Where a processor, since March 1942, has changed and substantially improved the method of manufacture or distribution of any brand of margarine, or where a processor makes a new brand of margarine that is manufactured or distributed by a different and substantially better method than that under which the most nearly equivalent brand made by him during March 1942 was manufactured or distributed, such processor may apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for an adjustment in his maximum price.

(2) In any such application the processor shall specify the exact changes and improvements in method of manufacture or distribution claimed to have been made since March 1942, the old and new method of manufacture or distribution, the exact cost (as of the date of the application) of making and distributing the margarine under the method of manufacture and distribution that was used in March 1942, and the exact cost of making and distributing the margarine under the method of manufacture and distribution used at the time of the application.

(3) Any adjustment granted under this section 19.1 (d) will in no case exceed the increase in the direct cost of producing the margarine and the increase in the cost of distribution that is due to the change in method of manufacture or distribution and will in no case be a price above the general level of prices prevailing for similar products in the same general area as that in which the product is distributed.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Am. 36, 9 F.R. 11763, effective 9–30–44]

(e) Application for adjustment in certain cases of hardship. A processor may apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for an adjustment in his maximum price of margarine where

(1) His maximum price is below the general price level prevailing for similar products, and

(2) He is or will be unable to maintain his production at his maximum price or prices, and

(3) The loss of his production would result in consumers having to pay higher prices for the most nearly similar substitute product available, and

(4) An increase in his maximum price or prices will enable him to continue production, and

(5) The Administrator is of the opinion that an increase in his maximum price or prices would, under all the circumstances, be in furtherance of the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act, as amended.

The maximum price increase that may be granted to a processor or manufacturer under the provisions of this section 19.1 (e) shall not cause his price to exceed the general price level prevailing for similar products. Subject to this limitation, an increase may be granted not to exceed the total cost of the product, or if the applicant's earnings from all operations before income and excess profits taxes are low in comparison with those of a "representative peace-time period", adjusted for subsequent changes in investment, and if in view of such over-all earnings a small margin of profit is reasonably necessary to permit production, an increase may be allowed estimated to yield such a profit margin.

A "representative peace-time period" means the period of the years 1936 to 1939, inclusive. When 1936 to 1939 does not represent a reasonably normal prewar (December 7, 1941) period, some other period may be used but its use must be positively justified in the application.

SEC. 19.2 Maximum prices for branch houses formerly pricing under § 1499.2 (b) of the GMPR. The maximum price of a brand of margarine sold from a branch house which did not sell or offer for sale the brand of margarine during March 1942 shall be the sum of the supplying processor's ceiling price of that brand of margarine plus the lowest carload freight rate on a per pound basis from the processing plant customarily supplying the branch house, to the branch house. In no case shall a maximum price established under this section exceed the maximum price established by the branch house heretofore under § 1499.2 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

[Sec. 19.2 added by Am. 33, 9 F.R. 11397, effective 9–22–44. Former sections 19.2 and 19.3 redesignated 19.3 and 19.4 by Am. 33]

SEC. 19.3 Maximum prices for brands for which maximum prices have been fixed by previous orders of the OPA. This amendment shall not affect the maximum prices for brands for which dollar-and-cents ceiling prices have been fixed by orders of the Office of Price Administration previously issued; such orders shall continue in full force and effect.

SEC. 19.4 These maximum prices are for processors or manufacturers only. The maximum prices established by this amendment are maximum prices for processors or manufacturers only. They are not the maximum prices for wholesalers, distributors, retailers or other sellers.

SEC. 19.5 Cross references. Provisions with respect to notification to both wholesalers and retailers will be found in section 1.15 of this regulation.

[Sec. 19.5 added by Am. 37, 9 F.R. 11757, effective 9–22–44; and amended by Am. 40, 10 F.R. 824, effective 1–25–45]

SEC. 19.6 Definitions. When used in this Article XIX:

The maximum price for another container size shall be figured from the maximum price for the same grade, variety, and size or style by adding 120% of the dollars-and-cents differential which existed in the processor's maximum prices in 1942 when the differential is to be added, and by subtracting 80% of the dollars-and-cents differential which existed in the processor's maximum prices in 1942 when the differential is to be subtracted.

In figuring maximum prices for other sales, the same differential shall be added to or subtracted from the maximum prices established for other sales.

(f) Maximum prices per pound for bulk packs may be adjusted to the nearest ⅛ of a cent. Maximum prices for container sizes and packaged dried fruits obtained by the use of differentials from bulk packs may be adjusted to the nearest cent only on the total amount of the invoice.

(g) The boxes or other containers referred to are standard commercial boxes or containers.

(h) Where maximum prices are named for dried fruits packed in wood boxes, the maximum price in each case for the same product when packed in fibre containers shall be $2.50 per ton less than the maximum price named for it when packed in wood boxes.

The provisions of this section do not apply to sales to government procurement agencies of the United States.

PART 1—RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

ASSIGNMENT OR TRANSFER OF CONTROL [1]

As announced in the Commission's decision in the matter of the transfer of the license of Station WLW from Powell Crosley, Jr., to The Aviation Corporation (Docket No. 6767), the Commission is presently engaged in the preparation of proposed rules effectuating the procedures governing the Commission's consideration of future transfer cases.

Pending the issuance of proposed rules, public hearing thereon and final adoption, consideration of applications for transfer to which the procedure would be applicable, as stated by the Commission in the Crosley decision, will be deferred. However, the Commission recognizes that some applicants may be desirous of following the general principles of the procedures in that decision without awaiting the adoption of the final rules. Accordingly in any cases where applicants desire to follow such general procedure pending the adoption of formal rules, they may file a statement to that effect supplementary to the application and include in such statement the details of a specific procedure, within the framework of the announced procedure in the Crosley decision, which the applicants propose to follow. The Commission will consider the proposed procedure suggested by such applicants and if it is found satisfactory, the applicant will be so advised or will be advised that the proposed procedure with certain modifications is acceptable. Such applicants may then proceed in the manner thus approved.

Dated: October 3, 1945.

By the Commission.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION.

OPERATION OF RADAR DEVICES NOT COVERED BY GOVERNMENT AUTHORIZATION

NOTICE TO SHIPOWNERS, SHIP RADIO STATION LICENSEES, AND OTHERS CONCERNED

This public notice is issued in response to the interest now being shown in the use of radar devices for peacetime navigational purposes, particularly as evidenced by numerous inquiries received by the Commission from electronic equipment manufacturers and shipping industries as to whether station and operator licenses are required for the operation of radar devices on board merchant ships and as to the procedure to be followed in obtaining station licenses.

Pursuant to section 301 of the Communications Act, station licenses issued by the Commission are required for the operation of all apparatus, including radar devices, which are to be used for the transmission of energy or communication or signals by radio. Under section 318 of the Communications Act, licensed stations, including radar stations, may be operated only by operators previously licensed by the Commission. No radar station licenses have been issued by the Commission as yet, except for certain experimental licenses under which these devices were developed in connection with wartime activities of United States Government agencies. In its final report in Docket No. 6651 concerning the allocation of frequencies above 25,000 kilocycles, the Commission designated several frequency bands as available for radio aids to navigation and assignment in some of these bands eventually may be made to non-government radar stations. It should be understood, however, that these bands are subject to such change or modification as may subsequently be made to conform to any frequency reallocation as the result of the next World Telecommunications Conference. It would appear desirable that international agreement be reached concerning the frequencies to be used by radar stations on board ships engaging in international voyages if maximum effectiveness of the equipment is to be realized and the available frequency bands are to be used efficiently. In view of the present status of the available frequency bands and the limited information available to the Commission at this time concerning radar devices, no radio channels have been specifically designated for radar stations. For these reasons the Commission has not as yet promulgated rules and regulations for the installation, operation and licensing of such stations.

It is the Commission's policy in the case of new or proposed services to authorize such services on an experimental basis pending the establishment of the service on a regular basis. The Commission, therefore, will entertain applications requesting authorization for Experimental Class 2 stations where it is clear that the facilities are to be used to obtain factual data relative to the needs and requirements of the proposed radar navigational service, and to collect information which might be useful in formulating rules and regulations governing the operation of radar stations for this purpose.

The Commission cautions all future applicants for such experimental authorizations that investments or expenditures undertaken to provide for the use and operation of radar devices are incurred at the risk that the specific frequency bands above 25 Mc presently allocated for aids to navigation may be changed at a later date. Persons proposing to place radar stations on board civil aircraft are similarly cautioned.

Dated: October 10, 1945.

Pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, the Stabilization Act of 1942, as amended, and § 1499.75 (a) (9) of Supplementary Regulation 15 to the General Maximum Price Regulation, and for the reasons set forth in the accompanying opinion, this Second Revised Order No. G-8 is issued.

(a) What this order does. This Second Revised Order No. G-8 incorporates into one document all of the currently operative provisions of Revised Order No. G-8 under § 1499.18 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, issued August 10, 1943, and all of the currently operative provisions of Amendments Nos. 1 to 4 thereto, and corrects certain errors now found to exist in said Revised Order No. G-8 as so amended. (c) Definitions. (1) "District No. 1" means all that area in the State of Wyoming contained within the Counties of Albany, Carbon, Laramie, Lincoln (except that portion contained within the area north of a line drawn east and west across the county and through the intersection of U. S. Highway North 30 with the Idaho-Wyoming state line), and Natrona (except that portion contained within the Town of Midwest and within a radius of twenty miles thereof at all points).

(2) "District No. 2" means all that area in the State of Wyoming contained within the Counties of Big Horn, Campbell (except that portion contained within District No. 3), Converse (except that portion contained within District No. 3), Crook, Fremont, Goshen, Hot Springs, Johnson (except that portion contained within District No. 3), that portion of Lincoln County contained within the area north of a line drawn east and west across the county and through the intersection of U. S. Highway North 30 with the Idaho-Wyoming state line, Niobrara, Park, Platte, Sheridan, Sublette, Teton, Uinta, Washakie, Weston, and Yellowstone National Park.

(3) "District No. 3" means all that area in the State of Wyoming contained within the Town of Midwest in Natrona County, and within a radius of twenty miles thereof at all points.

(4) "District No. 4" means all that area in the State of Wyoming contained within the County of Sweetwater.

(5) "Milk" or "fluid milk" means cow's milk, processed or raw, of approved grade, distributed and sold at wholesale or at retail in glass bottles or paper containers in quantities of less than one-half gallon, and in bulk in whatever container in quantities of one-half gallon or more.

(d) Higher established maximum prices may be maintained. Any seller who has established maximum prices under the General Maximum Price Regulation or any applicable regulation supplementary thereto, or under Maximum Price Regulation No. 280, or pursuant to any market agreement or order made or issued under the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, as amended, that are higher than the maximum prices fixed by this Second Revised Order No. G–8, may continue to sell at such higher established maximum prices and the same shall not be modified or superseded by this revised order.

(e) Computing fractional prices. In computing prices for a quantity purchase either at wholesale or at retail, fractions of less than one-half cent shall be adjusted downward to the next cent and fractions of one-half cent or more shall be adjusted upward to the next cent.

(f) Customary discounts, allowances, and differentials need not be maintained. Upon and after the effective date of this Second Revised Order No. G–8, it shall not be obligatory upon any seller of fluid milk hereunder to maintain or continue any customary allowance, discount, quantity discount or differential heretofore established by him; Provided, however, That any seller may sell at a price lower than the maximum prices established by this revised order if he so desires.

(g) Applicability of other regulations. This Second Revised Order No. G–8 supersedes Revised Order No. G–8 under § 1499.18 (c) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, including Amendments Nos. 1 to 4 thereto, as of the effective date hereof. Except insofar as the same are inconsistent with or contradictory of the terms and provisions of this Second Revised Order No. G–8, all of the terms and provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall remain in full force and effect and be applicable to sellers covered by this second revised order.

(h) Limitation on applicability. The specific maximum prices established for the several districts in the State of Wyoming as set forth in paragraph (b) hereof have been arrived at and determined upon a statistical basis which assumes that the producer of the milk sold will be paid therefor the maximum price authorized by Revised Order No. G–11, as amended, or Second Revised Order No. G–10, as amended, under Maximum Price Regulation No. 329. Therefore, the specific maximum prices established for said several districts of the State of Wyoming shall be available to those dealers only who are producers of the milk sold; or who have purchased the milk sold from a producer or producers to whom they have paid the full maximum price authorized by said Revised Order No. G–11, as amended, under Maximum Price Regulation No. 329, if the purchase is made from a Wyoming producer, or Second Revised Order No. G–10, as amended, under Maximum Price Regulation No. 329, if the purchase is made from a Colorado producer; or who have purchased the milk sold from an intermediate seller or distributor who certifies on the invoice or other written memorandum of the transaction, that the producers of the milk sold were paid the full maximum price authorized by said Revised Order No. G–11, as amended, or said Second Revised Order No. G–10, as amended, under Maximum Price Regulation No. 329. If the producer of the milk sold, or offered to be sold, has not been paid therefor the full maximum price established for Wyoming producers under said Revised Order No. G–11, as amended, or the full maximum price established for Colorado producers by said Second Revised Order No. G–10, as amended, then the seller's maximum prices at wholesale and at retail shall be ¼¢ less per quart, and a proportionate reduction where the unit of quantity sold is less than a quart, below the specific maximum prices set forth in this Second Revised Order No. G–8 for the district in which the sale is made, for each 3¢ that the price paid the producer is below such authorized maximum price. If any part or portion of the milk sold at wholesale or retail by a seller during any calendar month is milk for which the producer has not been paid the full maximum price as authorized by said Revised Order No. G–11, as amended, for Wyoming producers, or said Second Revised Order No. G–10, as amended, for Colorado Producers, then all of the milk sold by such seller during such calendar month shall be subject to this limitation and his maximum prices therefor shall be determined upon the basis of the lowest price paid by him to any producer for any part or portion of the total quantity of milk sold by him during such calendar month.

3. Section 29 (c) (9) (i) is amended to read as follows:

(i) Provolone or Pasta Filata (stringy curd) and Group I cheese. The food product commonly known as Provolone or Pasta Filata (stringy curd) cheese is prepared from cow's milk by the following process:

Whole or part skim milk is standardized to adjust the fat content, then warmed and subjected to the action of harmless lactic acid forming bacteria which may either be present in the milk or which may be added. Rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to coagulate the milk to a semisolid mass. The resulting mass is cut, stirred and heated so as to promote lactic acid development and to permit the separation of the whey from the curd. The mass must be heated during this process to a final cooking temperature of approximately 125 degrees Fahrenheit, following which the whey is drained from the curd. To attain the proper degree of elasticity, the curd is then cut, matted in the vat or kettle, milled, immersed in hot water, kneaded, stretched and pulled, cut to size and finally molded into characteristic, prewar forms and shapes regardless of size. The kneading and pulling operation must be continued until the curd is smooth and free from lumps and brittleness. During the molding operation the loaf is repeatedly dipped into hot water to cause proper sealing of the loaf. Thereafter the cheese is immersed in cold water for firming. It is then salted in brine over a period of several days, first in brine of low density, then in brine of a higher density, following which it is encased in recognized and accepted types of ropes or twine and hung for drying. The cheese is then hung in a special smoking room where it is continuously subjected to the action of natural hardwood smoke until the customary smoked flavor is developed, after which it is placed in a warehouse curing room until the cheese is 60 days old. At some time prior to 60 days from the date of manufacture, each cheese item is paraffined by dipping all surfaces in liquefied paraffin. The cheese must have dry, clean surfaces and must be free from mold prior to paraffining, and the identification as to the name and address of the manufacturer and as to the date of manufacture (subsequently required by this definition) must be clearly legible after paraffining. The cheese must also satisfy the characteristic and distinctive prewar requirements that are recognized in, and accepted by, the domestic Italian cheese industry with respect to the historical types, styles and sizes of cheese and with respect to the stringy curd texture, smoked odor, and smoked flavor customarily associated with Provolone types of Italian cheese. As finally constituted, the cheese must contain not more than 45% moisture, and its solids shall contain not less than 45% of milk fat.

Finally, any time before paraffining, the name and address of the manufacturer, in full or abbreviated form, and the week and month of manufacture shall be prominently stamped in type face of at least 3/16ths of an inch in height on opposite sides of the cheese as close to the top (where the hanging string is connected) as is practicable. That portion of the cheese containing these identifying marks shall be the last piece sold to the ultimate consumer or processed.

Any cheese which is manufactured by the above process, but which fails in any respect to satisfy any of the requirements set forth, shall be eligible for sale only at the maximum prices established for Group II cheese in Table B of this section.

4. Section 29 (c) (9) (ii) is amended to read as follows:

(ii) Parmesan-Reggiano and Group II cheese. The food product commonly known as Parmesan-Reggiano, Asiago old, and Group II cheese is a granular type cheese prepared from cow's milk by the following process:

Whole or part skim milk is standardized to adjust the fat content, then warmed and subjected to the action of harmless lactic acid forming bacteria which may either be present in the milk or which may be added. Rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to coagulate the milk to a semisolid mass. The resulting mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd during the stirring and heating process is continued until the particles are no larger than the size of wheat kernels. The final cooking temperature should approximate 125 degrees Fahrenheit. After being properly cut and firmed the curd is allowed to precipitate at the bottom of the kettle or vat and is thereafter removed from the kettle or vat by means of a cloth, drained for a short time, and then packed in customary sized hoops for pressing. About 3 days after pressing, the cheese is brine salted for a period of at least one day for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf, or dry salted for a period of at least three days for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf. After salting, the cheese is removed to a cool well ventilated room where it is held on shelves by the manufacturer until at least 16 months old, during which period the cheese is frequently turned, buffed and rubbed with oil. At some time during the curing operation the cheese may be removed from the shelves and the rind coated or artificially colored. At the end of the 16 month period the cheese must have a definitely granular texture, a mellow nutty characteristic flavor, and a rind which is hard, resistant and brittle. The cheese must be of such composition to grate readily, and when grated to dissolve freely in hot liquid. Furthermore, the cheese must be manufactured in customary and recognized pre-war types, styles and sizes normally and historically used in producing Parmesan type cheeses. As finally constituted, the cheese must contain not more than 32% moisture and its solids must contain not less than 36% of milk fat. Sbrinz cheese, however, is specifically exempted from the provisions of this regulation. The maximum price for Sbrinz cheese is controlled by Maximum Price Regulation 280.

Finally, at any time prior to initial sale and delivery of the cheese, the name and address of the manufacturer, in full or abbreviated form; and the month and year of manufacture shall be prominently imprinted in type face of at least ¾ths of an inch high around the side of the cheese. That portion of the cheese containing these identifying marks shall be the last piece sold to the ultimate consumer or processed.

Any cheese which is manufactured by the above process, but which fails in any respect to satisfy any of the requirements set forth, shall be eligible for sale only at the maximum prices established for Group I cheese in Table B of this section.

5. Section 29 (c) (9) (iii) is amended to read as follows:

(iii) Monte, Modena and Group III cheese. The food product commonly known at Monte, Modena and Group III cheese is a granular type cheese prepared from cow's milk by the following process:

Whole or part skim milk is standardized to adjust the fat content, then warmed and subjected to the action of harmless lactic acid forming bacteria which may either be present in the milk or which may be added. Rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to coagulate the milk to a semi-solid mass. The resulting mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd during the stirring and heating process is continued until the particles are no larger than the size of wheat kernels. The final cooking temperature should approximate 125 degrees Fahrenheit. After being properly cut and firmed the curd is allowed to precipitate at the bottom of the kettle or vat and is thereafter removed from the kettle or vat by means of a cloth, drained for a short time, and then packed in customary sized hoops for pressing. About 3 days after pressing, the cheese is brine salted for a period of at least one day for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf, or dry salted for a period of at least three days for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf. After salting, the cheese is removed to a cool well ventilated room where it is held on shelves by the manufacturer until at least 12 months old, during which period the cheese is frequently turned, buffed and rubbed with oil. At the end of the 12 month period the cheese must have a definitely granular texture, a sharp characteristic flavor, and a rind which is hard, resistant and brittle. The cheese must be of such composition to grate readily, and when grated to dissolve freely in hot liquid. Furthermore, the cheese must be manufactured in customary and recognized prewar types, styles and sizes normally and historically used in producing Parmesan type cheeses. As finally constituted, the cheese must contain not more than 32% moisture and its solids must contain not less than 25% of milk fat.

Finally, at any time prior to initial sale and delivery of the cheese, the name and address of the manufacturer, in full or abbreviated form, and the month and year of manufacture shall be prominently imprinted in type face of at least ¾ths of an inch high around the side of the cheese. That portion of the cheese which contains these identifying marks shall be the last piece sold to the ultimate consumer or processed.

Any cheese which is manufactured by the above process, but which fails in any respect to satisfy any of the requirements set forth shall be eligible for sale only at the maximum prices established for Group III cheese in Table B of this section.

6. Section 29 (c) (9) (iv) is amended to read as follows:

(iv) Asiago Soft and Group IV cheese. The food product commonly known as Asiago (soft) cheese is prepared from cow's milk by the following process:

Whole milk, which may or may not be pasteurized, is standardized to adjust the fat content, then warmed and subjected to the action of harmless lactic acid forming bacteria which may either be present in the milk or which may be added. Rennet is added in sufficient quantity to coagulate the milk to a semi-solid mass. The resulting mass is cut, stirred and heated so as to promote lactic acid development and to permit separation of the whey from the curd. The mass must be heated during this process to a final cooking temperature of approximately 125 degrees Fahrenheit, following which the curd is drained from the whey. When the curd is sufficiently firm, it is removed from the kettle or vat by means of a cloth, drained for a short time and then packed in hoops for pressing. After pressing, the cheese is salted in brine and moved to a cool, well ventilated room, where it is held on shelves until at least 4 months old. The surface of the cheese during this curing period is occasionally rubbed with vegetable oil. Prior to sale the cheese must have dry, clean surfaces and the identification as to name and address of the manufacturer and as to the date of manufacture (subsequently required by this definition) must be clearly legible. The cheese must also satisfy the characteristic and distinctive pre-war requirements that are recognized in, and accepted by, the Italian cheese industry with respect to historical types, styles, and sizes and must have the firm texture customarily associated with this type of Italian cheese. As finally constituted, the cheese must contain not more than 39% moisture and its solids must contain not less than 48% milk fat.

Finally, any time before initial sale, the name and address of the manufacturer, in full or in abbreviated form, and the week and month of manufacture, must be stamped with edible ink on the rind of the cheese in type face of at least 3/16th of an inch high. That portion of the cheese containing these identifying marks shall be the last piece sold to the ultimate consumer or processed.

Any cheese which is manufactured by the above process, but which fails in any respect to satisfy any of the requirements set forth shall be eligible for sale only at the maximum prices established for Group IV cheese in Table B of this section.

7. Section 29 (c) (9) (v) is amended to read as follows:

(v) Romano and Group V cheese. The food product commonly known as Romano cheese is prepared from cow's milk by the following process:

Whole or part skim milk is standardized to adjust the fat content, then warmed and subjected to the action of harmless lactic acid forming bacteria which may either be present in the milk or which may be added. Rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to coagulate the milk to a semisolid mass. The resulting mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd during the stirring and heating process is continued until the particles are no larger than the size of corn kernels. The final cooking temperature must approximate 125 degrees Fahrenheit. The curd, when properly cut and firmed, is allowed to precipitate at the bottom of the kettle or vat and is thereafter removed from the kettle, drained for short time, and then packed in cloth lined hoops or in forms for pressing. It is then salted by immersing in brine for about 24 hours. Thereafter the cheese is removed to a dry room where it is held for 2 or 3 days until the surface moisture of the cheese has completely evaporated. After complete evaporation of all surface moisture, the cheese is regularly rubbed with salt, washed and resalted at intervals of from 3 to 6 days and at this time the cheese may be regularly needle perforated at about the same intervals. The loaves are then washed, dried and held on shelves until not less than 10 months of age. Again, during this curing period the cheese is regularly turned, scraped and may be rubbed with oil. Prior to shipping, the cheese may be colored so as to coat on the cheese its normal color. The cheese must satisfy the characteristic and distinctive pre-war requirements that are recognized in, and accepted by, the domestic Italian cheese industry with respect to historical types, styles and sizes of cheese, and must have a definitely granular texture, piquant characteristic flavor and hard resistant and brittle rind customarily associated with that type of Italian cheese. Furthermore, the cheese as finally constituted must grate readily, and when grated must dissolve freely in hot liquid. As finally constituted, the cheese must contain not more than 32% of moisture, and its solids must contain not less than 40% of milk fat.

Finally, at any time prior to initial sale and delivery of the cheese, the name and address of the manufacturer, in full or abbreviated form, and the month and year of manufacture shall be prominently imprinted in type face of at least ¾ths of an inch high on the side of the cheese. That portion of the cheese containing these identifying marks shall be the last piece sold to the ultimate consumer or processed.

Any cheese which is manufactured by the above process, but which fails in any respect to satisfy any of the requirements set forth, shall be eligible for sale only at the maximum prices established for Group V cheese in Table B of this section.

8. Section 29 (c) (9) (vi) is amended to read as follows:

(vi) Asiago medium and Group VI cheese. The food product commonly known as Asiago (medium) cheese is prepared from cow's milk by the following process:

Whole or part skim milk is standardized to adjust the fat content, then warmed and subjected to the action of harmless lactic acid forming bacteria which may either be present in the milk or which may be added. Rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to coagulate the milk to a semisolid mass. The resulting mass is cut and heated while being stirred. The cutting of the curd during the stirring and heating process is continued until the particles are no larger than the size of wheat kernels. The final cooking temperature should approximate 125 degrees Fahrenheit. After being properly cut and firmed the curd is allowed to precipitate at the bottom of the kettle or vat and is thereafter removed from the kettle or vat by means of a cloth, drained for a short time, and then packed in customary sized hoops for pressing. About 3 days after pressing, the cheese is brine salted for a period of at least one day for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf, or dry salted for a period of at least three days for each two pounds of cheese in the loaf. After salting, the cheese is removed to a cool well ventilated room where it is held on shelves by the manufacturer until at least 8 months old, during which period the cheese is frequently turned, buffed and rubbed with oil. At some time during the curing operation the cheese may be removed from the shelves and the rind coated or artificially colored. At the end of the 8 month period the cheese must have a smooth compact body, sharp nutty characteristic flavor, and a firm rind. Furthermore, the cheese must be manufactured in customary and recognized pre-war types, styles and sizes normally and historically used in producing Asiago medium type cheeses. As finally constituted, the cheese must contain not more than 35% moisture and its solids must contain not less than 45% of milk fat.

Finally, at any time prior to initial sale and delivery of the cheese, the name and address of the manufacturer, in full or abbreviated form, and the month and year of manufacture shall be prominently imprinted in type face of at least 3/4ths of an inch high around the side of the cheese. That portion of the cheese containing these identifying marks shall be the last piece sold to the ultimate consumer or processed.

Any cheese which is manufactured by the above process, but which fails in any respect to satisfy any of the requirements set forth, shall be eligible for sale only at the maximum prices established for Group VI cheese in Table B of this section.

9. Section 29 (c) (9) (vii) is deleted.

10. The last paragraph of section 33 (c) (2) is amended by inserting the words "or restaurants" after the word "stores" and before the word "operated."

This amendment shall become effective October 22, 1945, except that the identification requirements in section 29 (c) (9) (i) (ii) (iii) (iv) (v) and (vi) shall not become effective until December 31, 1945.

Chapter XXIII—Surplus Property Administration

PART 8305—SURPLUS NONINDUSTRIAL REAL PROPERTY

AUTHORITY TO FEDERAL WORKS AGENCY TO NEGOTIATE A LEASE FOR FIVE YEARS WITH OPTION TO PURCHASE WITH STATE OF TEXAS FOR INSTITUTIONAL PROPERTY

The Federal Works Agency has for disposal the following three (3) properties classified as institutional:

Fort Ringgold, Rio Grande City, Texas,
POW Camp at Brady, Texas,

together with all improvements and equipment pertaining thereto, upon which the State of Texas has submitted an offer for a five (5) year lease. The properties are desired for the hospitalization of infectious and indigent cases of tuberculosis; for the custodial care of juvenile delinquent negro girls; and for the establishment of a noncustodial training school for handicapped children; and a vocational institution for adjusted mental patients.

The State Board of Control of Texas represents that it has funds available for the care, maintenance, conversion and improvement of these properties and represents that it has urgent need therefor.

The said State Board of Control also represents that it has no funds immediately available with which to purchase the properties, and desires the lease in order to provide immediate facilities for the purposes indicated above, with an option to purchase the properties in order to protect its investment therein.

Although numerous Government agencies have been contacted and efforts made to interest prospective purchasers, the offer submitted by the State of Texas is the only offer received for these properties; and the cost of presently caring for and handling them is exceedingly burdensome to the Government. The cost of care and handling of the Fort Ringgold property is estimated to be $5,000 per month, and the cost of the care and handling of the other properties is substantial. It is therefore ordered, That:

Notwithstanding the provisions of §§ 8305.11 (d) and 8305.12 (c), (d), (e) and (g), the Federal Works Agency, after having given ten (10) days written notice of availability to all Government agencies listed in Schedule B of Regulation 5, who have not previously in writing declined to make an offer for the properties above described, and after having given public notice of availability in a newspaper published or having general circulation in each county in which said properties are located for a period of ten (10) days, is hereby authorized, in the absence of an acceptable proposal from a holder of a higher priority or a proposal from any local government having a priority equal to that of the State of Texas but not showing a greater need, to negotiate the terms of a proposed lease for a period of five (5) years with the representatives of the State of Texas for the purposes indicated hereinabove, with an option to acquire title to the properties. The terms and conditions upon which the Federal Works Agency proposes to execute such lease and such option, together with all supporting evidence, certificates and other pertinent papers in compliance with the provisions of § 8305.12 (h) (5), shall be filed with the Administrator for consideration and direction.

This order shall become effective October 12, 1945.

W. STUART SYMINGTON,
Administrator.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

NOTE: Sections 8309.1 to 8309.6, inclusive, formerly §§ 8309.2 to 8309.7, inclusive, redesignated Oct. 12, 1945. Former § 8309.1 deleted Oct. 12, 1945.

§ 8309.1 Definitions. (a) "Act" means the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1611).

(b) "Best price obtainable" means the highest price offered which is adequate in the light of a reasonable knowledge or test of the market, having due regard for current prices for any raw materials or products for which quotations are published and to the circumstances, nature, condition, quantity, and location of the particular property.

(c) "Administrator" means the Surplus Property Administrator.

(d) "Care and handling" includes completing, repairing, converting, rehabilitating, operating, maintaining, preserving, protecting, insuring, storing, packing, handling, and transporting, and in the case of property which is dangerous to public health or safety, destroying, or rendering innocuous, such property.

(e) "Contract" includes subcontracts, and "contractor" includes subcontractors.

(f) "Contractor inventory" means (1) any property related to a terminated contract of any type with a Government agency or to a subcontract thereunder; (2) any property acquired under a contract pursuant to the terms of which title is vested in the Government, and in excess of the amounts needed to complete performance thereunder; and (3) any property which the Government is obligated to take over under any type of contract as a result of any change in the specifications or plans thereunder.

(g) "Disposal agency" means any Government agency designated pursuant to the act to dispose of one or more classes of surplus property.

(h) "Government agency" means any executive department, board, bureau, commission, or other agency in the executive branch of the Federal Government, or any corporation wholly owned (either directly or through one or more corporations) by the United States.

(n) "Scrap" means property that has no reasonable prospect of sale except for its basic material content.

(o) "Scrap warranty" means a written warranty by a buyer that property purchased or retained as scrap will in fact be sold or used by the buyer only as scrap. When a scrap warranty is required by this part it shall provide as follows:

(f) Disposals or retentions of property in no-cost settlements of terminated contracts.

CONTRACTOR INVENTORY

§ 8309.4 Owning agencies empowered to authorize retentions or disposals. In order to further the objectives of the act by assuring the most effective use of Government-owned property for war purposes, aiding in facilitating the transition from wartime to peacetime production and employment, encouraging and fostering postwar employment opportunities, promoting production and disposing of surplus property as promptly as feasible without fostering monopoly or restraint of trade or unduly disturbing the economy or encouraging hoarding, the Administrator hereby empowers each owning agency to authorize any contractor with such agency or subcontractor thereunder that is in possession of any contractor inventory to retain or dispose of such contractor inventory as provided in this part.

§ 8309.5 Preterminination arrangements. (a) To the maximum extent practicable, decisions for the retention or disposal by contractors of all types of contractor inventories shall be made in advance of termination by means of preterminination agreements or otherwise. Provisions may be included in preterminination agreements for the determination of what property shall be considered to be scrap and for the retention or disposal of all types of property by the contractor. Preterminination agreements may also provide for the care and handling and removal of contractor inventories and for the classes of property that the owning agency will take over. In order to protect the interests of the Government, owning agencies shall institute appropriate reviewing procedures relating to scrap determination and disposal provisions of preterminination agreements.

(b) Price provisions in preterminination agreements shall comply with the following rules:

(1) Any property, except scrap, which is to be retained by the contractor for his own use may be retained at prices that are fair and reasonable and not less than the proceeds that could reasonably be expected to be obtained if the property were offered for sale. The agreement shall contain in connection with each such retention a written representation from the contractor that he intends to use or consume the property for manufacturing, construction, maintenance or repair purposes and that he is not retaining it for the purpose of reselling it at a profit.

(2) Any property, except scrap, which is to be retained by the contractor not for his own use may be retained at either (i) prices that are fair and reasonable and not less than the proceeds that could reasonably be expected to be obtained if the property were offered for sale, but in no event less than 50% of cost (estimated if not known) or (ii) market prices.

(3) Any property to be retained by the contractor as scrap may be retained at market prices, with or without a scrap warranty.

(4) All prices referred to in this paragraph (b) may be determined either as of the time of the agreement or the time of termination.

(c) The provisions of this section shall apply to preterminination agreements entered into on or after July 1, 1945.

§ 8309.6 Retentions and sales at cost. Retentions or sales by a contractor of any item of contractor inventory at cost shall be deemed to comply with the provisions of §§ 8309.8 to 8309.12, inclusive.

§ 8309.7 Retentions by contractor of $100 items or groups. The retention for use or resale of any item or group of identical items the cost of which (estimated, if not known) does not exceed $100 may be authorized at 25% of cost in any case in which the contractor retains all such items or groups of identical items of contractor inventory under any one contract. Owning agencies shall establish spot checking and other reasonable procedures to guard against abuses under any such authority.

§ 8309.8 Retentions by contractors for own use. Contractors should be encouraged to retain as large amounts as possible of all types of contractor inventories for use for their manufacturing, construction, maintenance or repair purposes. It is the policy of the Administrator that subcontractors shall be permitted to retain, as against their upper tier contractors, such contractor inventories as they desire, for the purposes and at the prices specified in this section, and exceptions from this policy shall be permitted only in cases where contract rights of upper tier contractors make it necessary; owning agencies shall take appropriate steps to bring this policy to the attention of subcontractors. There shall be obtained in connection with each retention under this section a written representation from the contractor that he intends to use or consume the property for manufacturing construction, maintenance or repair purposes, and that he is not retaining it for the purpose of reselling it at a profit, except that no such representation is required with respect to retentions of property which is retained under § 8309.7 or consists of a small lot as described in § 8309.9 or is a part of a small inventory, as described in § 8309.10. Such retentions shall be at prices that are fair and reasonable and not less than the proceeds that could reasonably be expected to be obtained if the property were offered for sale at such time. In order to protect the interests of the Government, appropriate reviewing procedures shall be instituted by owning agencies. Retentions of property by a contractor not for his own use but for later resale shall be treated as sales and shall be governed by the requirements of the appropriate provisions of §§ 8309.9 to 8309.12, inclusive.

§ 8309.9 Small lots. (a) The sale (including retention for resale) of any item or group of items in contractor inventory at any location which an owning agency determines to be substantially similar may be authorized at the best price obtainable when the cost (estimated, if not known) of all such items available for sale at any one time at such location and resulting from any one termination does not exceed $300, Provided, however, That any group of items consisting of all the identical items of contractor inventory under any one contract the cost of which group (estimated, if not known) does not exceed $100 may be considered to be a small lot.

(b) Any owning agency is authorized to sell at the best price obtainable any small lot of contractor inventory not retained or sold by the contractor.

(b) The sale (including retention for resale) of any quantity of any item of contractor inventory may be authorized at a price that is fair and reasonable whenever the net termination claim of a contractor (after disposal credits but including amounts payable for completed articles not delivered under the contract and for claims of subcontractors) is less than $1,000, but items furnished by the Government for incorporation in end items may not be sold under the authority of this paragraph, unless the cost of such items to be sold and the amount of the net termination claim (computed as set forth above in this paragraph) total less than $1,000.

§ 8309.11 Sales by contractors; unserviceable property. (a) Unless property affirmatively appears to be serviceable, it shall be considered to be unserviceable property and shall be sold on the open competitive market in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(c) Disposals of unserviceable property in all cases, except those falling within §§ 8309.5 to 8309.10, inclusive, and except sales of scrap under specific allocation orders issued by the War Production Board, shall be in accordance with the following policies:

(1) Sales (including retentions for resale) shall be made on the basis of adequate competitive bidding under rules and regulations prescribed by the owning agencies. Such rules and regulations shall contain provisions, among others, requiring lots to be offered in such reasonable quantities as to permit all bidders, small as well as large, to compete on equal terms, requiring wide public notice concerning such sales and time intervals between notice and sale adequate to give all interested purchasers a fair opportunity to buy, and reserving the right to reject all bids. A scrap warranty may be required by the owning agency whenever it deems such course desirable if the purchase price does not exceed the applicable OPA ceiling price for scrap of the classification into which the property falls.

(2) Upon a determination by the responsible officer, approved by a reviewing authority, that any given property is scrap, such property may be disposed of as such. Whenever the appropriate disposal agency certifies in writing to the owning agency that any given property or any class of property is in its judgment scrap, such property may without further review be disposed of as such. Such certification shall be made by forwarding to the owning agency a memorandum listing and plainly identifying the items in question and containing the following statement:

> It is hereby certified that the within described property has been determined to be scrap and it is requested that sale be effected in accordance with the provisions of SPA Regulation No. 9 without further review of such determination.

(3) In exceptional cases or classes of cases, upon a scrap determination or certification pursuant to subparagraph 2 in each instance and upon a determination by the responsible officer, approved by a reviewing authority, that it would be in the best interests of the Government to dispose of such scrap by negotiated sale, such property may be so disposed of at the best price obtainable. In all such sales a scrap warranty shall be required of the buyer.

§ 8309.12 Sales by contractors; serviceable property. Disposals of serviceable property in contractor inventory in all cases, except those falling within §§ 8309.5 to 8309.10, inclusive, and § 8309.13, shall be in accordance with the following policies:

(a) Sales (including retentions for resale) shall be made under rules and regulations prescribed by the owning agencies, which shall contain a provision, among others, that in all cases where the amount of serviceable property that will be available for sale at any one time at any one location is estimated to be $10,000 or more (based on cost), notice shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the locality, indicating in general terms the types of serviceable property that are expected to be available for sale and naming a date (not less than seven days from the date of first publication) on or after which such property will be available for sale. Sales shall so far as feasible be made in reasonably sized lots.

(b) Sales (including retentions for resale) shall be at the best price obtainable but not less than 50 percent of cost (estimated if not known).

(c) Property which cannot be disposed of within a reasonable period of time on the terms stated in paragraph (b) may be sold at the best price obtainable to any buyer who will consume or use the property in the United States for manufacturing, construction, maintenance or repair purposes. In connection with such sale there shall be obtained from the buyer a written representation that he intends so to use or consume the property and that he is not purchasing it for the purpose of reselling it at a profit.

§ 8309.13 Used plant equipment in contractor inventory; pricing policy. The retention or sales price for machine tools, machines, and other classifications of plant equipment for which fixed price schedules are prescribed in or pursuant to Part 8306 [2] of this chapter shall be determined by such fixed price schedules, except in cases falling within §§ 8309.9 and 8309.10.

§ 8309.14 Destruction or abandonment of worthless property. An owning agency may authorize any contractor to destroy or abandon any contractor inventory in his possession when, in the opinion of the owning agency, such property is worthless. Whenever the cost of property to be destroyed or abandoned as worthless is more than $1,000, before giving such approval a representative of the owning agency must certify that reasonable efforts have been made to dispose of the property without success by offering such property to at least three persons who deal in that type of scrap or property, or that such offers would be useless, and that in his opinion the property is worthless or that the cost of sale would exceed the proceeds thereof and that the item should be destroyed or abandoned.

DISPOSALS BY OWNING AGENCIES

§ 8309.16 Sale of small lots. (a) The Administrator believes that the cost of care, handling and disposition of small lots of property will generally exceed the proceeds of sale, and that small lots should therefore, in accordance with sections 13 (b) and 14 (b) of the act, be disposed of by owning agencies rather than declared to disposal agencies as surplus. It is recognized that the definition of what constitutes a small lot and the cost of care, handling, and disposition will vary according to the nature of the property. Therefore, the Administrator may from time to time issue orders hereunder setting forth standards to be applied and procedures to be followed in connection with small lots of various classes of property.

(b) Except as specified in any order issued under paragraph (a) of this section, any owning agency is authorized to sell at the best price obtainable any item or group of items of property in its possession which the owning agency determines to be substantially similar when the cost (estimated if not known) of all such items available at any one location at any one time does not exceed $300. Small lots should be disposed of by owning agencies under this section to the fullest extent possible. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if, in the opinion of a disposal agency, such disposition of small lots of any given type of property interferes with the orderly marketing of such type of property by it, such agency may direct the owning agencies to cease sales of such property and to report such property as surplus pursuant to the act.

§ 8309.17 Sale of waste, salvage, scrap, and products of research and other operations. (a) To the extent provided in section 14 (b) of the act, any owning agency may sell:

(1) Any waste, salvage, or scrap. The terms "salvage" and "scrap" are defined in § 8309.1.

(2) Any product of research, agricultural, or livestock operations carried on by such agency.

(b) The Administrator hereby restricts the authority of owning agencies to dispose of any other class of surplus property specified in section 14 (b) of the act.

(c) Except as otherwise required by paragraph (d) of this section, all sales made pursuant to this section shall be made at the best price obtainable.

(d) All sales of scrap and salvage made pursuant to this section, except sales of scrap under specific allocation orders issued by the War Production Board, shall be in accordance with the following policies:

(1) Procedures shall be provided for reference to a reviewing authority before classifying as scrap or salvage property (except production scrap) located at any one place at any one time when the cost (estimated if not known) of such property is $25,000 or more. In any event, when the appropriate disposal agency certifies in writing to the owning agency that any given property or any class of property is in its judgment scrap, the owning agency should forthwith and without further review dispose of such property in accordance with the provisions of this part. Such certification may be given at any time before the property has been physically transferred to the disposal agency, and should whenever possible be given before the property is declared surplus.

If the certification is prior to the time that the property is declared surplus, it shall be made by forwarding to the owning agency a memorandum listing and plainly identifying the items in question and containing the following statement:

It is hereby certified that the within described property has been determined to be scrap and it is requested that sale be effected in accordance with the provisions of SPA Regulation No. 9 without further review of such determination.

If the certification is subsequent to the time that the property is declared surplus, it shall be made by forwarding to the owning agency Form SPB-1.1 listing the items in question and otherwise appropriately executed, with the language quoted above plainly inserted below the column headings across the top of the columns provided for the description of the property, its standard commodity classification, condition, etc.

(2) Sales shall be made on the basis of adequate competitive bidding under rules and regulations prescribed by the owning agencies. Such rules and regulations shall contain provisions, among others, requiring lots to be offered in such reasonable quantities as to permit all bidders, small as well as large, to compete on equal terms, requiring wide public notice concerning such sales and time intervals between notice and sale adequate to give all interested purchasers a fair opportunity to buy, and reserving the right to reject all bids. In sales of scrap, a scrap warranty may be required by the owning agency whenever it deems such course desirable.

(3) In exceptional cases or classes of cases, upon a determination by the responsible officer in each instance, approved by a reviewing authority, that any given property is scrap or salvage and that it would be in the best interests of the Government to dispose of it by negotiated sale, such property may be disposed of at the best price obtainable. In all such cases where the property is determined to be scrap a scrap warranty shall be required of the buyer.

§ 8309.18 Emergency disposals. Where emergency circumstances, such as danger of deterioration or considerations of health, safety, or security, make immediate sales by owning agencies desirable without declaration as surplus, the owning agency may proceed to sell the property at prices that are fair and reasonable under the circumstances, after obtaining advance clearance of the appropriate disposal agency if practicable. Reports of such disposals shall be submitted to the Administrator in accordance with orders issued hereunder.

§ 8309.19 Destruction or abandonment. Any owning agency may destroy or abandon property upon a finding by a responsible officer, approved by a reviewing authority, that such destruction or abandonment is required by considerations of health, safety, or security. Reports of any such destruction or abandonment shall be submitted to the Administrator in accordance with orders issued hereunder.

§ 8309.20 Records and reports. Owning agencies shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with the provisions of this part and with the applicable provisions of the act. Reports shall be prepared and filed with the Administrator in such manner as may be specified by order issued under this part, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 8309.21 Regulations by owning agencies to be reported to the Administrator. Each owning agency shall file with the Administrator copies of all regulations, orders, and instructions of general applicability which it may issue in furtherance of the provisions, or any of them, of this part.

This revision of this part shall become effective October 12, 1945.

W. STUART SYMINGTON,
Administrator.

PART 8309—CONTRACTOR INVENTORY AND DISPOSALS BY OWNING AGENCIES

STANDARDS TO BE APPLIED AND PROCEDURES TO BE FOLLOWED BY OWNING AGENCIES WHEN SELLING SMALL LOTS OF PROPERTY PECULIAR TO AIRCRAFT

Surplus Property Board Regulation 9, Order 1, August 10, 1945 entitled "Limitation on Authority of Owning Agencies to Sell Small Lots of Property Peculiar to Aircraft" (10 F.R. 10091) is hereby revised and amended as herein set forth. The title of the order is amended to read as follows: "Standards to be Applied and Procedures to be Followed by Owning Agencies when Selling Small Lots of Property Peculiar to Aircraft".

Section 8309.16 (b) provides for disposals of small lots of property (as defined therein) by owning agencies. It is recognized in § 8309.16 (a) that what constitutes a small lot for such purposes will vary according to the nature of the property and it is provided that the Administrator may from time to time issue orders thereunder setting forth standards to be applied and procedures to be followed in connection with small lots of various classes of property. The Administrator has determined that such an order is required in the case of property peculiar to aircraft. Further, the Administrator has determined that not only will the cost of declaring and shipping such small lots to disposal agencies and the cost of disposal thereof by such agencies generally exceed the proceeds of sale but also that the declaring of such lots to disposal agencies seriously impairs the effective functioning of such agencies in disposing of economic quantities of surplus property. Accordingly, It is hereby ordered, That:

1. Owning agencies should sell at the best price obtainable property peculiar to aircraft surplus to its needs and responsibilities of which the cost (estimated if not known) of any item or group of identical items available at any one location at any one time does not exceed $100.00. Such small lots should not be declared to disposal agencies.

2. Whenever in the opinion of a disposal agency the disposition of such lots of any given type of property peculiar to aircraft interferes with the orderly marketing of such type of property by it, the disposal agency may direct the owning agencies to cease sales of such property and to declare all such property to it as surplus.

This order shall become effective October 12, 1945.

W. STUART SYMINGTON,
Administrator.

§ 193.8 Emergency equipment must be in place. • • •

(a) On every bus, truck or tractor. • • •

(7) Three flares (pot torches), properly filled; or three red electric lanterns, equipped with batteries in proper condition, and available for immediate use; or three red emergency reflectors available for immediate use.

(8) At least three fusees (unless red electric lanterns or red emergency reflectors are used as warning signals), so mounted as to be protected from oil and moisture, and available for immediate use.

§ 193.23 Emergency signals for disabled vehicles. • • •

(c) Optional use of red electric lanterns or red emergency reflectors. For every motor vehicle not required to carry red electric lanterns or red emergency reflectors, but electing to carry them in lieu of flares (pot torches) and fusees, the placement of such lighted red electric lanterns or red emergency reflectors in the event of disablement shall be as set forth in paragraph (b).

(d) Placing of flags. During such time as lights are not required, red flags shall be placed in the manner prescribed for flares, red electric lanterns and red emergency reflectors, except that no flag shall be required to be placed at the side of the vehicle: Provided, however, That if such disablement continues into the period when lights are required, lighted flares or lighted red electric lanterns or red emergency reflectors shall then be placed as prescribed in paragraph (a).

§ 193.24 Emergency signals for stopped vehicles. • • •

(a) Placing of fusee or red electric lantern or red emergency reflector. During the time that lights are required (see § 193.25) a lighted fusee or lighted red electric lantern or red emergency reflector immediately shall be placed on the roadway at the traffic side of the motor vehicle.

(a) Lighting devices and reflectors on all vehicles. • • •

(14) Visibility of reflectors. Every reflector mounted on a motor vehicle shall be of such size and characteristics as to be readily visible at night from all distances within 500 feet to 50 feet from the motor vehicle when directly in front of a normal headlight beam.

• • • • •

(d) Miscellaneous parts and accessories on all vehicles. • • •

(9) Emergency parts and accessories required. (i) On every bus, truck, or tractor there shall be:

• • • • • •

(g) Three flares or three red electric lanterns or three red emergency reflectors; each flare (liquid-burning pot torch) or red electric lantern shall be capable when lighted of being seen and distinguished at a distance of 500 feet under normal atmospheric conditions at night time. Each flare (pot torch) shall be capable of burning for not less than 12 hours in 5-miles-per-hour wind velocity, capable of burning in any air velocities from zero to 40 miles per hour, substantially constructed so as to withstand reasonable shocks without leaking, and shall be carried in a metal rack or box. Each red electric lantern shall be capable of operating continuously for not less than 12 hours and shall be substantially constructed so as to withstand reasonable shocks without breakage. Each red emergency reflector shall conform in all respects to the requirements of the following specifications (§ 193.8 (a), 1943 Supp.):

Each red emergency reflector shall be comprised of a multiplicity of red reflecting elements on each side—not less than two—front and back, every one of which red reflecting elements shall conform as a minimum requirement to the specification for Class A Reflex Reflectors contained in the SAE Handbook, 1944 edition (published by the Society of Automotive Engineers, 29 West 39th Street, New York 18, N. Y.). The aggregate candlepower output of the reflecting elements of the device when tested in the perpendicular position at one-third degree as specified by SAE photometric procedure shall be not less than twelve. If the reflecting surfaces of reflector elements would be adversely affected by dust, soot, or other foreign matter, they shall be adequately sealed within the body of the units in which they are incorporated. Each reflector device shall be of such weight and/or dimensions as to remain stable and stationary when in a 40 m. p. h. wind on any road surface on which it is likely to be used and shall be so constructed as to withstand reasonable shock without breakage. Each reflector device shall be so constructed that the reflecting elements shall be in a plane perpendicular to the plane of the roadway when placed thereon. Reasonable protection shall be afforded each reflector device, and the reflecting elements incorporated therein, by enclosure in a box or rack from which the three devices readily may be extracted for use. In the event the reflector devices are collapsible, locking means shall be provided to maintain the reflecting elements in effective position, and such locking means shall be readily capable of adjustment without the use of tools or special equipment. Each unit of a set of three red emergency reflectors shall be marked plainly with the certification of the manufacturer that it fulfills the requirements of these specifications. Each red emergency reflector when used shall be so placed on the highway as to reflect to oncoming vehicles the maximum amount of reflected light.

(h) At least three fusees (if carrier elects to carry and use flares (pot torches) as warning signals). Each fusee shall be made in accordance with specifications of the Bureau of Explosives, 30 Vesey Street, New York, N. Y., and so marked, and shall be capable of burning at least 15 minutes.

§ 194.5 Drive-away operations; equipment required. • • •

(c) Miscellaneous parts and accessories, drive-away operations—(1) Items to be carried. Every single motor vehicle and the towing vehicle of every combination of motor vehicles operating in drive-away operations shall be equipped with a windshield wiper, rear-vision mirror, horn, at least one red lantern and one red cloth flag when projecting loads are carried, at least one spare electric bulb for each kind of electric lamp with which it is equipped, one spare electric fuse of each kind and size used for any of the electric lighting circuits on the motor vehicle, three flares (liquid-burning pot torches) or three electric lanterns, or three red emergency reflectors, at least three fusees (if flares are carried), at least two red cloth flags; and the specifications of these items of equipment shall be as set forth in § 194.3 (d) (9).

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective November 15, 1945, and shall continue in effect until further order of the Commission; and

It is further ordered, That notice of this order shall be given to motor carriers and the general public by depositing a copy of it in the office of the Secretary of the Commission, at Washington, D. C., and by filing with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

PEORIA UNION STOCK YARDS CO.

PETITION FOR MODIFICATION

By an order entered on June 30, 1924, made pursuant to the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. 181 et seq.), the Secretary of Agriculture prescribed maximum reasonable rates and charges to be observed by the respondent. This order was subsequently modified by a decree of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Illinois, Northern Division, dated November 8, 1926, and by orders of the Secretary of Agriculture, dated July 1, 1927, June 2, 1938, March 14, 1945, and July 31, 1945. In the order of March 14, 1945 (4 A. D. 165), the Assistant to the War Food Administrator modified the Secretary's order of June 30, 1924, and permitted the filing of a schedule of rates which would result in increased charges for services performed by the respondent at its stockyard in Peoria.

By a document filed on September 20, 1945, the respondent requests a further modification of the Secretary's orders and the order of the War Food Administrator, dated March 14, 1945, to permit it to file a supplement to its tariff increasing certain rates and charges and decreasing certain rates and charges as follows:

Cattle	15	5	18
Calves	10	3	10
Sheep	5	2	5

(d) Effect of proposed modifications. The effect of such proposed modifications, if granted, would be to increase the revenue to the respondent and, accordingly, it appears that public notice should be given to all interested persons of the request of the respondent so as to afford all interested persons, including patrons of the respondent, an opportunity to manifest their desire to be heard on the matter.

Therefore, notice is hereby given to the public and to all interested persons of the request of the respondent for a further modification of the order of the Secretary, dated June 30, 1924, as now modified by subsequent orders and by the order of the Assistant to the War Food Administrator, dated March 14, 1945. This notice is being given for the purpose of affording said respondent and all other interested persons, including patrons of the respondent, an opportunity to be heard upon the matters covered in the petition for modification.

All persons who desire to be heard shall notify the hearing clerk, Office of the Solicitor, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within fifteen days from the date of the publication of this order.

Copies hereof shall be served on the respondent by registered mail or in person.

RED BANK OIL CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING TRADING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 16th day of October, A. D. 1945.

The Common Stock, $1 Par Value, of Red Bank Oil Company being listed and registered on the New York Curb Exchange, a national securities exchange; and

The Commission being of the opinion that the public interest requires the summary suspension of trading in such security on such Exchange and that such action is necessary and appropriate for the protection of investors; and

INTERSTATE POWER CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 16th day of October A. D. 1945.

In the matters of Interstate Power Company, File No. 70-1164; Peoples Natural Gas Company, Northern Natural Gas Company; File No. 70-1170.

Notice is hereby given that Interstate Power Company ("Interstate"), a registered holding company has filed a declaration pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rule U-44 thereunder (File No. 70-1164), and that Peoples Natural Gas Company ("Peoples"), and its parent, Northern Natural Gas Company ("Northern Natural"), a registered holding company, have filed a joint application pursuant to sections 9 (a) (1) and 10 of the act (File No. 70-1170), proposing certain transactions.

All interested persons are referred to said documents, on file in the office of this Commission, for a full statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Interstate proposes to sell, and Peoples proposes to purchase, all of the gas properties and property rights owned by Interstate in and adjacent to the City of Waseca, Minnesota, consisting of a natural gas pipe line and distribution system, together with certain other assets appurtenant thereto, for a base price of $162,500 in cash, subject to certain adjustments. Substantially all of the properties and assets proposed to be sold are subject to the lien of Interstate's First Mortgage Gold Bonds, 5% Series, due 1957. The declaration of Interstate states that by utilization of credits now existing in favor of Interstate under the provisions of the indenture securing said bonds, a release of said properties and assets will be obtained without the necessity of depositing the proceeds of the sale with the corporate trustee. The net proceeds of the sale remaining, after payment of expenses, will be added to Interstate's working capital.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters and that the declaration of Interstate and the application of Peoples and Northern Natural shall not be permitted to become effective or granted except pursuant to further order of this Commission; and

It further appearing to the Commission that the foregoing matters under File Nos. 70-1164 and 70-1170 are related and involve common questions of law and fact; and that the proceedings on these matters should be consolidated;

It is ordered, That the proceedings in respect of the foregoing matters be consolidated, and that a hearing in said consolidated proceedings under the applicable provisions of the act and the general rules and regulations promulgated thereunder be held on October 26, 1945 at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That Robert P. Reeder or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearings on such matters. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

Notice is hereby given of said hearing to Interstate, Peoples, and Northern Natural, and to all interested persons, said notice to be given to Interstate, Peoples, and Northern Natural by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of this Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the persons on the mailing list for releases under the Act.

It is requested that any person desiring to be heard in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of this Commission on or before October 25, 1945, an appropriate request or application to be heard, as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said declaration and application otherwise to be considered in these proceedings, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the consideration to be received by Interstate and to be paid by Peoples is fair and reasonable;

2. Whether competitive conditions were maintained in respect of the proposed sale;

3. Whether the proposed acquisition will serve the public interest by tending toward the economical and efficient development of an integrated public utility system;

4. Whether it is necessary or appropriate to impose terms or conditions in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers;

5. Whether generally the proposed transactions meet the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

By the Commission.

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

DIRECTION TO ALL PERSONS SHIPPING BITUMINOUS COAL PRODUCED IN DISTRICTS 1–4, AND 6–8, INCLUSIVE, AND TO CERTAIN DOCK OPERATORS

It is necessary, pursuant to SFAW Regulation No. 1, as amended, to issue the following direction:

1. The general emergency directions listed below are hereby revoked:

Notice of Direction to Persons Shipping Coal Produced in District No. 7, prohibiting export movement, issued October 3, 1945 (10 F.R. 12550).

Notice of Direction to Coal Producers in District No. 7, prohibiting shipments except to certain classes of persons referred to in Statement Concerning Direction Sent to Certain Producers in District No. 7, issued October 3, 1945 (10 F.R. 12550).

Notice of Direction to Persons Shipping Coal Produced in District No. 1, prohibiting export movement, issued October 4, 1945 (10 F.R. 12627).

Notice of Direction to Commercial Dock Operators on the Great Lakes, Tidewater and River, prohibiting shipments except to certain classes of persons referred to in Statement Concerning Direction Sent to Commercial Dock Operators on the Great Lakes, Tidewater and River, issued October 5, 1945 (10 F.R. 12627).

2. Effective immediately, and until further notice, all persons shipping bituminous coal produced in Districts 1–4, inclusive and 6–8, inclusive, and all commercial dock operators except commercial dock operators located on the Great Lakes, are prohibited from shipping during any calendar month, any bituminous coal to any industrial consumer whose days' supply of coal, as of the last day of the preceding month, was 45 days or more, as shown by information in the order, or confirmation of the order, furnished pursuant to § 602.712 of SFAW Regulation No. 27, for recording by the producer on Form SFA No. 79. In the absence of such data, the shipper may use other reliable evidence of an industrial consumer's days' supply.

4. The provisions of this Notice of Direction do not relieve shippers of coal from complying with the provisions of the Notice of Direction to Shippers of Coal Produced in Districts Nos. 2, 7 or 8 Moving Via the Great Lakes, issued September 14, 1945 (10 F.R. 11884) and Notice of Direction to Shippers of Coal Produced in Districts 1, 3, 4 or 6 Moving Via the Great Lakes, issued October 15, 1945 (10 F.R. 12898). As indicated in the Statement Concerning Necessity of Continuing in Effect SFAW Regulation No. 27, issued October 2, 1945 (10 F.R. 12481), the brevity of the remaining period of lake navigation makes it imperative that obligations of shippers to furnish coal moving via the Great Lakes be met with the utmost dispatch.

5. This Notice of Direction does not affect civil or criminal liabilities resulting from violations of any directions revoked herein.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[SO 108,[1] Amdt. 6]

MANUFACTURERS' MAXIMUM AVERAGE PRICES FOR CERTAIN ITEMS OF APPAREL AND APPAREL ACCESSORIES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this supplementary order, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Supplementary Order 108 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 6 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 6. Surcharges and credits—(a) What is a surcharge. A surcharge is the amount by which your weighted average price in a category for any quarter exceeded your maximum average price for that category, multiplied by the number of units you delivered in the category.

(b) What is a credit. A credit is the amount by which your maximum average price in any category in any calendar quarter exceeded your weighted average price for that category, multiplied by the number of units you delivered in the category.

(c) How to find your net surcharge or your net credit. You must find your net surcharge or your net credit at the end of each quarter as follows:

Step 1. Find the dollar amount of your surcharge in each category in which you incurred a surcharge (according to paragraph (a)).

Step 2. Add together the dollar amounts of all surcharges you have found.

Step 3. Find the dollar amount of your credit in each category in which you earned a credit (according to paragraph (b)).

Step 4. Add together the dollar amounts of all credits you have found and add to this figure the dollar amount of net credit from the previous quarter, if any.

Step 5. Subtract the smaller total from the larger total. If the total surcharge is larger than the total credit you have a net surcharge. If the total credit is larger than the total surcharge you have a net credit.

(d) Effect of net surcharge or net credit—(1) Net surcharge. If you incurred a net surcharge in any quarter you must begin to operate on a makeup basis on the first day of the quarter immediately following the quarter in which you incurred the net surcharge.

(2) Net credit. If you have a net credit at the end of any quarter, you use that net credit at the end of the next quarter in following the instruction in step 4 in paragraph (c) above.

NOTE: The "weighted average price" referred to in this section and in section 5 is your weighted average price for items delivered when you were not operating on a makeup basis as described in section 7.

2. Section 7 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 7. Makeup operation. If you have incurred a net surcharge in any calendar quarter you must start to operate on a makeup basis at the beginning of the next quarter. After the thirtieth day of that quarter and until you have made up your net surcharge, you may not deliver pursuant to an offer or a sale any item in any category (including categories in which you have not incurred a surcharge), at a net price higher than your maximum average price for that category at the time of delivery. In other words, your maximum average price is the highest net ceiling price you may establish during a makeup period after the thirtieth day.

However, during the fourth quarter of 1945 the limitation in this paragraph shall apply after November 30, 1945, instead of after the thirtieth day of the quarter.

Your net surcharge is made up when the weighted average prices of your deliveries in all categories are sufficiently below the maximum average prices for those categories at the time of delivery so that the differences between the two, when multiplied by the number of units delivered in each category during the makeup period, are equal to the amount of your net surcharge. You may make up your net surcharge by delivering items at prices below your maximum average prices in any categories whether or not you incurred a surcharge in those categories.

Once you have made up your net surcharge, you may cease to operate on a makeup basis. Deliveries made during a period of makeup operation may not be included in the computation of your weighted average price for the remainder of any calendar quarter during which you have made up a surcharge. However, all deliveries made during the remainder of any quarter after you have made up a surcharge are included in the computation of your weighted average price for that quarter.

An explanation of the record keeping and reporting requirements during a makeup period is given in section 12 of this order, together with suggested forms for keeping these records and preparing these reports.

3. Section 12 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 12. Records and reports—(a) Records. You must keep the records required by this order available for examination by the OPA for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. The records required by this order, including invoices, must be kept in your main office from which your billings are made.

(1) Original records. You must keep all the original records, including invoices and other data used by you in preparing your maximum average price chart.

(2) Invoices. You must keep a copy of each invoice you give in connection with your deliveries of items covered by this order.

(3) Charts, reports and orders. You must keep copies of your maximum average price chart, all reports you file with the OPA under this order and all individual orders affecting you issued by the OPA under Supplementary Order 108.

(4) Makeup operation record. If you are operating on a makeup basis, you must keep a daily or weekly cumulative record, by category, of the total net dollar amount charged for items delivered, the total number of units delivered and the amount of surcharge made up. This record must be kept separately for each quarter during which you operate on a makeup basis.

To find your cumulative net dollar amount charged, you add each day's or week's net charges in a category to the total of all the preceding net charges in that category since the beginning of the quarter. To find your cumulative number of units delivered, you add the number of units delivered each day or week to the total of all the units previously delivered since the beginning of the quarter. To find the cumulative amount of surcharge made up you multiply the cumulative number of units delivered by your maximum average price and subtract from the result your cumulative net dollar amount charged.

If you delivered items in more than one category, you then add the individual amounts of surcharge made up in each category. If your cumulative net dollar amount charged in any category is more than your cumulative number of units delivered multiplied by your maximum average price, you find the difference between the two and subtract this difference from the cumulative amount of surcharge made up in all other categories. The result is your cumulative amount of net surcharge made up. You must keep a daily or weekly record of the cumulative amount of net surcharge which has been made up each day or week.

At the end of a makeup operation (that is, when the net surcharge has been made up), you draw a line across your delivery record separating your makeup operation from your subsequent operation and note the date on the line. Of course, the end date of your makeup operation will be the same for all categories you deliver because as soon as you have made up your net surcharge you may resume your usual range of deliveries in all categories.

(5) Optional records. (i) It is not required but it is suggested that you keep at all times, to assist you in complying with this order, a daily cumulative record, by category, of the net dollar amount charged for items delivered and the number of units delivered, as described in (4) above. It is also suggested that you keep a record of your cumulative weighted average price.

To find your daily cumulative weighted average price in any category you divide the cumulative net dollar amount charged by the cumulative number of units delivered in that category. In this way, you can see from day to day whether your weighted average price for each category is higher or lower than your maximum average price. If you do not keep this daily cumulative record, it is suggested that two or three weeks before the end of each quarter you determine your weighted average price up to that time so that you may know how to arrange your deliveries during the balance of the quarter to avoid incurring a surcharge at the end of the quarter.

(ii) As an alternative, you may keep a simple record, by category, of your deliveries of items covered by this order. For each day's or week's, or month's deliveries you would show separately for each category: (a) the period covered (day, week or month), (b) the total net dollar amount charged for items delivered in that period, and (c) the total number of units delivered in that period.

(6) Suggested forms for keeping the records described in subparagraphs (4) and (5). These forms may be duplicated but will not be furnished by the OPA.

[2] Total column 3 for the quarter.

This sample form shows, for one category only, a way for you to arrange a daily delivery record in accordance with subparagraph (5) (ii) of this section. The filled-in figures show how the necessary computations would be made for the first quarter of operation under this order (that is, the third calendar quarter of 1945) by a manufacturer who delivered only one category, Category A–10, and who incurred a surcharge in that category. The figures shown under the heading "Summary for the Quarter," need not be shown in your delivery or makeup operation records but serve to illustrate the outcome of this manufacturer's operations.

The record for the third quarter of 1945 shows that this manufacturer exceeded his maximum average price for the period of the year in which the third quarter falls. Therefore, he must figure the dollar amount of surcharge which he incurred in Category A–10 and that amount is his net surcharge for the third quarter. If he had delivered more than one category in that quarter, he would have added the dollar amounts of surcharge in all his categories and then subtracted the dollar amounts of all his credits to find the dollar amount of his net surcharge for the quarter.

From the beginning of the fourth calendar quarter this manufacturer must operate on a makeup basis until he makes up his net surcharge incurred in the third quarter. The sample form below shows how he can arrange his records which he is keeping daily, and make the necessary computations for that part of the fourth quarter of 1945 during which he is on a makeup basis. The form further illustrates how he can keep his records after he has made up his net surcharge if he chooses to use the suggested cumulative delivery record described in subparagraph (5) instead of the simple record of daily deliveries.

The record of this manufacturer for the fourth quarter of 1945 shows how the cumulative dollar amount of surcharge made up (column 4) can be computed directly at any time by using the cumulative figures entered in columns 2 and 3. By October 17 his deliveries were such that the cumulative dollar amount of surcharge made up was equal to the net surcharge and, therefore, that date is shown on a line drawn across his record to indicate the end of his makeup operation. His record shows that he made additional deliveries on that date which he recorded separately in his record for the remainder of the quarter when he was no longer on a makeup basis.

Since the entries in columns 2 and 3 of the form shown above are cumulative, the entries for the last day's deliveries in the quarter are automatically the final figures for the manufacturer's entire operation in Category A–10 for that quarter. For all deliveries he made during the remainder of that quarter, after he ceased operating on a makeup basis, his record shows that his weighted average price was less than his maximum average price, that is, he had earned a credit in Category A–10 which, because he delivered only that category, became a net credit. He will be able to use this credit in computing his net surcharge or net credit at the end of the next quarter.

As explained in subparagraph (5) of this section, he can determine his cumulative weighted average price at any time during the quarter by dividing the cumulative net dollar amount charged (column 2) by the cumulative number of units delivered (column 3).

(b) Reports—(1) Quarterly reports. Within 20 days after the end of each calendar quarter, you must file with your OPA District Office two copies of a report (signed by an owner, officer or principal) covering all categories which you delivered during the quarter. This report shall contain the following:

(i) Your business name and address;

(ii) Calendar quarter covered by the report;

(iii) Category number and title of each category delivered during the quarter;

(iv) Maximum average price for each category listed in (iii);

(v) Total net dollar amount charged for deliveries during the quarter for each category;

(vi) Total number of units delivered in each category;

(vii) Weighted average price for each category;

(viii) Dollar amount of credit or surcharge, if any, for each category;

(ix) Dollar amount of surcharge for all categories combined, if any;

(x) Dollar amount of credit for all categories combined, if any;

(xi) Dollar amount of net credit, if any, from previous quarter;

(xii) Net surcharge (ix minus the sum of x and xi) or net credit (the sum of x and xi minus ix), if any.

Deliveries made while operating on a makeup basis shall not be included in the above report.

(2) Makeup reports. If you have been operating on a makeup basis, you must file with your OPA District Office two copies of a report (signed by an owner, officer or principal) covering your makeup operation within 10 days after you complete your makeup operation. If you do not make up your net surcharge during the calendar quarter after the quarter in which it was incurred you must file this report instead of the quarterly report for that quarter, and for each succeeding quarter in which you operate wholly on a makeup basis. In addition, you must file a final report of that portion of your makeup operation not previously reported within 10 days after the day on which you completely make up your net surcharge. Each makeup report must contain the following information:

(i) Your business name and address;

(ii) The beginning and end dates of the period covered by the report;

(iii) Your net surcharge at the beginning of the period (net surcharge incurred less any amount previously made up and reported);

(iv) For each category you delivered during the period:

[1] 10 F.R. 4336, 5995, 6402, 8368, 10200, 10280.

(b) Maximum average price for the period;

(c) Total net dollar amount charged during the period;

(d) Total number of units delivered;

(e) Dollar amount of surcharge made up;

(v) Dollar amount of net surcharge you made up in all categories combined during the period.

(3) Examples of reports under paragraph (b) (1) and (2). These reporting forms may be duplicated but will not be furnished by the OPA.

The three sample reports, above, show how you may arrange your own quarterly and makeup reports. The first report shown is for the first quarter of operation and therefore would be filed within 20 days after end of the quarter specified in the report. This report shows that in Category A–10 the reporting company's weighted average price was more than its maximum average price for the period and therefore a surcharge had to be computed and reported. In Category A–26 the company earned a credit because its weighted average price was less than its maximum average price for that category in that period. In Category A–18 the weighted average price equaled the maximum average price. Therefore, the cerit earned was subtracted from the surcharge, leaving a net surcharge to be made up of $900.

The second and third sample reports show that the reporting company made up its net surcharge during the fourth calendar quarter of 1945, that is, the quarter following the one in which it was incurred; therefore, the second report would be filed within 10 days after the company completed its makeup and the third report shown would be filed within 20 days after the end of the fourth quarter. The dates specified in the makeup report indicate that the company made up the net surcharge incurred in the previous quarter by October 25, at which time it ceased to operate on a makeup basis. The figures shown in the makeup report indicate that the company made up a portion of the net surcharge in each of the categories delivered during the makeup period. The quarterly report covering the remainder of the fourth quarter when the company was not on a makeup basis shows that a credit was reported for Category A–26 in that quarter and no surcharges were incurred. Therefore the company had a net credit for that quarter.

ADJUSTMENT OF MANUFACTURERS' PRICES FOR CERTAIN KNITTED GARMENTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this supplementary order, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

AUTHORITY: § 1305.165 issued under 56 Stat. 23, 765; 57 Stat. 566; Pub. Law 383, 78th Cong; Pub. Law 108, 79th Cong; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871; E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681; E.O. 9599, 10 F.R. 10155.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This supplementary order provides a procedure whereby manufacturers of garments belonging to any of the categories listed in Appendix A may apply for adjustment of their present ceiling prices on such garments. Pending OPA authorization of adjusted manufacturers' ceiling prices for these garments, the order permits manufacturers and wholesalers to sell and deliver them on an adjustable pricing basis. Thus, for garments in the categories listed in Appendix A, this order supplements the regulations establishing manufacturers' ceilings, and those establishing wholesalers' ceilings.

SEC. 2. Adjustment of manufacturers' ceilings—(a) Who may apply. A manufacturer of any garment belonging to any of the categories listed in Appendix A, whose "present ceiling price" for the garment is less than the garment's "current total unit cost" plus 4% of such cost, may apply for an adjustment of his "present ceiling price."

"Present ceiling price" is the ceiling price established for the garment under Maximum Price Regulation 221 (Manufacturers' Prices for Fall and Winter Knitted Underwear), or the General Maximum Price Regulation (whichever is applicable), exclusive of any adjustment permitted under Revised Supplementary Order 99 (Adjustment of Maximum Prices for Specified Knitted Underwear Garments Manufactured pursuant to Direction of War Production Board).

Instructions for calculating "current total unit cost" are provided with the form required to be filed under paragraph (c) (2) below. However, OPA will not, under this order, give consideration to any costs attributable to the following:

(1) To seasonal, non-recurring or temporary factors affecting the applicant's operations; or

(2) To a reduction in volume of production below the normal economical capacity of the applicant's plant; or

(3) To the payment of unlawful wages or excessive salaries, or of unlawful or excessive prices for materials; or

(4) To the payment of voluntary wage increases instituted pursuant to section 1 of Title IV of Executive Order 9599 (August 18, 1945); or

(5) To the incurring of factory overhead costs or of selling, administrative and general costs which are abnormally high relative to sales or other costs, unless such excess is demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence to have been unavoidable in the exercise of sound business judgment and management.

(b) Amount of adjustment. A manufacturer's present ceiling for any garment described in paragraph (a) above will be adjusted to equal the current total unit cost of the garment plus 4% of such cost. However, this adjustment shall only apply to deliveries of the garment made by the manufacturer on and after October 17, 1945, but prior to February 1, 1946.

(c) Filing of applications. Applications must be filed by registered mail with the Consumer Goods Price Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with Article III of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, and must contain, unless the information is already on file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.:

(1) Balance sheets and profit and loss statements for the years (fiscal or calendar) 1936 to 1939, inclusive, the most recent calendar or fiscal year, and the most recent quarter- or half-year period.

(2) A statement in detail, on OPA Form 6062–2617,[1] of the applicant's current total unit cost of the garment for which an adjustment is being sought, the applicant's present ceiling price for the garment, the amount of the adjustment requested by the applicant and his proposed maximum price for the garment, in accordance with the standards set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

(d) Granting of application by order. If the Price Administrator determines that the applicant is entitled to an adjustment of his ceiling price under the standards set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) above, he will issue an order granting such adjustment and containing such other provisions as may be deemed necessary.

(e) Granting of application by automatic approval. (1) For any application properly filed by a manufacturer as required by paragraph (c) above, the adjustment requested by the manufacturer in his application shall be deemed to be granted on and after the thirtieth day following the date of the mailing of the application (or on and after the thirtieth day following the date of mailing of all additional information which may have been requested by OPA), unless within that time OPA issues an order disapproving the requested adjustment or granting an adjustment under paragraph (d) above.

(2) A manufacturer whose application for adjustment is deemed to be granted under subparagraph (1) above may thereafter (but only with respect to garments belonging to the categories listed in Appendix A) make deliveries at the adjusted ceiling prices requested in the application.

(f) Modification or revocation of adjustment. The Price Administrator may at any time modify or revoke any adjustment granted under this supplementary order.

(g) Denial of application. An application may be denied, notwithstanding the standards in paragraphs (a) and (b), if price relief under an alternative method has been provided for the applicant or his industry, or if the Price Administrator determines that granting the application would not accord with the purposes of Executive Order 9599, issued by the President on August 18, 1945.

[1] Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration, Consumer Goods Price Division, Washington 25, D. C.

SEC. 3. Adjustable pricing agreements—(a) Specific authorization for manufacturers who qualify for adjustments under section 2. (1) A manufacturer of any garment belonging to any of the categories listed in Appendix A, who qualifies under section 2 for an adjustment of his present ceiling price on the garment, may sell and deliver such garment at the "present ceiling price" and reserve the right to charge the difference, if any, between that ceiling price and any higher ceiling price which may thereafter be established by OPA. "Present ceiling price" is defined in section 2 (a).

However, on and after November 1, 1945, no manufacturer may sell or deliver any garment on an adjustable pricing basis, unless he has filed with OPA an application for adjustment of the garment's present ceiling price, pursuant to section 2 (c).

(2) A manufacturer, who with respect to any garment, elects to exercise the adjustable pricing permission provided in subparagraph (1) must, in connection with each contract of sale, deliver to the purchaser in writing, the statement set forth below:

"For as long as permitted by OPA, ---------- (name of the manufacturer) reserves the right to charge you, for the following quantities of garments delivered pursuant to this contract, the difference between our present ceiling prices and any higher ceiling prices which may thereafter be established by OPA under section 2 of Supplementary Order 137.

[You must price these garments in accordance with MPR 580, MPR 210, or the GMPR (whichever regulation governs your sales of such garments). In determining your ceiling prices for resale of the garments, OPA has ruled that you must disregard the foregoing adjustable pricing clause and any additional charge made pursuant to it, unless and until specifically authorized otherwise by OPA. Thus, under MPR 580 and MPR 210, you may not include any such additional charge as part of your cost base; under the GMPR, you may not add the amount of any such charge to your existing GMPR ceiling prices.] [2]

(b) Specific authorization for wholesalers purchasing from manufacturers who have adjustable prices. A wholesaler who purchases garments from a manufacturer who has exercised the adjustable pricing permission granted under paragraph (a) may, in connection with such garments, sell and deliver them to retailers at the ceiling prices in effect on November 9, 1944, and reserve the right to charge the difference, if any, between such ceiling prices and any higher ceiling prices which may there-

[2] If this statement is sent to wholesalers, substitute the following for the paragraph in brackets:

Pursuant to section 3 (b) of SO 137, you may sell and deliver these garments to retailers at your ceiling prices in effect on November 9, 1944 and reserve the right to charge the difference, if any, between them and any higher ceiling prices which may thereafter be established by OPA, as a result of adjusting our prices to you. If you elect to use this permission, you must deliver to the purchaser the statement set forth in section 3 (b) of SO 137.

after be established by OPA. However, the wholesaler must, with each contract of sale, deliver to the purchaser, in writing, the statement set forth below:

For as long as permitted by OPA, _____ (name of wholesaler) reserves the right to charge you, for the following quantities of garments delivered pursuant to this contract, the difference between our ceiling prices in effect on November 9, 1944 and any higher ceiling prices which may thereafter be established by OPA, as a result of adjustment of our supplier's price to us under section 2 of Supplementary Order 137.

Lot. No.	Ceiling price on November 9, 1944	Quantity

You must price these garments in accordance with MPR 580, MPR 210, or the GMPR (whichever regulation governs your sales of such garments). In determining your ceiling prices for resale of the garments, OPA has ruled that you must disregard the foregoing adjustable pricing clause and any additional charge made pursuant to it, unless and until specifically authorized otherwise by OPA. Thus, under MPR 580 and MPR 210, you may not include any such additional charge as part of your cost base; under the GMPR, you may not add the amount of any such charge to your existing GMPR ceiling prices.

(c) Restrictions. (1) The permission granted in paragraphs (a) and (b) shall remain in effect only until the date adjusted ceiling prices, pursuant to section 2, are first hereafter established for the manufacturer's sales, or these paragraphs are revoked, whichever is earlier.

(2) Any purchaser, except a wholesaler making sales to retailers, who buys garments under a contract containing an adjustable pricing clause shall disregard that clause, and any additional charge made pursuant to it, in determining his ceiling prices for resale of the garments so purchased.

SEC. 4. Revocation of former orders. Revised Supplementary Order 99 (Adjustment of Maximum Prices for Specified Knitted Underwear Garments Manufactured pursuant to Direction of War Production Board) and all individual price adjustments granted pursuant thereto, prior to October 17, 1945, are hereby revoked.

NOTE: Approval of the reporting requirements of this supplementary order has been waived by the Bureau of the Budget.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[RMPR 289,[2] Amdt. 36]

DAIRY PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 289 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 (q) is added to read as follows:

(q) Processed cheese, cheese foods and cheese spreads.

2. Section 35 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 35. Maximum prices for processed cheese, cheese food and cheese spreads (except those covered by other sections of this regulation).—(a) Purposes of section 35.—(1) Generally. Section 35 establishes a method for placing all processed cheese, cheese foods and cheese spreads, except those covered by other sections of this regulation, under dollar-and-cents ceiling prices at all levels except retail sales by retailers subject to Maximum Price Regulations Nos. 422 and 423. Generally, this is accomplished by computing a maximum base price by application of the pricing method hereinafter set forth. However, those products subject to this section which were sold during the base period, September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive, are not required to be priced according to the pricing method, but will retain their respective maximum prices established in said base period.

(2) Prior regulations, orders, letters and interpretations superseded. This section supersedes all other maximum price regulations, orders, letters and interpretations and the maximum prices established thereunder or thereby issued by the Office of Price Administration or any Regional or District Office thereof before October 23, 1945, with respect to sales of cheese items covered by this section, including the applicable provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 280: Provided, That such maximum price regulations, orders, letters and interpretations shall remain in force with respect to a particular sale of a cheese item covered by this section until provisions of this section become applicable thereto.

(b) Pricing each cheese item. (1) Each manufacturer subject to this section shall remain subject to Maximum Price Regulation No. 280 with respect to each of his cheese items until he has filed a maximum base price for such cheese item under paragraph (e) or until 30 days after the effective date of this section, whichever is earlier.

(2) Division of cheese items. Each manufacturer must separately price all cheese items he sells according to the group to which the cheese item belongs as follows:

(i) Cheese items which he sold or offered for sale during the base period, September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive.

(ii) Cheese items sold or offered for sale subsequent to October 2, 1942.

(3) Definition of "cheese item". "Cheese item" as that term is used in this section means any processed cheese, cheese food or cheese spread previously covered by Maximum Price Regulation No. 280 (except those covered by other sections of this regulation) of a particular brand name, container size and formula. One cheese item shall not be considered the same as another if there is any difference in:

(i) Their brand names and item names, or

(ii) The names of their manufacturers, or

(iii) Their container sizes, or

(iv) Their type of package or container, or

(v) Their formulae, or

(vi) Information required to be contained on their labels in accordance with the provisions of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act of 1938 or regulations issued thereunder.

(c) Determination of ingredient, container and packaging prices. Each manufacturer required to determine a maximum base price for a cheese item not sold by him during the base period September 28 to October 2, 1942 inclusive under paragraph (d) (2) hereof is required to determine his maximum base price by use of the price of each ingredient in the cheese item and the price of the container or packaging material or both in which the item is packed. This paragraph sets forth rules for determining the ingredient, container and packaging prices.

(1) Natural cheese subject to RMPR 289. For any natural cheese ingredient the price for which is determined under Revised Maximum Price Regulation 289 the manufacturer shall use the maximum price per pound established by that regulation for sales made in Wisconsin to processors by a cheese maker, or cheese factory or assembler whichever is higher.

(2) Natural cheese subject to MPR 280. (i) For any natural cheese ingredient the price for which is determined under Maximum Price Regulation 280 and which the manufacturer purchases, he shall use the maximum price per pound, f. o. b. the cheese factory, established under that regulation by its manufacturer.

(ii) For any natural cheese ingredient the price for which is determined under Maximum Price Regulation 280 and which is made by a manufacturer and used by him in making any cheese item covered by this section, he shall use the maximum price established by him under the provision of that regulation for sales f. o. b. his factory to processors: Provided, however, That the price so used and the manner of its determination shall be filed with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. at the time the manufacturer files his maximum base price under paragraph (e) of this section.

(3) Ingredients other than natural cheese subject to price control. For any ingredient other than natural cheese, subject to any maximum price regulation, the manufacturer shall use the maximum price established by the applicable regulation for sales delivered at his factory for customary purchases from customary suppliers.

(4) Ingredients not subject to price control. For any ingredient not subject to price control the manufacturer shall use either the reasonable market value of such ingredient as of October 23, 1945 delivered at his factory purchased from a customary supplier in customary quantities, or the simple average of the prices paid by him for that ingredient delivered at his plant for either

(i) His receipts for July, 1945,

(ii) His last 20 receipts prior to October 23, 1945, or

(iii) His last year's receipts prior to October 23, 1945.

(5) Container and packaging material prices. For any containers or packaging materials the manufacturer shall use the maximum price he could lawfully pay, if subject to price control, or the reasonable market value if not subject to price control, delivered to his plant from customary or normal suppliers of such containers or packaging material.

(6) Averaging prices at separate plants. Where a person manufactures a cheese item in more than one plant, in determining his various costs and his price for ingredients, he shall take the weighted averages of the costs and prices of the ingredients determined at each of his plants in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph. The weighted average cost and price shall be used by him in determining his maximum base price.

(d) Establishment of maximum base prices—(1) For cheese items sold during September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive. The maximum base price for any cheese item sold during the period September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive shall be the highest price charged by the seller for the sale of the same cheese item during that period to a purchaser of the same class, or if he made no delivery during such period, his highest offering price for delivery during that period to a purchaser of the same class. The seller may therefore have different maximum base prices for different classes of purchasers.

(2) Establishment of a maximum base price for each cheese item not sold by a manufacturer between September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive. Each manufacturer of a cheese item not sold by him during the period September 28, to October 2, 1942 inclusive, shall determine a maximum base price for that item which shall be the total of the following, not, however, to exceed the maximum price established by him for that cheese item under § 1351.803 of Maximum Price Regulation 280:

(i) Natural cheese ingredients. He shall multiply the percentages of all natural cheeses used as an ingredient in the item being priced by the price per pound for the respective natural cheeses determined in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(ii) Ingredients other than natural cheese. He shall multiply the percentages of all ingredients other than natural cheese used as an ingredient in the cheese item being priced by the prices per pound for the respective ingredients other than natural cheese determined in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(iii) Cleaning losses. He shall determine his cleaning losses for the item per pound based upon his actual operations.

(iv) Container costs. He shall determine the price of the container or packaging material or both in which the item is packed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(v) Manufacturing costs. The sum of 2½¢ per pound shall include all other costs and profit, including but not limited to direct labor, shrinkage, grinding, blending, pasteurizing and packaging.

(vi) Differentials for size. The additions provided by this subparagraph may be added to, and the deductions provided by this subparagraph must be subtracted from, the total of items (i) through (v) of this paragraph. The sum arrived at by totaling subparagraphs (i) through (v) inclusive includes the cost of placing the finished product in container sizes varying from over ½ pound to 2 pounds for processed cheese and processed cheese foods and 8 ounces or less for cheese spreads.

(a) Processed cheese and processed cheese food. (1) For processed cheese and processed cheese food items in packages weighing ½ pound or less, add 1¾ cents per pound.

(2) For processed cheese and processed cheese food items in packages weighing over 2 pounds deduct 1 cent per pound.

(b) Processed cheese spreads. (1) For processed cheese spread items packed in containers and weighing over eight ounces but not more than two pounds deduct ¼¢ per pound.

(2) For processed cheese spread items packed in containers and weighing over two pounds deduct 1¢ per pound.

(e) Filing of maximum base prices. (1) On each cheese item for which a manufacturer has computed a maximum base price under paragraph (d) of this section, he shall within 30 days from the effective date of this section file his maximum base prices together with his computations showing how he arrived at his maximum base prices with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C.

(2) Prohibition against selling until maximum base prices are filed. No manufacturer subject to this section shall sell any cheese item after 30 days from the effective date of this section until he has filed a maximum base price for such cheese item.

(3) Information to be filed. (i) For maximum base prices determined under paragraph (d) (1) of this section each seller shall file the following information:

(a) Brand name and name of item.

(b) Name and address of the manufacturing plant, or if more than one plant manufactures the cheese item, then the names and addresses of all the plants where the cheese item is manufactured (Applicable only to manufacturers of the cheese item).

(c) Container size.

(d) Type of package or container.

(e) Information contained on label, if any.

(f) The maximum base price for each class of customer.

(ii) For maximum base prices determined under paragraph (d) (2) of this section, each manufacturer shall file the following information:

(a) Brand name and name of item.

(b) Name and address of the manufacturing plants, or if more than one plant manufactures the cheese item, then the names and addresses of all the plants where the cheese item is manufactured.

(c) Container size.

(d) Type of package or container.

(e) Information contained on label, if any.

(f) List of ingredients.

(g) Percentage or amount and price of each ingredient contained in each cheese item.

(h) Amount and cost of cleaning losses, on per pound basis.

(i) Container and packing material costs.

(j) The resulting maximum base price.

(4) All filings shall be considered as confidential information and the contents thereof shall not be disclosed or divulged except upon order of the Administrator upon a finding that such disclosure is necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act, as amended and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328.

(f) Approval or disapproval of filed maximum base prices. (1) The Administrator may approve by letter order any filed price upon a finding that it was correctly determined under the provisions of this section.

(2) The Administrator may disapprove by letter order any filed price upon a finding that it was incorrectly determined and is in excess of the maximum base price as correctly determined. The order of disapproval shall specify an allowed maximum base price in lieu of the maximum base price filed by the manufacturer.

(3) Any filed maximum base price determined in good faith pursuant to the provisions of this section, which has not been disapproved within 30 days after such filing, shall thereafter be deemed to be approved; provided that the Administrator may by letter order subsequently disapprove such maximum base price and, if it is subsequently disapproved, it shall be treated as disapproved for the purpose of sales or deliveries made subsequent to its disapproval.

(g) Maximum prices—(1) For cheese items sold during September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive. The maximum price for the sale or delivery of any cheese item sold by any seller during the period September 28 to October 2, 1942 inclusive to each class of customer shall be his maximum base price determined under paragraph (d) (1) of this section for sales to the respective classes of customers.

(2) For cheese items not sold during September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive—(i) Manufacturers—(a) In Wisconsin. The manufacturer's maximum price price for the sale of any cheese item delivered in Wisconsin (which cheese item was not sold by him during the base period of September 28 to October 2, 1942 inclusive) shall be his maximum base price computed for that cheese item under paragraph (d) (2) of this section.

(b) Outside Wisconsin. The manufacturer's maximum price for the sale of any cheese item delivered at any place outside Wisconsin (which cheese item was not sold by him during the base period of September 28 to October 2, 1942 inclusive) shall be his maximum base price computed for that cheese item under immediately preceding subdivision (a) plus a "transportation factor."

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section no manufacturer shall sell or deliver any cheese item which was not sold prior to October 23, 1945, unless the maximum base price for such cheese item has been approved or determined by order issued by the Administrator or has been approved under paragraph (f) (3) of this section.

(ii) Wholesalers—(a) Sales by a "primary wholesaler"—(1) Definition. A "primary wholesaler" is a person who sells to a wholesaler or to a retailer distributing warehouse.

(2) In Wisconsin. The maximum price for the sale of any cheese item covered by this section by a "primary wholesaler" delivered at any place in Wisconsin, and not sold by him during the base period September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive, shall be the manufacturer's maximum price as determined under paragraph (g) of this section, plus ½¢ per pound.

(3) Outside Wisconsin. The maximum price for the sale of any cheese item covered by this section by a "primary wholesaler" delivered at any place outside Wisconsin, and not sold by him during the base period September 28 to October 2, 1942, inclusive, shall be the maximum price set forth in immediately preceding subdivision (2) above, plus a "transportation factor."

(b) Sales by a "non-delivering wholesaler"—(1) Definition. A "non-delivering wholesaler" is a person who sells to and does not make delivery to the physical premises of an individual retail store or to an individual commercial, industrial, institutional or non-federal governmental user. No person shall be deemed a "non-delivering wholesaler" unless he owns or maintains a warehouse within a distance of 50 miles from the physical premises of the above described purchaser. The physical premises of an individual retail store means the place where "cheese items" are sold to ultimate household users. The physical premises of an individual commercial, industrial, institutional, or non-federal governmental user means the place where "cheese items" are consumed by such user. Provided, however, That the physical premises of a municipally operated central kitchen preparing lunches for non-profit distribution to school children shall be deemed the physical premises of an institutional user.

(2) In Wisconsin. The maximum price for the sale of any cheese item covered by this section by a "service wholesaler" delivered to the physical premises of a purchaser (designated in subdivision (1) of this paragraph) at any place in Wisconsin, and not sold by him during the base period September 28 to October 2, 1942 inclusive, shall be the manufacturer's maximum price determined under paragraph (g) of this section, plus 3¢ per pound.

(3) Outside Wisconsin. The maximum price for the sale of any cheese item by a "service wholesaler" delivered to the physical premises of a purchaser (designated in subdivision (1) of this subparagraph), at any place outside Wisconsin, and not sold by him during the base period September 28 to October 2, 1942 inclusive, shall be the maximum price set forth in immediately preceding subdivision (2) above, plus a "transportation factor."

(h) Calculations. All calculations of any "transportation factor" and of any maximum price established by this section shall be made on a cents per pound basis and shall be carried to the second decimal point. The price per pound carried to the second decimal point shall be multiplied by the number of pounds sold and the total price then adjusted to the nearest cent, or the next higher cent where the total price ends with a decimal point of .50.

(i) Discounts and allowances. The maximum prices established in the foregoing paragraphs of this section must be reduced by the customary discounts or allowances for cash or prompt payment. However, any change in customary discounts, allowances or other price differentials may always be made when it results in a lower price than would the customary discounts or allowances.

(j) Maximum prices for sales at retail by manufacturers and wholesalers. (1) The maximum price for the sale at retail of any cheese item delivered at any place by a manufacturer, primary wholesaler, or service wholesaler, shall be the appropriate maximum price established in that place for a sale by a manufacturer as set forth in paragraph (g) of this section plus 27%.

(2) No sale to any person of a quantity in excess of 5 pounds shall be considered a sale at retail.

(k) Maximum prices for sales not already provided for. The maximum price for the sale or delivery in any place of any cheese item for which a maximum price is not established by this section shall be the maximum price established for sales by manufacturers of that cheese item in that place by paragraph (g) of this section.

(l) Adjustments and price determination. (1) The Administrator of the Office of Price Administration on his own motion may at any time by amendment, general order or letter order disapprove or revise any maximum base price or maximum price for any cheese item proposed or established under this section so as to bring it into line with the level of maximum prices otherwise established for cheese items by this regulation.

(2) Any manufacturer whose maximum base price is determined under paragraph (d) (1) of this section may make application for an adjustment in his established maximum base price so as to bring it into line with the level of maximum base prices determined for the same cheese item under paragraph (d) (2) of this section. Such an application must be filed in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and must contain all the information required by paragraph (d) (2) and (e) (4) of this section for the determination of a maximum base price thereunder.

(3) Any manufacturer who is unable to determine his maximum base price for a cheese item under the provisions of paragraph (d) of this section may make application to the Administrator for the establishment of a maximum base price. Such an application shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of Revised

Procedural Regulation No. 1, as amended, and must show in addition to the information required by paragraph (d) (2) and (e) (4) of this section, the reasons why the applicant cannot determine his price under paragraph (d) of this section.

(m) Definitions—(1) Processed cheese. Processed cheese is any natural cheese which has been graded, cleaned, blended, ground, pasteurized and packaged but which is not controlled by other sections of this regulation. It shall contain not less than the butterfat contained in the natural cheese being processed with a 1% tolerance on moisture. Any variation in butterfat or moisture content shall for the purposes of this section result in the product being considered a processed cheese food subject to the provisions of this section.

(2) Processed cheese food and processed cheese spread. Processed cheese food or processed cheese spread is a blend of two or more natural cheeses with emulsifying agents and with the optional addition of fillers, stretchers, condiments or relishes and other non-cheese ingredients, which natural cheeses have been graded, cleaned, blended, ground, packaged and which may, or may not, be cooked or pasteurized. Processed cheese food is distinguished from processed cheese spread by its moisture content, which normally does not exceed 50% while the moisture content in processed cheese spread normally exceeds 50%.

(3) "Transportation factor." "Transportation factor" means the lowest published railroad carlot freight rate per pound gross weight from Plymouth, Wisconsin, to the place of delivery multiplied by 1.15. In calculating transportation charges referred to in the foregoing paragraphs, the 3% transportation tax imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall be included.

(4) "Delivered at any place." The phrase "delivered at any place" comprehends all sales whether made on the basis of actual delivery to the point of shipping destination or on the basis of f. o. b. shipping point or some other point. Sales f. o. b. any point shall be considered delivered at that point.

(5) "Place" means any city, town, village or hamlet within the United States.

(6) "Retailer distributing warehouse" means a place where cheese is received and held for disposition to retail stores. Chain store warehouses and retailer owned cooperative warehouses are included in the meaning of "retailer distributing warehouse."

(n) Evasive practices prohibited. The provisions of this section shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, or receipt of, or relating to any cheese item alone or in conjunction with any other commodity, or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding or by changing a business practice relating to grading, labeling, packaging or branding of a cheese item.

Any change in the type or amount of ingredients, container type or size or any other material change in the composition of a cheese item for which a manufacturer has filed his maximum base price with the Office of Price Administration shall be considered as an evasion of the provisions of this section unless the manufacturer shall redetermine and file his maximum base price for the cheese item so changed.

NOTE: All record-keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This Amendment shall become effective October 23, 1945.

(g) 1945 pack of "canned" fruits and vegetables and dried fruits. Each item of the 1945 pack of "canned" fruits and vegetables and dried fruits (Food Commodity Groups 10, 11, 12, 33 and 34) shall be considered a different item from the 1944 and earlier packs, and you shall figure a separate ceiling price for each item. You must figure your ceiling price for each such item in accordance with the provisions in sections 3, 4 and 5, basing your "net cost" on the first delivery to you of the item.

This amendment shall become effective October 23, 1945.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

PART 3—STANDARD AND HIGH FREQUENCY BROADCAST STATIONS

STANDARDS OF GOOD ENGINEERING PRACTICE CONCERNING FM BROADCAST STATIONS

There are presented herein the Commission's engineering standards relating to the allocation and operation of FM broadcast stations. These standards also apply to noncommercial educational (FM) broadcast stations, except as noted herein. The Commission's rules and regulations contain references to these standards, which have been approved by the Commission and thus are considered as reflecting its opinion in all matters involved.

The standards set forth herein are those deemed necessary for the construction and operation of FM broadcast stations to meet the requirements of technical regulations and for operation in the public interest along technical lines not otherwise enunciated. These standards are based upon the best engineering data available, including evidence at hearings, conferences with radio engineers, and data supplied by manufacturers of radio equipment and by licenses of FM broadcast stations. These standards are complete in themselves and supersede previous engineering standards or policies of the Commission concerning FM broadcast stations. While these standards provide for flexibility and indicate the conditions under which they are applicable, it is not expected that material deviation from the fundamental principles will be recognized unless full information is submitted as to the need and reasons therefor.

These standards will necessarily be revised from time to time as progress is made in the art. The Commission will accumulate and analyze engineering data available as to the progress of the art so that these standards may be kept current with technical developments.

SECTION 1. Definitions—A. FM broadcast station. The term "FM broadcast station" means a station employing frequency modulation in the FM broadcast band and licensed primarily for the transmission of radiotelephone emissions intended to be received by the general public.

B. Frequency modulation. The term "frequency modulation" means a system of modulation where the instantaneous radio frequency varies in proportion to the instantaneous amplitude of the modulating signal (amplitude of modulating signal to be measured after pre-emphasis, if used) and the instantaneous radio frequency is independent of the frequency of the modulating signal.

C. FM broadcast band. The term "FM broadcast band" means the band of frequencies extending from 88 to 108 megacycles, which includes those assigned to noncommercial educational broadcasting.

D. Center frequency. The term "center frequency" means:

(1) The average frequency of the emitted wave when modulated by a sinusoidal signal.

(2) The frequency of the emitted wave without modulation.

E. Frequency swing. The term "frequency swing" means the instananeous departure of the frequency of the emitted wave from the center frequency resulting from modulation.

F. FM broadcast channel. The term "FM broadcast channel" means a band of frequencies 200 kilocycles wide and is designated by its center frequency. Channels for FM broadcast stations begin at 88.1 megacycles and continue in successive steps of 200 kilocycles to and including 107.9 megacycles.

G. Antenna field gain. The term "antenna field gain" of an FM broadcst antenna means the ratio of the effective free space field intensity produced at one mile in the horizontal plane expressed in millivolts per meter for 1 kilowatt antenna input power to 137.6 mv/m.

H. Free space field intensity. The term "free space field intensity" means the field intensity that would exist at a point in the absence of waves reflected from the earth or other reflecting objects.

I. Multiplex transmission. The term "multiplex transmission" means the simultaneous transmission of two or more signals within a single channel. Multiplex transmission as applied to FM broadcast stations means the transmission of facsimile or other signals in addition to the regular broadcast signals.

J. Percentage modulation. The term "percentage modulation" as applied to frequency modulation means the ratio of the actual frequency swing to the frequency swing defined as 100 percent modulation, expressed in percentage. For FM broadcast stations, a frequency swing of ±75 kilocycles is defined as 100 percent modulation.

K. Effective radiated power. The term "effective radiated power" means the product of the antenna power (transmitter output power less transmission line loss) times (1) the antenna power gain, or (2) the antenna field gain squared.

L. Service area. The term "service area" as applied to FM broadcasting means the service resulting from an assigned effective radiated power and antenna height above average terrain.

M. Antenna height above average terrain. The term "antenna height above average terrain" means the average of the antenna heights above the terrain from two to ten miles from the antenna. (In general a different antenna height will be determined by each direction from the antenna. The average of these various heights is considered as the antenna height above average terrain.)

SEC. 2. Engineering standards of allocation. A. Sections 3.202 to 3.205 inclusive of the rules and regulations describe the basis for allocation of FM Broadcast Stations, including the division of the United States into Areas I and II. Where reference is made in the rules to antenna heights of Community Stations, section 2 E (1) of these Standards should be consulted; for other classes of FM broadcast Stations, section 2 E (2) should be consulted.

As noted in § 3.204 (b) of the rules, the Commission will designate service areas for Metropolitan Stations in Area II. In addition to the showing required by this rule a special showing must be included in the application concerning the area proposed to be served, in the event that (1) such area is smaller than the service area designated by the Commission, or (2) such area is smaller than that which would appear to be the appropriate service area, in cases where it has not been designated by the Commission. The proposed area to be served must be substantially greater than that which could be served by a Community station.

B. In determining the predicted and measured field intensity contours of FM broadcast stations the following shall govern:

(1) Community stations will normally not be required to determine their contours.

(2) Metropolitan stations shall determine the extent of their 1000 uv/m and 50 uv/m contours.

(3) Rural stations shall determine their 1000 uv/m, 50 uv/m and 20 uv/m contours.[1]

The above contours shall be determined in accordance with the methods prescribed in these Standards.

C. Although some service is provided by tropospheric waves, the service area is considered to be only that served by the ground wave. The extent of the service is determined by the point at which the ground wave is no longer of sufficient intensity to provide satisfactory broadcast service. The field intensity considered necessary for service is as folows:

TABLE I

Area:	Median field intensity
City business or factory areas	1000 uv/m
Rural areas	50 uv/m

A median field intensity of 3000 to 5000 uv/m should be placed over the principal city to be served, and a median field intensity of 1000 uv/m should be placed over the business district of cities of 10,000 or greater within the metropolitan district served. The field intensity to be provided over the main studio is specified by §§ 3.203, 3.204, and 3.205 of the rules.

These figures are based upon the usual noise levels encountered in the several areas and upon the absence of interference from other FM stations.

D. A basis for allocation of satellite stations has not yet been determined. For the present, applications will be considered on their individual merits.

E. The service area is predicted as follows:

(1) Community stations. A map, topographic where obtainable, shall be submitted for the area within 15 miles of the proposed antenna site. On this map shall be indicated the antenna location and a circle of 10 miles radius with the antenna location as center. Representative points shall be picked on this circle 15 degrees apart and the elevation of these points determined. The average elevation of these points will be considered the average elevation of the circle. The difference between the elevation of the center of the radiating system and the average elevation of this circle shall be considered the height of the antenna over the terrain 10 miles from the transmitter. In cases where the applicant believes this method to be grossly in error due to peculiarities of the terrain, this method shall be used for determiinng the antenna height but a showing may be made, if desired, determining the height by other means and describing the method used. Calculations of the service contours of Community stations are not required.

(2) Metropolitan and rural stations. Profile graphs must be drawn for at least eight radials from the proposed antenna site. These profiles should be prepared for each radial beginning at the antenna site and extending to ten miles therefrom. Normally the radials are drawn for each 45° of azimuth; however, where feasible the radials should be drawn for angles along which roads tend to follow: (The latter method may be helpful in obtaining topographical data where otherwise unavailable, and is particularly useful in connection with mobile field intensity measurements of the station and the correlation of such measurements with predicted field intensities). In each case one or more radials must include the principal city or cities to be served, particularly in cases of rugged terrain, even though the city may be more than 10 miles from the antenna site. The profile graph for each radial should be plotted by contour intervals of from 40 to 100 feet and, where the data permits, at least 50 points of elevation (generally uniformly spaced) should be used for each radial. In instances of very rugged terrain where the use of contour intervals of 100 feet would result in several points in a short distance, 200 or 400 foot contour intervals may be used for such distances. On the other hand, where the terrain is uniform or gently sloping the smallest contour interval indicated on the topographic map (see below) should be used, although only a relatively few points may be available. The profile graph should accurately indicate the topography for each radial, and the graphs should be plotted with the distance in miles as the abscissa and the elevation in feet above mean sea level as the ordinate. The profile graphs should indicate the source of the topographical data employed. The graph should also show the elevation of the center of the radiating system. The graph may be plotted either on rectangular coordinate paper or on special paper which shows the curvature of the earth into consideration in this procedure, as this factor is taken care of in the chart showing signal intensities (Figure 1).

The average elevation of the eight mile distance between two and ten miles from the antenna site should then be determined from the profile graph for each radial. This may be obtained by averaging a large number of equally spaced points, by using a planimeter, or by obtaining the median elevation (that exceeded for 50% of the distance) in sectors and averaging these values.

To determine the distance to a particular contour Figure 1 concerning the range of FM broadcast stations should be used. This chart has been prepared for a frequency in the center of the band and is to be used for all FM broadcast channels, since little change results over this frequency range. The distance to a contour is determined by the effective radiated power and the antenna height. The height of the antenna used in connection with Figure 1 should be the height of the center of the proposed antenna radiator above the average elevation obtained by the preceding method. The distances shown by Figure 1 are based upon an effective radiated power of one kilowatt; to use the chart for other powers, the sliding scale associated with the chart should be trimmed and used as the ordinate scale. This sliding scale is placed on the chart with the appropriate gradation for power in line with the lower line of the top edge of the chart. The right edge of the scale is placed in line with the appropriate antenna height graduations and the chart then becomes direct reading for this power and antenna height. Where the antenna height is not one of those for which a scale is provided, the signal strength or distance is determined by interpolation between the curves connecting the equidistant points.

The foregoing process of determining the extent of the required contours shall be followed in determining the boundary of the proposed service area. The areas within the required contours must be determined and submitted with each application for these classes of FM broadcast stations. Each application shall include a map showing these contours, and for this purpose Sectional Aeronautical charts or other maps having a convenient scale may be used. The map shall show the radials along which the profile charts and expected field strengths have been determined. The area within each contour should then be measured (by planimeter or other approximate means) to determine the number of square miles therein. In computing the area within the contours, exclude (1) areas beyond the borders of the United States, and (2) large bodies of water, such as ocean areas, gulfs, sounds, bays, large lakes, etc., but not rivers.

In cases where the terrain in one or more directions from the antenna site departs widely from the average elevation of the two to ten mile sector, the application of this prediction method may indicate contour distances that are different from those which may be expected in practice. In such cases the prediction method should be followed, but a showing may be made if desired concerning the distance to the contour as determined by other means. Such showing should include data concerning the procedure employed and sample calculations. For example, a mountain ridge may indicate the practical limit of service although the prediction method may indicate the contour elsewhere. In cases of such limitation, the map of predicted coverage should show both the regular predicted area and the area as limited or extended by terrain. Both areas should be measured, as previously described; the area obtained by the regular prediction method should be given in the application form, with a supplementary note giving the limited or extended area. In special cases the Commission may require additional information as to the terrain in the proposed service area.

In determining the population served by FM broadcast stations, it is considered that the built-up city areas and business districts in cities having over 10,000 population and located beyond the 1,000 uv/m contour do not receive adequate service. Minor Civil Division maps (1940 Census) should be used in making population counts, excluding cities not receiving adequate service. Where a contour divides a minor division, uniform distribution of population within the division should be assumed in order to determine the population included within the contour, unless a more accurate count is available.

SEC. 3. Topographical data. In the preparation of the profile graphs previously described, the elevations or contour intervals shall be taken from the U. S. Geological Topographical Quadrangle Sheets for all areas for which such maps are available. If such maps are not published for the area in question, the next best topographic information should be used. Topographic data may sometimes be obtained from state and municipal agencies. The data from the Sectional Aeronautical Charts (including bench marks), or railroad depot elevations and highway elevations from road maps, may be used where no better information is available. In cases where limited topographic data can be obtained, use may be made of an altimeter in a car driven along roads extending generally radially from the transmitter site.

The Commission will not ordinarily require the submission of topographical maps for areas beyond 15 miles from the antenna site, but the maps must include the principal city or cities to be served. If it appears necessary, additional data may be requested.

The U. S. Geological Survey Topography Quadrangle Sheets may be obtained from the U. S. Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., for ten cents each. The Sectional Aeronautical Charts are available from the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., for twenty-five cents each. Other sources of topographic maps or data will be furnished at a later date.

SEC. 4. Interference standards. Field intensity measurements are preferable in predicting interference between FM broadcast stations and should be used, when available, in determining the extent of interference. (For methods and procedure, see section 5). In lieu of measurements, the interference should be predicted in accordance with the method described herein.

Objectionable interference is considered to exist when the interfering signal exceeds that given by the ratios of Table II. In Table II the desired signal is median field and the undesired signal is the tropospheric signal intensity exceeded for 1% of the time.

	Ratio of desired to undesired signals
Channel separation:
Same channel	10 : 1
Adjacent channel (200 kc removed)	2 : 1

Objectionable interference is not considered to exist when the channel separation is 400 kc or greater. Accordingly, FM broadcast stations in the same city or same area may be assigned channels 400 kc apart. In the assignment of FM broadcast facilities the Commission will endeavor to provide the optimum use of the channels in the band, and accordingly may assign a channel different than that requested in an application.

In predicting the extent of interference within the ground wave service area of a station, the tropospheric signal intensity (from co-channel and adjacent channel stations) existing for one percent of the time shall be employed. The one percent values for one kilowatt of power and various antenna heights are given in Figure 2, and values for other powers may be obtained by use of the sliding scale as for Figure 1. The values indicated by Figure 2 are based upon available data, and are subject to change as additional information concerning tropospheric wave propagation is obtained.[1]

[1] Figure 2 expected to be available approximately November 1, 1945.

In determining the points at which the interference ratio is equal to the values shown in Table II, the field intensities for the two interfering signals under consideration should be computed for a considerable number of points along the line between the two stations. Using this data, field intensity versus distance curves should be plotted (e. g., cross-curves on graph paper) in order to determine the points on this path where the interference ratios exist. The points established by this method, together with the points along the contours where the same ratios are determined, are considered to be generally sufficient to predict the area of interference. Additional points may be required in the case of irregular terrain or the use of directional antenna systems.

The area of interference, if any, shall be shown in connection with the map of predicted coverage required by the application form, together with the basic data employed in computing such interference. The map shall show the interference within the 50 uv/contour.

SEC. 5. Field intensity measurements in allocation. When field intensity measurements are required by the Commission's rules or when employed in determining the extent of service or interference of existing stations, such measurements should be made in accordance with the procedure outlined herein.

Measurements made to determine the service and interference areas of FM broadcast stations should be made with mobile equipment along roads which are as close and similar as possible to the radials showing topography which were submitted with the application for construction permit. Suitable measuring equipment and a continuous recording device must be employed, the chart of which is either directly driven from the speedometer of the automobile in which the equipment is mounted or so arranged that distances and identifying landmarks may be readily noted. The measuring equipment must be calibrated against recognized standards of field intensity and so constructed that it will maintain an acceptable accuracy of measurement while in motion or when stationary. The equipment should be so operated that the recorder chart can be calibrated directly in field intensity in order to facilitate analysis of the chart. The receiving antenna must be non-directional and of the same polarization as the transmitting antenna.

Mobile measurements should be made with a minimum chart speed of 3 inches per mile and preferably 5 or 6 inches per mile. Locations shall be noted on the recorder chart as frequently as necessary to definitely fix the relation between the measured field intensity and the location. The time constant of the equipment should be such to permit adequate analysis of the charts, and the time constant employed shall be shown. Measurements should be made to a point on each radial well beyond the particular contour under investigation. The transmitter power shall be maintained as close as possible to the authorized power throughout the survey.

After the measurements are completed, the recorder chart shall be divided into not less than 15 sections on each equivalent radial from the station. The field intensity in each section of the chart shall be analyzed to determine the field intensity received 50 percent of the distance (median field) throughout the section, and this median field intensity associated with the corresponding sector of the radial. The field intensity figures must be corrected for a receiving antenna elevation of thirty feet and for any directional effects of the automobile not otherwise compensated. This data should be plotted for each radial, using log-log coordinate paper with distance as the abscissa and field intensity as the ordinate. A smooth curve should be drawn through these points (of median fields for all sectors), and this curve used to determine the distance to the desired contour. The distances obtained for each radial may then be plotted on the map of predicted coverage or on polar coordinate paper (excluding water areas, etc.) to determine the service and interference areas of a station.

In making measurements to establish the field intensity contours of a station, mobile recordings should be made along each of the radials drawn in section 2 E above. Measurements should extend from the vicinity of the station out to the 1000 uv/m measured contour and somewhat beyond (at the present time it is not considered practical to conduct mobile measurements far beyond this contour due to the fading ratio at weak fields, which complicates analysis of the charts). These measurements would be made for the purpose of determining the variation of the measured contours from those predicted, and it is expected that initially the correlation of the measured 1000 uv/m with the predicted 1000 uv/m contour will be used as a basis in determining adherence to authorized service areas within the 50 uv/m contour. Adjustment of power or antenna may be required to fit the actual contours to that predicted.

In addition to the 1000 uv/m contour, the map of measured coverage shall show the 50 uv/m contour as determined by employing Figure 1 and the distance to the 1000 uv/m contour along each radial. The sliding scale shall be placed on the figure at the appropriate antenna height for the radial in question and then moved so the distance to the 1000 uv/m contour (as measured) and the 1000 uv/m mark are opposite. The distance to the 50 uv/m contour is then given opposite the 50 uv/m mark on the scale.

In predicting tropospheric interference on the basis of the above measurements, such measurements shall be carried out in the manner indicated above to determine the 1000 uv/m contour. Using Figure 1 and its associated sliding scale, the equivalent radiated power shall be determined by placing the sliding scale on the chart (using the appropriate antenna height) and moving the scale until the distance to the 1000 uv/m contour (as determined above), and the 1000 uv/m mark are opposite. The equivalent radiated power is then read from the sliding scale where it crosses the lower line of the top edge of the chart. Changing to Figure 2 and using the equivalent radiated power just determined, the distance to the interfering contour under investigation is read in the usual manner.

In certain cases the Commission may desire more information or recordings and in these instances special instructions will be issued. This may include fixed location measurements to determine tropospheric propagation and fading ratios.

Complete data taken in conjunction with field intensity measurements shall be submitted to the Commission in affidavit form, including the following:

A. Map or maps showing the roads or points where measurements were made, the service and/or interference areas determined by the prediction method and by the measurements, and any unusual terrain characteristics existing in these areas. (This map may preferably be of a type showing topography in the area).

B. If a directional transmitting antenna is employed, a diagram on polar coordinate paper showing the predicted free space field intensity in millivolts per meter at one mile in all directions. (See section 7).

C. A full description of the procedures and methods employed including the type of equipment, the method of installation and operation, and calibration procedures.

D. Complete data obtained during the survey, including calibration.

E. Antenna system and power employed during the survey.

F. Name, address, and qualifications of the engineer or engineers making the measurements.

All data shall be submitted to the Commission in triplicate, except that only the original or one photostatic copy need be submitted of the actual recording tapes.

SEC. 6. Transmitter location. A. The transmitter location should be as near the center of the proposed service area as possible consistent with the applicant's ability to find a site with sufficient elevation to provide service throughout the area. Location of the antenna at a point of high elevation is necessary to reduce to a minimum the shadow effect on propagation due to hills and buildings which may reduce materially the intensity of the station's signals in a particular direction. The transmitting site should be selected consistent with the purpose of the station, i. e., whether it is intended to serve a small city, a metropolitan area, or a large region. Inasmuch as service may be provided by signals of 1000 uv/m or greater field intensities in metropolitan areas, and inasmuch as signals as low as 20 uv/m may provide service in rural areas, considerable latitude in the geographical location of the transmitter is permitted; however, the necessity for a high elevation for the antenna may render this problem difficult. In general, the transmitting antenna of a station should be located at the most central point at the highest elevation available. In providing the best degree of service to an area, it is usually preferable to use a high antenna rather than a lower antenna with increased transmitter power. The location should be so chosen that line-of-sight can be obtained from the antenna over the principal city or cities to be served; in no event should there be a major obstruction in this path.

B. The transmitting location should be selected so that the 1000 uv/m contour encompasses the urban population within the area to be served and the 50 uv/m or the interference free contour coincides generally with the limits of the area to be served. It is recognized that topography, shape of the desired service area, and population distribution may make the choice of a transmitter location difficult. In such cases consideration may be given to the use of a directional antenna system, although it is generally preferable to choose a site where a non-directional antenna may be employed.

C. In cases of questionable antenna locations it is desirable to conduct propagation tests to indicate the field intensity expected in the principal city or cities to be served and in other areas, particularly where severe shadow problems may be expected. In considering applications proposing the use of such locations, the Commission may require site tests to be made. Such tests should be made in accordance with the measurement procedure previously described, and full data thereon must be supplied to the Commission. Test transmitters should employ an antenna having a height as close as possible to the proposed antenna height, using a balloon or other support if necessary and feasible. Information concerning the authorization of site tests may be obtained from the Commission upon request.

D. Present information is not sufficiently complete to establish "blanket areas" of FM broadcast stations, which are defined as those areas adjacent to the transmitters in which the reception of other stations is subject to interference due to the strong signal from the stations. Where it is found necessary to locate the transmitter in a residential area where blanketing problems may appear to be excessive, the application must include a showing concerning the availability of other sites. The authorization of station construction in areas where blanketing problems appear to be excessive will be on the basis that the applicant will assume full responsibility for the adjustment of reasonable complaints arising from excessively strong signals of the applicant's station. As a means of minimizing interference problems, it is expected that stations adjacent in location will generally be assigned frequencies that are generally adjacent. Insofar as is feasible, frequency assignments for stations at separated locations will also be separated.

Cognizance must of course be taken regarding the possible hazard of the proposed antenna structure to aviation and the proximity of the proposed site to airports and airways. In passing on proposed construction, the Commission refers each case to the CAA for its recommendations. Antenna painting and/or lighting may be required at the time of construction or at a later date.

SEC. 7. Antenna systems. A. It shall be standard to employ horizontal polarization. If the use of vertical polarization appears desirable in special circumstances, its use may be authorized upon a showing of need.

B. The antenna must be constructed so that it is as clear as possible of surrounding buildings or objects that would cause shadow problems.

C. Applications proposing the use of directional antenna systems must be accompanied by the following:

(1) Complete description of the proposed antenna system.

(2) Orientation of array with respect to true north; time phasing of fields from elements (degrees leading or lagging); space phasing of elements (in feet and in degrees); ratio of fields from elements.

(3) Calculated field intensity pattern (on letter-size polar coordinate paper) giving the free space field intensity in millivolts per meter at one mile in the horizontal plane, together with the formula used, constants employed, sample calculations and tabulation of calculation data.

(4) Name, address, and qualifications of the engineer making the calculations.

D. Applications proposing the use of FM broadcast antennas in the immediate vicinity (i. e., 200 feet or less) of (1) other FM broadcast antennas, or (2) television broadcast antennas for frequencies adjacent to the FM broadcast band, must include a showing as to the expected effect, if any, of such proximate operation.

In cases where it is proposed to use a tower of a standard broadcast station as a supporting structure for an FM broadcast antenna, an application for construction permit (or modification of construction permit) for such station must be filed for consideration with the FM application. Applications may be required for other classes of stations when their towers are to be used in connection with FM broadcast stations.

When an FM broadcast antenna is mounted on a non-directional standard broadcast antenna, new resistance measurements must be made of the standard broadcast antenna after installation and testing of the FM broadcast antenna. During the installation and until the new resistance determination is approved, the standard broadcast station licensee should apply for authority (informal application) to operate by the indirect method of power determination. The FM broadcast license application will not be considered until the application form concerning resistance measurements is filed for the standard broadcast station.

When an FM broadcast antenna is mounted on an element of a standard broadcast directional antenna, a full engineering study concerning the effect of the FM broadcast antenna on the directional pattern must be filed with the application concerning the standard broadcast station. Depending upon the individual case, the Commission may require readjustment and certain field intensity measurements of the standard broadcast station following the completion of the FM broadcast antenna system.

When the proposed FM broadcast antenna is to be mounted on a tower in the vicinity of a standard broadcast directional array and it appears that the operation of the directional antenna system may be affected, an engineering study must be filed with the FM broadcast application concerning the effect of the FM broadcast antenna on the directional pattern. Readjustment and field intensity measurements of the standard broadcast station may be required following construction of the FM broadcast antenna.

Information regarding data required in connection with standard broadcast directional antenna systems may be found in the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

In the event a common tower is used by two or more licensees for antenna and/or antenna supporting purposes, the licensee who is owner of the tower shall assume full responsibility for the installation and maintenance of any painting or lighting requirements. In the event of shared ownership, one licensee shall assume such responsibility and advise the Commission accordingly.

E. It is recommended that an emergency FM broadcast antenna be installed, or, alternately, an auxiliary transmission line or lines if feasible in the particular circumstances. Data thereon should be supplied with the application for construction permit; if proposed after station construction, an informal application should be submitted to the Commission.

When necessary for the protection of air navigation, the antenna and supporting structure shall be painted and illuminated in accordance with the specifications supplied by the Commission pursuant to section 303 (q) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

These individual specifications are issued for and attached to each authorization for an installation. The details of the specifications depend on the degree of hazard presented by the particular installation. The tower paint shall be kept in good condition and repainted as often as necessary to maintain this condition.

General information regarding painting and lighting requirements is contained in the Obstruction Marking Manual available from the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

SEC. 8. Transmitters and associated equipment—A. Electrical Performance Standards. The general design of the FM broadcast transmitting system (from input terminals of microphone pre-amplifier, through audio facilities at the studio, through lines or other circuits between studio and transmitter, through audio facilities at the transmitter, and through the transmitter, but excluding equalizers for the correction of deficiencies in microphone response) shall be in accordance with the following principles and specifications:

(1) Standard power ratings and operating power range of FM broadcast transmitters shall be in accordance with the following table:

250 watts	250 watts or less.
1 kw	250 watts–1 kw.
3 kw	1–3 kw.
10 kw	3–10 kw.
25 kw	10–25 kw.
50 kw	10–50 kw.
100 kw	50–100 kw.

Composite transmitters may be authorized with a power rating different from the above table, provided full data is supplied in the application concerning the basis employed in establishing the rating and the need therefor. The operating range of such transmitters shall be from one-third of the power rating to the power rating.

The transmitter shall operate satisfactorily in the operating power range with a frequency swing of ±75 kilocycles, which is defined as 100% modulation.

(2) The transmitting system shall be capable of transmitting a band of frequencies from 50 to 15,000 cycles. Pre-emphasis shall be employed in accordance with the impedance-frequency characteristic of a series inductance-resistance network having a time constant of 75 microseconds. (See Figure 3). The deviation of the system response from the standard pre-emphasis curve shall lie between two limits as shown in Figure 3. The upper of these limits shall be uniform (no deviation) from 50 to 15,000 cycles. The lower limit shall be uniform from 100 to 7500 cycles, and three db below the upper limit; from 100 to 50 cycles the lower limit shall fall from the three db limit at a uniform rate of one db per octave (four db at 50 cycles); from 7500 to 15,000 cycles the lower limit shall fall from the three db limit at a uniform rate of two db per octave (five db at 15,000 cycles).

(3) At any modulation frequency between 50 and 15,000 cycles and at modulation percentages of 25%, 50%, and 100%, the combined audio frequency harmonics measured in the output of the system shall not exceed the root-mean-square values given in the following table:

Modulating frequency:	Distortion (percent)
50 to 100 cycles	3.5

Measurements shall be made employing 75 microsecond de-emphasis in the measuring equipment and 75 microsecond pre-emphasis in the transmitting equipment, and without compression if a compression amplifier is employed. Harmonics shall be included to 30 kc.[3]

It is recommended that none of the three main divisions of the system (transmitter, studio to transmitter circuit, and audio facilities) contribute over one half of these percentages since at some frequencies the total distortion may become the arithmetic sum of the distortions of the divisions.

(4) The transmitting system output noise level (frequency modulation) in the band of 50 to 15,000 cycles shall be at least 60 decibels below the audio frequency level representing a frequency swing of ±75 kilocycles. The noise-measuring equipment shall be provided with standard 75-microsecond de-emphasis; the ballistic characteristics of the instrument shall be similar to those of the Standard VU Meter.

(5) The transmitting system output noise level (amplitude modulation) in the band of 50 to 15,000 cycles shall be at least 50 decibels below the level representing 100% amplitude modulation.

The noise-measuring equipment shall be provided with standard 75-microsecond de-emphasis; the ballistic characteristics of the instrument shall be similar to those of the Standard VU Meter.

(6) Automatic means shall be provided in the transmitter to maintain the assigned center frequency within the allowable tolerance (±2000 cycles).

(7) The transmitter shall be equipped with suitable indicating instruments for the determination of operating power and with other instruments as are necessary for proper adjustment, operation, and maintenance of the equipment (See section 9).

(8) Adequate provision shall be made for varying the transmitter output power to compensate for excessive variations in line voltage or for other factors affecting the output power.

(9) Adequate provision shall be provided in all component parts to avoid overheating at the rated maximum output power.

(10) Means should be provided for connection and continuous operation of approved frequency and modulation monitors.

(11) If a limiting or compression amplifier is employed, precaution should be maintained in its connection in the circuit due to the use of pre-emphasis in the transmitting system.

B. Construction. In general, the transmitter shall be constructed either on racks and panels or in totally enclosed frames protected as required by article 810 [4] of the National Electrical Code and set forth below:

(1) Means shall be provided for making all tuning adjustments, requiring voltages in excess of 350 volts to be applied to the circuit, from the front of the panels with all access doors closed.

(2) Proper bleeder resistors or other automatic means shall be installed across all capacitor banks to lower any voltage which may remain accessible with access door open to less than 350 volts within two seconds after the access door is opened.

(3) All plate supply and other high voltage equipment, including transformers, filters, rectifiers and motor generators, shall be protected so as to prevent injury to operating personnel.

(a) Commutator guards shall be provided on all high voltage rotating machinery. Coupling guards should be provided on motor generators.

(b) Power equipment and control panels of the transmitter shall meet the above requirements (exposed 220 volt AC switching equipment on the front of the power control panels is not recommended but is not prohibited.)

(c) Power equipment located at a broadcast station but not directly associated with the transmitter (not purchased as part of same), such as power distribution panels, are not under the jurisdiction of the Commission; therefore § 3.254 does not apply.

(4) Metering equipment. (a) All instruments having more than 1,000 volts potential to ground on the movement shall be protected by a cage or cover in addition to the regular case. (Some instruments are designed by the manufacturer to operate safely with voltages in excess of 1,000 volts on the movement. If it can be shown by the manufacturer's rating that the instrument will operate safely at the applied potential, additional protection is not necessary.)

(b) In case the plate voltmeter is located on the low potential side of the multiplier resistor with the potential of the high potential terminal of the instrument at or less than 1,000 volts above ground, no protective case is required. However, it is good practice to protect voltmeters subject to more than 5,000 volts with suitable overvoltage protective devices across the instrument terminals in case the winding opens.

(c) Transmission line meters and any other radio frequency instrument which may be necessary for the operator to read shall be so installed as to be easily and accurately read without the operator having to risk contact with circuits carrying high potential radio frequency energy.

(5) It is recommended that component parts comply as much as possible with the component specifications designated by the Army-Navy Electronics Standards Agency.

C. Wiring and shielding. (1) The transmitter panels or units shall be wired in accordance with standard switchboard practice, either with insulated leads properly cabled and supported or with rigid bus bar properly insulated and protected.

(2) Wiring between units of the transmitter, with the exception of circuits carrying radio frequency energy, shall be installed in conduits or approved fiber or metal raceways for protection from mechanical injury.

(3) Circuits carrying radio frequency energy between units shall be coaxial, two wire balanced lines, or properly shielded.

[3] See section 13 for measurement frequencies and other information.

[4] The pertinent sections of article 810 of the National Electrical Code read as follows:

"8191. General.—Transmitters shall comply with the following:

"a. Enclosing.—The transmitter shall be enclosed in a metal frame or grille, or separated from the operating space by a barrier or other equivalent means, all metallic parts of which are effectually connected to ground.

"b. Grounding of controls.—All external metallic handles and controls accessible to the operating personnel shall be effectually grounded. No circuit in excess of 150 volts shall have any parts exposed to direct contact. A complete dead-front type of switchboard is preferred.

"c. Interlocks on doors.—All access doors shall be provided with interlocks which will disconnect all voltages in excess of 350 volts when any access door is opened."

(4) All stages or units shall be adequately shielded and filtered to prevent interaction and radiation.

(5) The frequency and modulation monitors and associated radio frequency lines to the transmitter shall be thoroughly shielded.

D. Installation. (1) The installation shall be made in suitable quarters.

(2) Since an operator must be on duty during operation, suitable facilities for his welfare and comfort shall be provided.

E. Spare tubes. A spare tube of every type employed in the transmiter and frequency and modulation monitors shall be kept on hand at the equipment location. When more than one tube of any type are employed, the following table determines the number of spares of that type required:

Number of each type employed:	Spares required
6 to 8	3
9 or more	4

An accurate circuit diagram and list of required spare tubes, as furnished by the manufacturer of the equipment, shall be retained at the transmitter location.

F. Operation. In addition to specific requirements of the rules governing FM broadcast stations, the following operating requirements are specified:

(1) The maximum percentage of modulation shall be maintained in accordance with § 3.268. However precautions shall be taken so as not to substantially alter the dynamic characteristics of musical programs.

(2) Spurious emissions, including radio frequency harmonics, shall be maintained at as low a level as practicable at all times in accordance with good engineering practice.

(3) If a limiting or compression amplifier is employed, care should be maintained in its use due to pre-emphasis in the transmitting system.

G. Studio equipment. Studio equipment shall be subject to all the above requirements where applicable except as follows:

(1) If properly covered by an underwriter's certificate, it will be considered as satisfying safety requirements.

(2) Section 8191 of Article 810 of the National Electrical Code shall apply for voltages only in excess of 500 volts.

No specific requirements are made with regards to the microphones to be employed. However, microphone performance (including compensating networks, if employed) shall be compatible with the required performance of the transmitting system.

No specific requirements are made relative to the design and accoustical treatment of studios. However, the design of studios, particularly the main studio, shall be compatible with the required performance characteristics of FM broadcast stations.

SEC. 9. Indicating instruments. An FM broadcast transmitter shall be equipped with suitable indicating instruments of acceptable accuracy to measure (1) the direct plate voltage and current of the last radio stage, and (2) the main transmission line radio frequency current or voltage.

The following requirements and specifications shall apply to indicating instruments used by FM broadcast stations:

A. Instruments indicating the plate current or plate voltage of the last radio stage (linear scale instruments) shall meet the following specifications:

(1) Length of scale shall be not less than 2 3/10 inches.

(2) Accuracy shall be at least 2 percent of the full scale reading.

(3) Scale shall have at least 40 divisions.

(4) Full scale reading shall not be greater than five times the minimum normal indication.

B. Instruments indicating transmission line current or voltage shall meet the following specifications:

(1) Instruments having linear scales shall meet the requirements of A (1), (2), (3), and (4) above.

(2) Instruments having logarithmic or square law scales

(a) Shall meet requirements A (1) and (2) for linear scale instruments.

(b) Full scale reading shall not be greater than three times the minimum normal indication.

(c) No scale division above one-third full scale reading (in amperes) shall be greater than one-thirtieth of the full scale reading.

C. Radio frequency instruments having expanded scales:

(1) Shall meet requirements A (1), (2), and (4) for linear scale instruments.

(2) No scale division above one-fifth full scale reading (in amperes) shall be greater than one-fiftieth of the full scale reading.

(3) The meter face shall be marked with the words "Expanded Scale" of the abbreviation thereof (E. S.).

D. No instruments indicating the plate current or plate voltage of the last radio stage or the transmission line current or voltage shall be changed or replaced without written authority of the Commission, except by instruments of the same maximum scale readings and accuracy. Requests for authority to use an instrument of different maximum scale reading and/or accuracy shall be made by letter or telegram giving the manufacturer's name, type number, and full scale reading of the proposed instrument and the values of current or voltage the instrument will be employed to indicate. Requests for temporary authority to operate without an instrument may be made by letter or telegram stating the necessity therefor and the period involved.

E. No required instrument, the accuracy of which is questionable, shall be employed. Repairs and recalibration of instruments shall be made by the manufacturer, or by an authorized instrument repair service of the manufacturer, or by some other properly qualified and equipped instrument repair service. In any event the repaired instrument must be supplied with a certificate of calibration.

F. Recording instruments may be employed in addition to the indicating instruments to record the transmission line current or voltage and the direct plate current and/or direct plate voltage of the last radio stage, provided that they do not affect the operation of the circuits or accuracy of the indicating instruments. If the records are to be used in any proceeding before the Commission as representative of operation, the accuracy must be the equivalent of the indicating instruments and the calibration shall be checked at such intervals as to insure the retention of the accuracy.

G. The function of each instrument used in the equipment shall be clearly and permanently shown on the instrument itself or on the panel immediately adjacent thereto.

SEC. 10. Auxiliary transmitters. Auxiliary transmitters may not exceed the power rating or operating power range of the main transmitter, but need not conform to the performance characteristics specified by section 8 A (2) to 8 A (5) inclusive. The subsequent portions of section 8 apply to auxiliary transmitters.

SEC. 11. Operating power; determination and maintenance. A. The operating power of FM broadcast stations shall be determined by the indirect method. This is the product of the plate voltage (Ep) and the plate current (Ip) of the last radio stage, and an efficiency factor, F; that is:

$$\text{Operating power} = Ep \times Ip \times F$$

The efficiency factor, F, shall be established by the transmitter manufacturer for each type of transmitter for which he requests FCC approval, and shall be shown in the instruction books supplied to the customer with each transmitter. In the case of composite equipment the factor F shall be furnished to the Commission by the applicant along with a statement of the basis used in determining such factor.

B. The operating power shall be maintained as near as practicable to the authorized operating power, and shall not exceed the limits of 5 percent above and 10 percent below the authorized power except in emergencies. In the event it becomes impossible to operate with the authorized power, the station may be operated with reduced power for a period of 10 days or less provided the Commission and the Inspector in Charge [4] of the district in which the station is located shall be notified in writing immediately thereafter and also upon the resumption of normal operating power.

SEC. 12. Frequency and modulation monitors at auxiliary transmitters. Sections 3.252 and 3.253 require that each FM broadcast station have approved frequency and modulation monitors in operation at the transmitter. The following shall govern the installation of approved frequency and modulation monitors at auxiliary transmitters of FM broadcast stations in compliance with these rules:

In case the auxiliary transmitter location is at a site different from that of the main transmitter, an approved frequency monitor shall be installed at the auxiliary transmitter except when the frequency of the auxiliary transmitter can be monitored by means of the frequency monitor at the main transmitter. When the auxiliary transmitter is operated without a frequency monitor under this exemption, it shall be monitored by means of the frequency monitor at the main transmitter.

The licensee will be held strictly responsible for any center frequency deviation of the auxiliary transmitter in excess of 2000 cycles from the assigned frequency, even though exempted by the above from installing an approved frequency monitor.

Installation of an approved modulation monitor at the location of the auxiliary transmitter, when different from that of the main transmitter, is optional with the licensee. However, when it is necessary to operate the auxiliary transmitter beyond two calendar days, a modulation monitor shall be installed and operated at the auxiliary transmitter. The monitor (if taken from the main transmitter) shall be reinstalled at the main transmitter immediately upon resumption of operation of the main transmitter.

In all cases where the auxiliary transmitter and the main transmitter have the same location, the same frequency and modulation monitors may be used for monitoring both transmitters, provided they are so arranged as to be readily switched from one transmitter to the other.

SEC. 13. Requirements for type approval of transmitters. [5] Section 3.254 of the rules and section 8 of these Standards concern the design, construction and technical operation of FM broadcast station equipment. In order to facilitate the filing of and action on applications for construction permits specifying equipment of standard manufacture, the Commission will approve, as complying with the technical requirements, such equipment by type, subject to the following conditions and in accordance with the following procedure:

A. Approval of equipment by the Commission is only to the effect that insofar as can be determined from the data supplied, the equipment complies with the current requirements of good engineering practice and the current technical rules and regulations of the Commission. The approval may be withdrawn upon subsequent inspection or operation showing the equipment is not as represented or does not comply with the technical rules and regulations of the Commission and the requirements of good engineering practice.

B. Such approval shall not be construed to mean that the equipment will be satisfactory as the state of the art progresses and/or as the rules and regulations of the Commission may be changed as deemed advisable.

C. Applicants specifying equipment of approved manufacture need not submit detailed descriptions and diagrams where the correct type number is specified: Provided, That the equipment proposed is identical with that approved.

D. In passing on equipment, no consideration is given by the Commission to patent rights.

E. For approval of FM broadcast transmitters, manufacturers shall submit FCC Form 319 completed with respect to all pertinent sections (two sworn copies). In addition or included therein shall be the data set forth below, all of which shall be verified before a notary public.

(1) Photographs or drawings, or any other evidence that construction is in accordance with the requirements of good engineering practice.

(2) Data and curves showing over-all audio frequency response from 50 to 15,000 cycles for approximately 25, 50 and 100 percent modulation. Measurements shall be made on at least the following modulation frequencies: 50, 100, 400, 5000, 10,000 and 15,000 cycles. This shall be plotted below a standard 75 microsecond pre-emphasis curve (see Figure 3).

(3) Data on audio frequency harmonics for 25, 50 and 100 percent modulation for the fundamental frequencies of 50, 100, 400, 1000 and 5000 cycles. Data on audio frequency harmonics for 100 percent modulation for fundamental frequencies of 10,000 and 15,000 cycles. Measurements shall include harmonics to 30,000 cycles. (Measurements at 10,000 and 15,000 cycles at 25 and 50 percent modulation are not practical at this time, due to the deemphasis in the measuring equipment.)

(4) Carrier hum and extraneous noise (AM and FM) generated within the equipment and measured as the level below 100 percent modulation.

(5) Means of varying output power to compensate for power supply voltage variations.

(6) Data and curves on mean frequency stability for variations in ambient temperatures over the ranges encountered in practice.

(7) Data and curves on frequency stability for variations in power supply voltage from 85 to 115 percent normal.

(8) Net sale price.

F. In case any manufacturer decides to produce a 100 kw transmitter and submit data on it for approval, or any power rating not listed as standard, he shall give notice to the Commission which will release by public notice the manufacturer's name and the standard power rating of the transmitter to be produced at least six months prior to the delivery date or completion of such transmitter.

SEC. 14. Requirements for type approval of frequency monitors. [6]

Section 3.252 of the rules requires each FM broadcast station to have in operation, at the transmitter, an approved frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter. The frequency monitor shall be approved by the Commission and shall have a stability and accuracy of at least one-half (±1000 cycles) of the permitted frequency deviation of the FM broadcast station. Visual indication of the operating frequency shall be provided.

A. General requirements. In general a frequency monitor for FM broadcast stations requires a stable source of radio frequency energy whose frequency is accurately known and a means of comparing the transmitter center frequency with this stable source. The visual indicator is calibrated to indicate the deviation of the transmitter center frequency from the frequency assigned.

Approval of a frequency monitor for FM broadcast stations will be considered on the basis of data submitted by the manufacturer. Any manufacturer desiring to submit a monitor for approval shall supply the Commission with full details (two sworn copies).

In approving a frequency monitor based on these tests and specifications, the Commission merely recognizes that the type of monitor has the inherent capability of functioning in compliance with § 3.252, if properly constructed, maintained and operated. The Commission accepts no responsibility beyond this and further realizes that monitors may have a limited range over which the visual indicator will determine deviations. Accordingly, it may be necessary that adjunct equipment be used to determine major deviations.

No change whatsoever will be permitted in the monitors sold under approval number issued by the Commission except when the licensee or the manufacturer is specifically authorized to make such changes. When it is desired to make any change, either mechanical or electrical, the details shall be submitted to the Commission for its consideration.

Approval is given subject to withdrawal if the unit proves defective in service and cannot be relied upon under usual conditions of maintenance and operation encountered in the average FM broadcast station. Withdrawal of approval means that no further units may be installed by FM broadcast stations for the purpose of complying with § 3.252; however, this will not affect units already sold unless it is found that there has been an unauthorized change in design or construction or that the material or workmanship is defective.

B. General specifications. The general specifications that frequency monitors shall meet before they will be approved by the Commission are as follows: [7]

(1) The unit shall have an accuracy of at least ±1000 cycles under ordinary conditions (temperature, humidity, power supply variations and other conditions which may affect its accuracy) encountered in FM broadcast stations throughout the United States, for any channel within the FM broadcast band.

(2) The range of the indicating device shall be at least from 2000 cycles below to 2000 cycles above the assigned center frequency.

[5] Tentative standard.

[6] In connection with its type approval of FM equipment, the Commission may send a representative to observe tests made of such equipment by the manufacturer.

(3) The scale of the indicating device shall be so calibrated as to be accurately read within at least 100 cycles.

(4) Means shall be provided for adjustment of the monitor indication to agree with an external standard.

(5) The monitor shall be capable of continuous operation and its circuit shall be such as to permit continuous monitoring of the transmitter center frequency.

(6) Operation of the monitor shall have no deleterious effect on the operation of the transmitter or the signal emitted therefrom.

C. Tests to be made for approval of FM broadcast frequency monitors. The manufacturer of a monitor shall submit data on the following at the time of requesting approval:

(1) Constancy of oscillator frequency, as measured several times in one month.

(2) Constancy of oscillator frequency when subjected to vibration tests which would correspond to the treatment received in shipping, handling and installing the instrument.

(3) Accuracy of readings of the frequency deviation instrument.

(4) Functioning of frequency adjustment device.

(5) Effects on frequency and readings, of the changing of tubes, of voltage variations, and of variations of room temperature through a range not to exceed 10° to 40° C.

(6) Response of indicating instrument to small changes of frequency.

(7) General information on the effect of tilting or tipping or other tests to determine ability of equipment to withstand shipment.

Various other tests may be made or required, such as effects of variation of input from the transmitter depending upon the character of the apparatus.

Tests shall be conducted in such a manner as to approximate actual operating conditions as nearly as possible. The equipment under test shall be operated on any channel in the FM broadcast band.

SEC. 15. Requirements for type Approval of Modulation Monitors.[6] Section 3.253 requires each FM broadcast station to have an approved modulation monitor in operation at the transmitter. This monitor may or may not be a part of the FM broadcast frequency monitor. Approval of a modulation monitor for FM broadcast stations will be considered on the basis of data submitted by the manufacturer. Any manufacturer desiring to submit a monitor for approval shall supply the Commission with full details (two sworn copies).

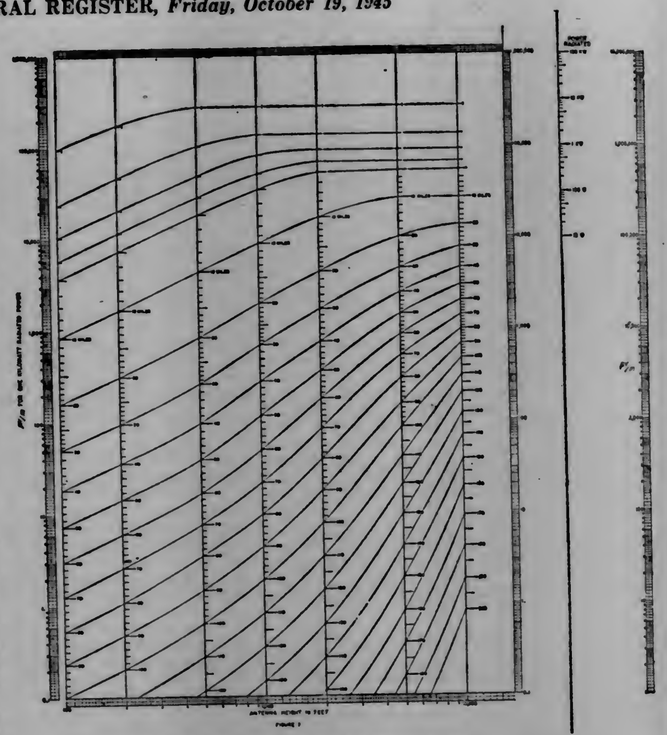
The specifications that the modulation monitor shall meet before it will be approved by the Commission are as follows: [7]

A. A device for setting the transmitter input to the modulation monitor.

B. A modulation peak indicating device that can be set at any predetermined value from 50 to 120 percent modulation

[6] Tentative standard.

[7] In connection with its type approval of FM equipment, the Commission may send a representative to observe tests made of such equipment by the manufacturer.



GROUND WAVE SIGNAL RANGE FOR FM BROADCASTING

(±75 kc swing is defined as 100 percent modulation) and for either positive or negative swings (i. e., either above or below transmitter center frequency).

C. An indicator using a meter having the characteristics and scale of a standard VU meter. A switch shall be provided so this meter will read either positive or negative swings. The accuracy of reading of percentage of modulation shall be within ±5 percent modulation percentage at any percentage of modulation up to 100 percent modulation.

D. The frequency characteristic curve shall not depart from a straight line more than ± ½ db from 50 to 15,000 cycles. Distortion shall be kept to a minimum.

E. The monitor shall not absorb appreciable power from the transmitter.

F. Operation of the monitor shall have no deleterious effect on the operation of the transmitter.

G. General design, construction and operation shall be in accordance with good engineering practice.

NOTICE OF CONTINUED HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency has continued the public hearing upon proposals contained in the notice of hearing published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 16, 1945 (10 F.R. 7266) relative to the matter of fixing and establishing reasonable definitions and standards of identity for raw shucked oysters, to 10 o'clock in the forenoon of November 27, 1945 in Room 117 of the Federal Office Building, First Avenue and Madison Street, Seattle, State of Washington, and thereafter to 10 o'clock in the forenoon of January 15, 1946 in Room 5440 of the Social Security Building, corner Fourth Street and Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D. C., at which times and places the taking of evidence on said proposals will be resumed.

The evidence which was received in this matter at Washington, D. C., on July 17, July 18 and August 14, 1945, together with the evidence to be received hereafter, pursuant to this notice, will constitute the evidence of record at the hearing on which the order of the Administrator will be based.

Edward E. Turkel, heretofore designated as presiding officer to conduct the hearing in the place of the Administrator, will continue to conduct the hearing with full authority to administer oaths and affirmations and do all other things appropriate to the conduct of the hearings.

The hearing will be conducted in accordance with the rules of practice provided therefor (21 CFR Cum. Supp. 2.701 to 2.715).

At the hearing the evidence will be restricted to testimony and exhibits that are relevant and material to the matters contained in the suggested regulations.

Suggested regulations for consideration at the hearing, as set forth in the notice of June 16, 1945 (10 F.R. 7266) and which are subject to adoption, rejection, amendment, modification in whole or in part, as the evidence of record adduced at the hearing may require, are set forth below.

§ 36.0 Raw oysters, shucked oysters; identity. (a) Raw oysters, shucked oysters, are the class of foods each of which is obtained by shucking shell oysters after the shell has been freed from adhering mud, and preparing them in accordance with the procedure prescribed in paragraph (b). The name of each such food is the name specified in the applicable definition and standard of identity prescribed in §§ 36.1 to 36.5, inclusive.

(b) If water, or salt water containing less than ____ percent (to be fixed within the range of 0.5 to 0.75 percent) of salt, is used in any vessel into which the oysters are shucked, the combined volume of oysters and liquid when such oysters are emptied from such vessel, is not less than four times the volume of such water or such salt water. After emptying from such vessel, the oysters are drained, and washed by blowing or otherwise with water or salt water, or both. If the oysters are blown in water, or in salt water containing less than ____ percent (to be fixed within the range of 0.50 to 0.75 percent) of salt, the total time of blowing is not more than 3 minutes. The total time after delivery by the shucker that the oysters are in contact with water, or salt water containing less than ____ percent salt, including the time of any blowing, the time of any rinsing, and the time of any other contact with water or salt water containing less than ____ percent salt, is not more than 30 minutes. Before packing in the container for shipment or other delivery for consumption, the oysters are thoroughly drained and are packed without added water or salt water.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) "Shell oysters" means live oysters in the shell, which, after removal from their beds, have not been floated or otherwise held under conditions which result in the addition of water.

(2) "Shucking" means the removal of the oysters from their shells in such a manner that the oysters are not mutilated and are reasonably free from pieces of shell.

(3) "Thoroughly drained" means that the wash water or other liquid has been drained from the oysters so that when the oysters are tested promptly after packing by draining a representative sample gallon of oysters on a skimmer for 2 minutes, not more than ____ percent (to be fixed within the range of 2 to 4 percent) by weight or volume of liquid is removed by such draining.

(4) "Freed from adhering mud" means that adhering mud is removed to such an extent that the shucked oysters when washed by blowing or otherwise, as specified in paragraph (b) are sufficiently clean for packing.

§ 36.1 Extra large raw oysters, extra large shucked oysters; identity. (a) Extra large raw oysters, extra large shucked oysters, conform to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for raw oysters by § 36.0, and are of such size that one gallon contains not more than 160 oysters, and a quart of the smallest oysters selected therefrom contains not more than 44 oysters.

(b) An alternate name for extra large raw oysters which belong to the genus Ostrea gigas or Ostrea cucullata is "Pacific oysters".

§ 36.2 Large raw oysters, large shucked oysters; identity. Large raw oysters, large shucked oysters, conform to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for raw oysters by § 36.0 and are of such size that one gallon contains more than 160 oysters but not more than 210 oysters; a quart of the smallest oysters selected therefrom contains not more than 58 oysters, and a quart of the largest oysters selected therefrom contains more than 36 oysters.

§ 36.3 Medium raw oysters, medium shucked oysters; identity. Medium raw oysters, medium shucked oysters, conform to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for raw oysters by § 36.0 and are of such size that one gallon contains more than 210 oysters but not more than 270 oysters; a quart of the smallest oysters selected therefrom contains not more than 75 oysters, and a quart of the largest oysters selected therefrom contains more than 46 oysters.

§ 36.4 Small raw oysters, small shucked oysters; identity. Small raw oysters, small shucked oysters, conform to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for raw oysters by § 36.0 and are of such size that one gallon contains more than 270 oysters but not more than 450 oysters; a quart of the smallest oysters selected therefrom contains not more than 124 oysters and a quart of the largest oysters selected therefrom contains more than 61 oysters.

§ 36.5 Very small raw oysters, very small shucked oysters; identity. (a) Very small raw oysters, very small shucked oysters, conform to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for raw oysters by § 36.0 and are of such size that one gallon contains more than 450 oysters, and a quart of the largest oysters selected therefrom contains more than 100 oysters.

(b) An alternate name for very small raw oysters which belong to the genus Ostrea lurida is "Olympia oysters".

The adjusted maximum prices are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts and allowances on sales of the same or similar articles to each class of purchaser.

(b) Maximum prices for purchasers at wholesale for resale. A person who hereafter buys an article covered by this order at wholesale for resale and resells it in substantially the same form, may collect from his customer, in addition to his properly established price in effect prior to the issuance of this order, an adjustment charge in the same amount as the adjustment charge herein authorized for and which he pays to his supplier. If such a purchaser did not have an established price for sales of the article prior to the issuance of this order, he may add the same adjustment charge to the maximum price which he hereafter establishes for his sales under the applicable price regulation.

If the applicable regulation requires maximum resale prices to be computed on the basis of costs, the reseller must find his maximum prices (without permitted adjustment charge) by using as cost his invoice costs not including any adjustment charges stated on the invoice. On all sales, except sales to ultimate consumers, these additional adjustment charges may be made and collected only if they are separately stated on each invoice. The adjusted maximum prices are subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts and allowances on sales of the same or similar articles to each class of purchaser.

(c) Notification. At the time of or prior to first invoice to a purchaser for resale on and after the effective date of this order, showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the seller shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established by paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resales of the article. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

(d) All requests not specifically granted by this order are hereby denied.

(e) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(f) This order shall become effective on the 17th day of October 1945.

Issued this 16th day of October 1945.

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices. Shelbyville Desk Company of Shelbyville, Indiana, may sell and deliver the wood office furniture which it manufactures at prices no higher than its maximum prices in effect immediately prior to the issuance of this order plus an adjustment charge of 6.4% of each such maximum price.

The maximum prices of the manufacturer, as adjusted, are subject to its customary terms, discounts, allowances and other price differentials in effect during March, 1942 on sales to each class of purchaser.

(b) Maximum prices of purchasers for resale. A person who hereafter buys an article covered by this order and resells it in substantially the same form, may collect from his customer, in addition to his properly established maximum price in effect immediately before this order was issued, an adjustment charge in the same amount as the adjustment charge herein authorized and which he pays to his supplier. If he did not have a maximum price in effect for the article at the time this order was issued, he may add the same adjustment charge to the maximum price which he hereafter establishes for his sales under the applicable regulation. If the applicable regulation requires the maximum resale price to be computed on the basis of cost the reseller must find his maximum resale price (not including the permitted adjustment charge) by using as cost his invoice cost less any adjustment charge stated on the invoice as a separate amount.

On all sales this adjustment charge may be made and collected only if it is separately stated on each invoice. The adjusted price is subject to each seller's customary terms, discounts and allowances on sales of the same or similar articles.

(c) Notification. At the time of, or prior to, the first invoice to a purchaser for resale, showing a price adjusted in accordance with the terms of this order, the manufacturer shall notify the purchaser in writing of the method established in paragraph (b) of this order for determining adjusted maximum prices for resale of the articles covered by this order. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

C., a detailed quarterly profit and loss statement, within thirty days after the close of each quarter.

(e) This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(a) Manufacturer's maximum prices for all sales except at retail. Winter and Company, 849 East 141st Street, New York, New York, herein called the manufacturer, may use the following method to adjust its maximum prices, in effect prior to October 7, 1944, for all sales except sales at retail of new pianos of its manufacture.

(1) Subtract the Federal excise tax and any amount for freight which is included in the price to each class of purchaser.

(2) To this figure add 35.33% thereof.

(3) The result is the new maximum price to each class of purchaser. The Federal excise tax payable on that maximum price and any freight deducted may be added.

(b) Maximum prices for sales at retail. The maximum retail price for a sale or delivery by the manufacturer on or after August 17, 1945, or by a retailer (except a mail order house), of a piano which he receives on or after August 17, 1945 is the total of the following, adjusted upward or downward to the nearest dollar.

(1) The manufacturer's highest maximum price to retailers as established under paragraph (a) of this order (exclusive of freight and Federal excise tax).

(2) The applicable markup of the following: If the manufacturer's highest maximum price (exclusive of freight and Federal excise tax), is:

(i) Not more than $225, add 69% of such maximum price.

(ii) Between $225.01 and $338.00, add 66% of such maximum price, or $155.25, whichever is greater.

(iii) Between $338.01 and $564.00, add 61% of such maximum price, or $223.08, whichever is greater.

(iv) Over $564.00, add 58% of such maximum price, or $344.04, whichever is greater.

The maximum retail prices as computed include the Federal excise tax and the permissible charge for freight. No additional amounts may be added thereto on account of these terms. Each seller at retail shall continue to furnish the services he customarily furnished in March 1942 on the sale of a new piano, as, for example, free delivery, tuning, etc. In addition, a seller at retail shall continue in effect, terms, discounts, trade-in and other allowances no less favorable to the purchaser than he allowed in March 1942. Local and state taxes and credit charges (in accordance with paragraph (i) of Revised Order 2525) may be added, together with other price differentials for which the seller at retail customarily made a separately stated charge during March 1942.

(c) Applicability of provisions of Revised Order 2525. The following paragraphs of Revised Order 2525 are specifically applicable to the pianos for which adjusted maximum prices are established by this order:

(e) Manufacturer's maximum prices for new or changed models.
(f) Tagging.
(h) Adjustment, correction, and revocation of maximum prices.
(i) Credit charges.
(j) Definitions.
(k) Relationship between this order, the General Maximum Price Regulation and Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

[File Nos. 54–132, 70–1149, 70–1150]

ENGINEERS PUBLIC SERVICE CO. ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING OF PLAN AND DECLARATIONS TO EFFECTUATE RELATED TRANSACTIONS, ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS, AND ORDER FOR HEARING ON CONSOLIDATED MATTERS

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 15th day of October, 1945.

In the matter of Engineers Public Service Company, File No. 54–132; El Paso Electric Company, File No. 70–1149; Gulf States Utilities Company, File No. 70–1150.

The Commission having previously instituted proceedings pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (File No. 59–4) with respect to Engineers Public Service Company (Engineers), a registered holding company, and each of its subsidiaries, to determine what action is necessary in order that the Engineers holding company system shall so limit its operations as to comply with the standards of that section; and

The Commission having entered orders on July 23, 1941, December 29, 1941 and September 16, 1942, pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the act, directing Engineers to sever its relationship with certain of its subsidiary companies by disposing or causing the disposition of its direct and indirect ownership, control and holding of securities issued and properties owned, controlled or operated by certain of its subsidiary companies; a petition to review the Commission's order of September 16, 1942 having been filed with the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which Court set aside the order of the Commission and remanded the case to the Commission for further proceedings in accordance with its opinion; and both the Commission and Engineers having applied to the Supreme Court of the United States for writs of certiorari which have been granted and before which court the review proceeding is now pending; and Engineers having partially complied with such orders of the Commission by disposing of certain investments ordered divested therein, but still retaining investments in four public utility subsidiaries, namely, El Paso Electric Company (El Paso), Gulf States Utilities Company (Gulf States), Virginia Electric and Power Company (Virginia) and The Western Public Service Company (Western):

Notice is hereby given that Engineers has filed an application for approval of a plan pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 for the divestment of its interests in El Paso and Gulf States; and that El Paso and Gulf States, for the purpose of facilitating the effectuation of such plan, have filed declarations pursuant to section 7 of said act regarding the reclassification of their respective shares of common stock. The plan consists of Parts I, II, and III and separate orders are requested on each of said parts. It is stated that it is not expected that any portion of this plan shall be consummated until after the decision of the Supreme Court in the review proceeding referred to above. The plan, as filed, does not contain any request for court enforcement.

All interested persons are referred to said documents which are on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized below:

1. Engineers proposes to borrow $3,000,000 from a bank, such loan to be evidenced by a two-year note, payable $750,000 semiannually. The loan agreement is to contain a provision for the borrowing of additional amounts, if needed, which provision is to be availed of in the event Western is not sold before the effective date of Part I of the plan or for any other reason. The agreement is to provide further that Engineers shall not, until the bank note is fully paid, pay any dividends in cash on its common stock.

2. Engineers then proposes to mail warrants to its common stockholders, each of which warrants will evidence the right to acquire from Engineers one share of Gulf States common stock for each share of Engineers common stock at the rate of $11.50 per share to be payable in cash or by exchanging whole shares of Engineers preferred stock at the rate of $100 per share plus accrued dividends, with a cash payment for the difference between the exchange value of Engineers preferred stocks and Gulf States common stock: Provided, however, That Engineers may withhold the mailing of such warrants in the event that, in its opinion, market conditions are such as to render it inadvisable to proceed with the issuance of such warrants. The warrants must be exercised on or before a specified date (to be approximately ten days after the mailing of the warrants). Upon the mailing of such warrants, Part I of the plan is then to be deemed effective. All warrants will be registered in the names of the common stockholders and will be transferable on the books of Engineers. Such warrants will be issued and distributed without the surrender by the common stockholders of Engineers of their common stock. Furthermore, any holder of Engineers preferred stock who surrenders such stock in exchange for Gulf States common stock will be entitled to receive, in respect to such surrendered shares, the same amount, if any, which preferred stockholders depositing their stock under the provisions of the following paragraph herein receive, in addition to $100 a share. To the extent warrants are not exercised, Engineers will sell the shares of Gulf States common stock represented thereby as promptly thereafter and in such manner as the Board of Directors of Engineers deems to be in the best interest of Engineers, subject to the obtaining of the requisite regulatory approvals.

3. Engineers will deposit an amount equal to $100 per share plus accrued dividends for each share of Engineers preferred stock not surrendered in exchange for Gulf States common stock as provided in paragraph 2 above (which sum is to be realized from the bank loan, the exercise of the warrants and the remaining balance from treasury cash) in trust with a bank or trust company for the benefit of its preferred stockholders. Five days prior to such deposit notice will be given to the preferred stockholders and will state that upon surrender of the preferred stock certificates to a Transfer Agent, the preferred stockholders will be paid $100 per share plus accrued dividends; and from and after the date of such deposit, dividends on the preferred stock are to cease. Thereafter the only right remaining to the registered holder of a preferred stock certificate will be the right to receive an additional amount, if any, as is determined to be payable as provided in Part II below.

4. Engineers will distribute as a dividend in partial liquidation its portfolio holdings of common stock of El Paso pro rata to the common stockholders of Engineers on the basis of ⅓th of a share of El Paso common stock for each share of common stock of Engineers. No fractional shares of common stock will be issued or delivered, but in lieu thereof scrip will be issued and delivered. Such scrip will not be entitled to dividends, voting rights or any other stockholders' rights. When combined in lots aggregating one or more full shares of stock, scrip may, up to the date of sale of such shares of stock, be exchanged for such shares, together with any dividends which shall have been paid to stockholders of record on any date subsequent to the effective date of Part I of the plan. Engineers proposes to undertake to provide facilities whereby any holder of scrip certificates may dispose of such scrip, or acquire additional scrip so as to enable the holder to exchange such scrip for full shares of stock. All shares of stock reserved for issuance and delivery upon the exchange of scrip which shall not have been issued or delivered in connection with such exchange within two years after the effective date of Part I, shall, promptly after the expiration of such period, be sold by the Transfer Agent and the Transfer Agent shall, as soon as possible thereafter, distribute to the holders of scrip certificates not theretofore surrendered their proportionate part of the proceeds of sale, plus their proportionate part of any dividends which shall have been declared to holders of record as of a date prior to the date of sale.

5. In order to provide a reserve for the payment, if any, to which Engineers' preferred stockholders shall be held to be entitled in addition to $100 per share and accrued dividends, Engineers will retain its interest in the Virginia common stock until a final determination is so made.

6. Epsco, Inc., a mutual service company for the Engineers holding company system, will cancel its service contracts with Engineers, Virginia, El Paso, and Gulf States.

The plan provides that the consummation of Part I of the plan is dependent upon the satisfaction of certain conditions, among others, as follows:

(a) The Commission, when requested by Engineers, shall have instituted a proceeding in a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act and such court shall have entered a separate decree or order finding Part I of the plan to be fair and equitable and appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 of the act and such court shall have taken action to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of Part I of the plan;

(b) There shall have been obtained from the United States Treasury Department (unless Engineers, in its discretion, shall waive this condition) a closing agreement or ruling or closing agreements or rulings as to the tax consequences of the transactions necessary to carry out Part I of the plan and such agreements or rulings shall be satisfactory to counsel for Engineers; and

(c) Any corporate action in connection with Part I of the plan, which may be deemed necessary by counsel for Engineers shall have been carried out in a manner satisfactory to such counsel.

Part II of the plan requests that the Commission issue a separate order finding that it is fair and equitable that no amount in addition to $100 per share and accrued dividends be paid the Engineers preferred stockholders. However, it is: Provided That if the Commission finds and orders that some additional amount shall be paid to the preferred stockholders of Engineers, then and in such event Part II of the plan becomes automatically amended so as to provide that Engineers shall pay its preferred stockholders such additional amount as the Commission shall have so specified; Provided, however, That Engineers reserves the right to petition for a review of any such order.

Part III provides that within one year after all liabilities of Engineers have been finally determined and liquidated, Engineers will be legally dissolved and liquidated, with the remaining common stock of Virginia and the other remaining assets of Engineers being distributed pro rata to the Engineers common stockholders, or Engineers will be merged with Virginia with the Engineers common stockholders receiving their pro rata interest in the merged company. The details of Part III are to be supplied at a later date by amendment to this Part of the plan.

The plan provides that the consummation of Part III of the plan is dependent upon the satisfaction of certain conditions, among others, as follows:

(a) There shall have been obtained from the United States Treasury Department (unless Engineers, in its discretion, shall waive this condition) a closing agreement or ruling or closing agreements or rulings as to the tax consequences of the transactions necessary to carry out Part III of the plan, and such agreements or rulings shall have been satisfactory to counsel for Engineers; and

(b) Any corporate action in connection with Part III of the plan which may be deemed necessary by counsel for Engineers shall have been carried out in a manner satisfactory to such counsel.

Engineers has requested the Commission to issue appropriate orders and findings in connection with the proposed transactions hereinabove described in Parts I and III of the plan to conform and contain the recitations and requirements of Supplement R and section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended.

In connection with the proposed reclassification of the common stocks of El Paso and Gulf States so as to enable Engineers to effectuate properly the carrying out of paragraphs 2 and 4 of Part I of the plan above, El Paso and Gulf States have filed with the Commission separate declarations under section 7 of the Act requesting, in effect, that the Commission issue orders at the same time or prior to the time it issues orders under Part I of the plan so as to enable both companies to amend their respective charters prior to the consummation of Part I of the plan.

El Paso proposes in its filing (File No. 70–1149) to amend its charter in order to change its presently authorized 150,000 shares of no par value common stock which are presently outstanding and held by Engineers into 381,994 shares of no par value common stock.

Gulf States proposes in its filing (File No. 70–1150) to amend its charter in order to (1) decrease its presently authorized 300,000 shares of no par value common stock by eliminating therefrom 20,000 shares of no par value common stock not heretofore issued and not now outstanding, (2) change the authorized 280,000 shares of no par value common stock which are presently outstanding and held by Engineers into 1,909,968 shares of no par value common stock and (3) change the voting rights of the holders of 120,000 shares of preferred stock of Gulf States now issued and outstanding so that in lieu of one vote per share of preferred stock, each share of preferred stock shall be entitled to seven votes.

El Paso and Gulf States have also requested the Commission to issue appropriate orders and findings in connection with the proposed transactions described above to conform and contain the recitations and requirements of Supplement R and section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended.

It appearing to the Commission that the proceedings with respect to said plan and said declarations are related to and involve common questions of law and fact and therefore should be consolidated; and

It further appearing to the Commission that it is proper and in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said plan and said declarations, and that said plan should not be approved and that said declarations should not become effective, except pursuant to further order of the Commission; and

It further appearing appropriate in view of the Commission's order of September 16, 1942 and of the provisions of section 11 (d) with respect to court enforcement of such an order, to provide opportunity for hearing, as part of these consolidated proceedings, as to whether the Commission should approve any plan of reorganization of Engineers that may be hereafter proposed by the Commission in the first instance or by any person having a bona fide interest in the reorganization;

It is hereby ordered, That the proceedings on the plan (File No. 54–132) and the declarations (Files Nos. 70–1149 and 70–1150) be, and hereby are, consolidated.

It is further ordered, That a hearing be held at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., on the 13th day of November, 1945, at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, in such room as may be designated on such day by the hearing room clerk in Room 318. All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceedings should notify the Commission in the manner provided by its Rules of Practice, Rule XVII, on or before the 9th day of November, 1945.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearings in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented in the consolidated proceedings, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the plan, as proposed or as modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and is, in all respects, fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby.

2. Whether the proposed retirement of the $5, $5.50 and $6 Preferred Stocks of Engineers at $100 per share plus accrued dividends without payment of any amount in excess thereof is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) and fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, and, if not, what payment for the retirement of such preferred stocks would be fair and equitable.

3. Whether the securities proposed to be issued by El Paso and Gulf States meet the requirements of section 7 of the act.

4. Whether the proposed issuance of a $3,000,000 bank note and the proposed issuance of warrants by Engineers are necessary to effectuate compliance with section 11 (b) and conform with the standards of section 7.

5. Whether the plan should be modified to include a provision for the payment by Engineers of all fees and expenses by whomsoever incurred in connection with said plan or the proceedings with respect thereto which the Commission may determine, award, allow or allocate and whether the fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the consummation of the plan and all transactions incidental thereto are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount.

6. Whether the accounting entries in connection with the proposed transactions are in conformity with the standards of the Act and the Rules promulgated thereunder.

7. Whether, in the event the Commission shall approve such plan as filed or modified, the Commission shall approve such plan for purposes of section 11 (d) of the Act so as to permit the Commission on its own motion and irrespective of request therefor on the part of Engineers, to apply to a court for enforcement of such plan pursuant to section 11 (d), or whether, in the event that the Commission shall not approve such plan as filed or as modified, a plan proposed by the Commission or by any person having a bona fide interest in the reorganization of Engineers should be approved by the Commission for purposes of section 11 (d), and, if proposed by the Commission, what the terms and provisions of such plan should be.

8. Whether, if the transactions proposed are authorized by the Commission, it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that any terms and conditions be imposed in connection with such authorization and, if so, what such terms and conditions should be.

9. Generally, whether the proposed plan and all transactions incidental thereto are, in all respects, in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder.

It is further ordered, that jurisdiction be reserved to separate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues, questions or matters herein set forth or which may arise in these proceedings or to consolidate with these proceedings other filings or matters pertaining to the subject matter of these proceedings, and to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt and economical disposition of the matters involved.

It is further ordered, That notice of this hearing be given to Engineers, El Paso and Gulf States and to all other interested persons, said notice to be given to Engineers, El Paso and Gulf States by registered mail and to all other interested persons by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That Engineers give notice of this hearing to all its stockholders of record by mailing a communication giving the date, hour and place of hearing to each of said persons at his last known address at least 15 days prior to the date of the hearing and also advising that the company will, if requested, furnish copies of this notice and order for hearing to said persons.

By the Commission.

The Commission having on September 26, 1945 issued its order herein under the applicable sections of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 approving and permitting to become effective an application and declaration, as amended, of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, an electric and gas utility company and a subsidiary of National Power & Light Company, a registered holding company, which in turn is a subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, also a registered holding company, with respect to the issue and public sale by Pennsylvania Power & Light Company of $93,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds ----% Series, due 1975 and $27,000,000 principal amount of Sinking Fund Debentures, ----%, due 1965 in accordance with Rule U-50 (b) promulgated under said Act; and

The Commission in said order having reserved jurisdiction over the price to be paid for such bonds and debentures, their redemption prices, the interest rates thereon, the underwriters' spreads and their allocation, and all legal fees to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions; and

Pennsylvania Power & Light Company having filed an amendment to said application and declaration with respect to the bonds on October 3, 1945 setting forth the results of the competitive bidding thereon and stating that Pennsylvania Power & Light Company had accepted the bid of the group headed by Smith, Barney & Co. and the Commission having approved the price specified in such bid continuing its reservation of jurisdiction, however, over the price to be paid for the debentures, the redemption prices thereon, the interest rates thereon, and the underwriters' spread and its allocation, the bids on which were proposed to be opened on October 16, 1945; and

Pennsylvania Power & Light Company having filed a further amendment to said application and declaration stating that in accordance with the permission granted by said order of the Commission dated September 26, 1945, it offered said debentures for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and on October 16, 1945, received the following bids:

Said amendment further stating that Pennsylvania Power & Light Company has accepted the bid of the group headed by Smith, Barney & Co. for the debentures as set out above and that the debentures will be offered for sale to the public at a price of 101.50%, resulting in an underwriters' spread of .7401; and

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein, and finding no reasons for imposing terms or conditions with respect to the price to be paid for said debentures, the redemption prices therefor, the interest rate thereon and the underwriters' spread and its allocation:

It is ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the price to be paid for said debentures, the redemption prices therefor, the interest rate thereon, and the underwriters' spread and its allocation be, and the same hereby is, released and that the said application and declaration as further amended, be, and the same hereby is, approved and permitted to become effective forthwith subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24; and

CONSENT ORDER

The Parkersburg Sentinel Company, a corporation, publisher of "The Parkersburg Sentinel", an evening paper except Sundays, and The Parkersburg Publishing Company, a corporation, publisher of "The Parkersburg News", a daily and Sunday paper, both located in Parkersburg, West Virginia, are substantially owned and controlled by the same persons and have been considered by the Printing and Publishing Division of the War Production Board as one publisher having been granted consumption quotas as one newspaper. Considering the consumption by both corporations of newsprint as a single operation they have been charged by the War Production Board with having violated Limitation Order L-240 during the third and fourth quarters of 1944, and the first quarter of 1945 by excess consumption of newsprint over the authorized quota in an aggregate amount of 168.848 tons. At a hearing of this matter, before a Compliance Commissioner, it was discovered that the actual amount of over-consumption was 158 tons. This amount has been reduced by a voluntary payback of 16 tons in the third quarter of 1945 leaving an overconsumption of 142 tons. The Parkersburg Sentinel Company and The Parkersburg Publishing Company claim that these violations were due to an oversight on the part of their manager, but do not desire further to question the violations as charged. Since the violations have been admitted with the explanation stated, and since the company does not desire to contest the matter further before the Compliance Commissioner, an agreement has been reached by the company and the War Production Board and as hereinafter stated.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of The Parkersburg Sentinel Company and The Parkersburg Publishing Company, the Regional Compliance Manager and the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commissioner, It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) The Parkersburg Sentinel Company and The Parkersburg Publishing Company shall reduce their consumption of print paper in the printing of the above named "Parkersburg Sentinel" and "Parkersburg News" by 43 tons per quarter under the consumption quota of print paper they would otherwise have been entitled to use under the provisions of Limitation Order L-240 for each quarter beginning with the fourth quarter of 1945 and ending with the second quarter of 1946, and by 13 tons for the third quarter of 1946 unless otherwise specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board. The operations of the two corporations are intended to be covered, as in the past, as though they are one publisher.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve The Parkersburg Sentinel Company and The Parkersburg Publishing Company from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) The restrictions and prohibitions contained herein shall apply to The Parkersburg Sentinel Company and The Parkersburg Publishing Company, their successors and assigns, or persons acting on their behalf. Prohibitions against the taking of any action include the taking indirectly as well as directly of any such action.

Issued this 18th day of October 1945.

PART 1599—PROCEDURAL REGULATIONS

ISSUANCE OF ORDERS RESULTING FROM VIOLATIONS OF PRIORITY OR ALLOCATION ORDERS

War Food Order No. 78-1, 10 F.R. 2155, 9 F.R. 6202, 9943, 10 F.R. 2495, 10419 (formerly designated Procedural Regulation 1, 8 F.R. 16497, and redesignated as War Food Order No. 78, 9 F.R. 4319, 4321), is further amended to read as follows:

The following regulations are prescribed with respect to the issuance of orders necessitated by violations of priority or allocation orders or regulations administered by the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture:

§ 1599.1 Definitions. When used in these regulations, unless otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof:

(a) The term "Assistant Administrator" means the Assistant Administrator for Regulatory and Marketing Service work, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture.

(b) The term "Compliance Officer" means the official in charge of the field office of the Compliance and Investigation Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, serving the area in which a respondent resides or does business.

(c) The term "Respondent" means any person against whom a proceeding is instituted in accordance with these regulations.

(d) The term "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

§ 1599.2 Meaning of words. Words in these regulations in the singular form shall be deemed to import the plural, and, vice versa, as the case may demand.

§ 1599.3 Institution of proceeding. A proceeding under these regulations shall be instituted by the service of a notice upon the respondent by the compliance officer. The notice shall include a statement of the factual basis for, and the purpose of the proceeding.

§ 1599.4 Filing of answer and request for hearing. The respondent may, within five days after service of the notice upon him, file a written answer with the compliance officer setting forth his position with respect to the matters contained in the notice and, if he so desires, the respondent may, as a part of his answer, request an opportunity to be heard. The answer need not be in any particular form. The failure of respondent to file an answer shall constitute a waiver of any objection to the taking of such action as is deemed warranted.

§ 1599.5 When a request for a hearing is not filed. When the respondent fails to file an answer, or files an answer but does not request an opportunity to be heard, the compliance officer shall, on the basis of the information before him, including that contained in the answer, if such be filed, proceed as follows:

(a) When, for any reason, the compliance officer determines that the issues should be resolved in favor of respondent, he shall issue and cause to be served upon respondent, an order dismissing the proceeding;

(b) When, in the opinion of the compliance officer, the facts disclose that the proceeding should be terminated by the issuance of a warning letter, he may dispose of the proceeding by serving a warning letter upon the respondent; or

(c) When the compliance officer determines that an order (including, but not limited to, an order suspending, revoking, or withdrawing, in any manner, any quota, license, or authorization) should be issued against the respondent, the compliance officer shall make a recommendation therefor to the Assistant Administrator and transmit his recommendation, together with the docket and all the papers in the proceeding, to the Assistant Administrator.

§ 1599.6 When a request for hearing is filed. When, in connection with his answer, a respondent files with the compliance officer a request for a hearing, a notice fixing the time and place of the hearing shall be served on the respondent as hereinafter prescribed in these regulations: Provided, That, if the compliance officer determines that the information contained in the answer should result in resolving the issues in favor of the respondent, or if, for any other appropriate reason, the compliance officer determines to settle the issues in favor of the respondent, the compliance officer may, without a hearing, issue and serve upon the respondent such order, including a warning letter, as the compliance officer deems advisable in finally disposing of the matter.

§ 1599.7 Designation of presiding officer. The hearing shall be conducted by a presiding officer designated, by the Solicitor or his representative, from among those persons authorized to hold hearings. No person who has any pecuniary interest in the outcome of the proceeding; who has participated in any investigation preceding the institution of the proceedings; or who is related to any of the parties to the proceeding shall be designated to serve as presiding officer. In case of the absence, illness, resignation, or death of the presiding officer who has been assigned to a proceeding or, in case the Solicitor or his representative determines that, for other good cause, the presiding officer should not act, the powers and duties to be performed by him in connection with the proceeding may be assigned to any other person authorized to hold hearings.

(a) Rule upon motions and requests (all motions shall be in writing except that those made during the hearing may be stated orally);

(b) Adjourn the hearing from time to time and change the place of hearing (this power includes the right, for good cause shown, to continue the hearing so as to give the respondent a chance to appear where he has failed to appear at the designated time and place of hearing);

(c) Administer oaths or affirmations and take affidavits;

(d) Admit or exclude evidence;

(e) Issue subpenas requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and other documentary evidence;

(f) Authorize, take, or order the taking of depositions;

(g) Hear oral arguments on facts or law;

(h) Consolidate hearings where he deems such consolidation appropriate;

(i) Issue notices of hearings; and

(j) Do all acts and take all measures necessary for the maintenance of order at the hearing and the efficient conduct of the proceeding.

§ 1599.9 Notice of hearing. The presiding officer, upon being designated, shall immediately prepare and have served upon the respondent a notice of hearing, requiring the respondent to appear before him at a designated time and place. The notice shall state that if the respondent does not appear as directed, his nonappearance shall be deemed a waiver of any objection to the taking of such action as is deemed warranted. The notice of hearing, fixing a date for a hearing, shall be issued within a reasonable time after the filing with the compliance officer of a request for hearing by the respondent.

§ 1599.10 Prehearing conferences. In any proceeding in which it appears that such procedure will expedite the proceeding, the presiding officer may, at any time, request the parties or their counsel to confer with him to consider: (a) the simplification of the issues, (b) the possibility of obtaining stipulations of fact and agreements with respect to documents which may avoid unnecessary proof and examination of witnesses; and (c) such other matters as may expedite and aid in the disposition of the proceeding. No transcript of such conference shall be made but there shall be prepared and filed for the record a copy of any stipulations or agreements made as a result of the conference.

§ 1599.12 Contemptuous conduct. Contemptuous conduct by any person at a hearing shall be ground for exclusion of the person from the hearing.

§ 1599.13 Transcript or summary of evidence. No written transcript of the hearing is required unless requested on behalf of the United States Department of Agriculture or the respondent. If the respondent requests a transcript, he must provide for the making thereof and for the payment of expenses therefor. Where a transcript is made, two legible copies thereof shall be furnished to the presiding officer without charge within such time after completion of the taking of testimony as he shall direct. No transcript shall be made or considered part of the record until approved and certified by the presiding officer. In the event that no stenographic transcript of the testimony is taken, the presiding officer shall provide for the taking of such notes at the time of the hearing as will enable him to make a written summary of the relevant evidence received at the hearing.

§ 1599.14 Fees and mileage. Witnesses who are subpenaed and who appear in the proceeding, including witnesses whose depositions are taken, shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States, and persons before whom depositions are taken shall be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States, to be paid by the party at whose request the deposition is taken. Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witnesses appear, and claims therefor, as to witnesses subpenaed on behalf of the United States Department of Agriculture, shall be proved before the presiding officer and, as to witnesses subpenaed on behalf of any other party, shall be presented to such party.

§ 1599.15 Depositions. Upon the application of a party to the proceeding, the presiding officer may, at any time, order the taking of testimony by deposition. Applications for such an order shall be in writing. The presiding officer's order for the taking of a deposition shall be served upon the parties and shall state: (a) The time and place of the examination; (b) the name of the officer before whom the examination is to be made; and (c) the name of the deponent. The deposition shall be taken before the presiding officer, or before an officer authorized by the law of the United States or by the law of the place of the examination to administer oaths, or before a person authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture to administer oaths. The deponent shall be examined under oath or affirmation and shall be subject to cross-examination. The testimony of the deponent shall be recorded by the officer or by some person under his direction and in his presence. The officer shall certify on the deposition that the deponent was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the deponent's testimony. He shall then securely seal the deposition, together with two copies thereof, in an envelope, and mail the same to the presiding officer, where the deposition is not taken before the presiding officer. A deposition ordered and taken in accordance with the provisions of this section may be placed in evidence by any of the parties to the proceeding if the presiding officer finds that the use thereof will expedite the proceeding.

§ 1599.16 Defaults and admissions. (a) The failure of a respondent to appear at a hearing shall be deemed a waiver by him of the right to an opportunity to be heard and of any objection by him to the taking of such action as is deemed warranted by the facts. On such failure of the respondent to appear, the presiding officer shall prepare a certification as to the non-appearance of the respondent for the record and forward it, together with the docket, to the compliance officer. The compliance officer may take such action as is prescribed by § 1599.5 of these regulations.

(b) Upon the admission at the hearing by the respondent of the facts alleged in the notice served upon him, the presiding officer shall prepare a formal statement of such admission for the record. The presiding officer may, in his discretion, permit the introduction of evidence with respect to mitigating circumstances and conditions which will tend to assist in the determination of the nature of the final action to be taken. The presiding officer shall then forward the docket containing the record of the proceeding to the compliance officer. The compliance officer may thereupon take such action as is prescribed by § 1599.25 of these regulations.

§ 1599.17 Evidence. The testimony of witnesses at a hearing shall be upon oath or affirmation and subject to cross-examination. Any witness may, at the discretion of the presiding officer, be examined separately and apart from all other witnesses except those who are parties to the proceeding. The rules of evidence prevailing in courts of law and equity shall not be controlling. The test of admissibility shall be the reliability, relevancy, and probative force of the evidence offered. Remote hearsay and unreliable evidence, which would not be convincing to the ordinary man, should not be received. Likewise, purely cumulative evidence should be avoided whenever possible. The grounds of any objection to the admission or rejection of any evidence may be briefly stated. The transcript, if any, shall not include argument except as permitted by the presiding officer. The ruling of the presiding officer shall be a part of the transcript, if any. Evidence may be offered in written form where the parties agree. The presiding officer shall mark all of the exhibits received in evidence. Whenever practicable, an exhibit should be submitted with three copies. The refusal of a witness at a hearing to answer any question which has been ruled to be proper shall, in the discretion of the presiding officer, be ground for striking out all testimony previously given by such witness as to all matters. If a party to a proceeding or a witness refuses to testify on the ground of his privilege against self-incrimination, he shall not be compelled to testify unless directed by the presiding officer, with the consent of the representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, to testify pursuant to Public Law 507, 77th Congress, approved March 27, 1942 (Second War Powers Act), as amended and extended by Public Law 509, 78th Congress, approved December 20, 1944, 50 U.S.C., Supp. IV, § 633, et seq. Affidavits may be received at the discretion of the presiding officer if the evidence is otherwise admissible.

§ 1599.18 Order of proceeding. The presiding officer shall open the hearing with such statement of the purpose of the hearing and the procedure that will be followed as he may deem appropriate. A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, if present, shall then proceed to introduce either through an investigator or otherwise such data and information as is deemed appropriate in explanation and clarification of the position of the United States Department of Agriculture. Thereafter the respondent shall present such data and information in support of his position as he or his counsel deems appropriate and the presiding officer deems relevant. This presentation by the person affected may be in narrative form or in response to questions and may be presented through the respondent or other persons familiar with the relevant facts. At the close of the hearing the presiding officer may allow a short period for the presentation of oral argument or for a summary of the facts disclosed at the hearing and if he deems it advisable may allow briefs to be filed within a period prescribed by him not to exceed five days. Where practicable, three copies of briefs shall be filed.

§ 1599.19 Manner of service. Service of all documents required by these regulations to be served shall be made by personal service or registered mail.

§ 1599.20 Personal service. Personal service shall be made upon an individual other than an infant by delivering a copy of the document to him personally or by leaving a copy thereof at his dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein, or by leaving a copy thereof with his agent or a responsible individual at his usual place of business, or by delivering a copy of such papers to an agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process. Personal service shall be made upon an infant by serving such papers in the manner prescribed by the law of the State in which service is made for the service of summons or other like process upon any such person in an action brought in the courts of general jurisdiction of that

State. Personal service shall be made upon a domestic or foreign corporation or upon a partnership or other unincorporated association which is subject to suit under a common name by delivering a copy of such papers to an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process and, if the agent is one authorized by statute to receive service and the statute so requires, by also mailing a copy to such person.

§ 1599.21 Registered mail. Documents shall be served by registered mail by causing to be registered and mailed a copy addressed to the individual, partnership, corporation, organization, or association, who is the respondent, at his or its last known residence, principal office, or place of business.

The certificate in both cases shall disclose that the person was not a party to the proceeding and was over 18 years of age.

§ 1599.23 When answer or request for hearing shall be deemed filed. An answer or a request for hearing shall be deemed to have been filed on the date of mailing, as evidenced by the post mark at the place of mailing, or, if otherwise delivered to the office of the compliance officer, on the date of such delivery, as evidenced by the time it is marked "filed" in such office.

(2) The evidence received at the hearing, either stenographically transcribed or summarized by the presiding officer, including exhibits, stipulations, or other documents which have been received by the presiding officer; and

(3) Briefs, if any, received by the presiding officer.

(b) Where a summary statement of the evidence is made by the presiding officer, he shall, at the time of transmitting the record to the compliance officer, also submit copies of the summary statement of the evidence to the parties to the proceeding or to their representatives.

(a) When the compliance officer determines that the proceeding should be dismissed, he may issue and serve upon the respondent such order, including a warning letter, as the compliance officer deems advisable in finally disposing of the matter.

(b) When the compliance officer does not decide to terminate the proceeding, as described in § 1599.25 (a) of these regulations, he shall transmit the docket, together with his recommendation, to the Assistant Administrator for final action.

§ 1599.26 Issuance and service of orders by the Assistant Administrator. The Assistant Administrator, upon receipt of a docket containing all of the papers in the proceeding, may issue an order as recommended by the compliance officer or, where the Assistant Administrator does not follow the recommendation of the compliance officer, he may prepare and issue such other order as may be required to effectuate the disposition of the proceeding in the manner determined by him. The final order of the Assistant Administrator shall be served upon the respondent. The order shall not take effect until five days after the service thereof, or if an application for a stay is made within such five-day period, until the expiration of five days after the service of an order denying the stay.

§ 1599.27 Reconsideration. The respondent may, within five days after the final order of the Assistant Administrator is served on him, apply in writing to the Assistant Administrator for reconsideration. The filing of such an application shall not stay the effect of the order unless it is otherwise directed. Facts or arguments bearing on the merits of the policy embodied in the priority or allocation order or regulation violated will not be considered.

§ 1599.28 Modification or revocation of orders. The Assistant Administrator may, for good cause shown, modify or revoke any order issued pursuant to these regulations. This action may be taken upon his own initiative or upon application made by persons affected by the operation of the order.

Effective date. This order shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., on October 19, 1945. Unless the Assistant Administrator shall otherwise order, all proceedings pending on the effective date hereof shall be concluded in accordance with this amendment.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

MOLASSES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of molasses for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3293.91 Conservation Order M-54—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Molasses" means any molasses, sirup, sugar solution, or any form of fermentative sugar (derived from sugar cane or sugar beets) and hydrol (corn sugar molasses). The term does not, however, include sugar as defined in Rationing Order No. 3 or sugar intended for and used for manufacture into sugar as so defined, or edible molasses as defined in Food Distribution Order No. 51. Blackstrap molasses is any final molasses produced in the manufacture of sugar from sugar cane or from the refining of raw sugar and includes all beet molasses produced in the manufacture of sugar from sugar beets. Invert molasses is any molasses made from sugar cane without extraction of sugars. For the purpose of this order one gallon of invert molasses is to be construed as one and a half gallons of blackstrap molasses and one gallon of hydrol is to be construed as one gallon of blackstrap molasses.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of molasses and includes any person who has molasses produced for him pursuant to toll agreement.

(3) "Importer" means any person who transports molasses in any manner into the continental United States. Release from the bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs shall be deemed a transportation.

(4) "Primary distributor" means any person, other than an importer or a producer, who sells molasses which he has acquired (other than as broker) from an importer or a producer.

(5) "Secondary distributor" means any person, other than an importer, producer or primary distributor, who sells molasses which he has acquired (other than as broker) from some person other than an importer or producer.

(6) A person may, at the same time, be an importer, a producer, a primary distributor and a secondary distributor. His clasification, in a particular case, will be determined by the source of the molasses involved; i. e., with respect to molasses imported, he will be an importer, with respect to molasses acquired from a producer, he will be a primary distributor, etc.

(7) "Broker" means any person who buys and sells molasses on a fee basis as agent either for the buyer or the seller or both.

(8) "Class 1 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses in the manufacture of any one or more of the following products:

(i) Insecticides (except as provision is made therefor in paragraphs (a) (14) and (d) (3) hereof).
(ii) Lactic acid.
(iii) Graphite paste.
(iv) Printing rollers.
(v) Dye stuffs.
(vi) Ink.
(vii) Ephedrine.
(viii) Sugar for human consumption (produced from beet molasses).
(x) Biological and pharmaceutical products for human and veterinary uses, and any person who requires molasses for any one or more of the following purposes.
(xi) Dust extraction.
(xii) Leather tanning.

(9) "Class 2 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses in the manufacture (including custom grinding) of mixed feeds (including molasses treated beet pulp).

(10) "Class 3 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses in the manufacture of any one or more of the following products:

(i) Yeast.
(ii) Citric acid.

(11) "Class 4 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses in the manufacture of vinegar and any person who requires molasses for foundry purposes.

(12) "Class 5 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses in the manufacture (including blending and/or packaging) of any one or more of the following products:

(i) Molasses (edible).
(ii) Sirup (edible).

(13) "Class 6 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses in the manufacture of other products for human consumption (not specified above).

(14) "Class 7 purchaser" means any person who requires molasses for sale directly (without the intervention of any other handler) to persons who require the same for ensilage direct feed or insect control.

(15) "Calendar quarter" means the several three month periods of the year commencing January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1.

(17) "30 day supply" means a quantity of molasses not in excess of one-twelfth of the quantity used by a purchaser listed above during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1941. Purchasers shall determine a 30 day supply with respect to each use specified in the applicable subparagraphs above. Quantity shall in all cases be computed on a blackstrap molasses basis.

(18) "Fiscal year" means the twelve month period commencing October 1 and ending September 30.

(19) "Yearly supply" means a quantity of molasses not in excess of the quantity used by a purchaser listed above during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1941. Purchasers shall determine a yearly supply with respect to each use specified in the applicable subparagraph above. Quantity shall in all cases be computed on a blackstrap molasses basis.

(b) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected hereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(c) Restrictions on deliveries. Anything in Priorities Regulation 1 to the contrary notwithstanding:

(1) No Class 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 purchaser shall, during any calendar quarter (fiscal year in the case of a Class 3 or 5 purchaser), accept deliveries of molasses in excess of the quantity set forth below less any quantity in excess of a 30 day supply on hand on the first day of the calendar quarter (fiscal year in the case of a Class 3 or 5 purchaser) in which delivery is to be made:

PART 3290—TEXTILES, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

OPERATION OF LOOMS FOR COTTON BROAD WOVEN FABRIC PRODUCTION

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the production of cotton broad woven fabrics and materials for making cotton broad woven fabrics for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

(2) No person shall, regardless of the presentation of rated orders, operate looms contrary to the provisions in the schedules of this order. These restrictions shall not prohibit, after written notification to the War Production Board, the manufacture of any construction in any group in the schedules of lower pick than the lowest pick specified in the "May produce only" column as to such group, unless the War Production Board by a specific direction prohibits that manufacture.

NOTE: Unnumbered paragraph deleted Oct. 19, 1945.

(3) No person shall operate looms formerly operated in the production of cotton broad woven fabrics and which were acquired by him after June 30, 1944, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board. For authorization, an application may be made by letter to the War Production Board, stating all facts, including the type of fabric he wishes to produce, the name of the person who formerly owned or controlled the looms and the fabric formerly produced on them.

(b) Production direction. Each person in the business of producing broad woven cotton fabrics who, in the second calendar quarter of 1944, produced any construction marked with an asterisk on Schedule A, shall produce in each calendar quarter at least as much yardage of the constructions or types of fabrics marked with an asterisk within the same group as the greater of the following:

(1) Ninety percent of the linear yardage of such constructions which he produced in the second quarter of 1944, increased or decreased in inverse proportion to any change in pick he has made since then, or

(2) The linear yardage which can be produced by operating each loom producing such constructions for at least as many hours as any other loom in his mill is operated.

(c) Exception—(1) Explanation. This paragraph tells how a producer whose production is not needed for Army or Navy contracts or subcontracts may obtain an exception from provisions of this order or a direction to this order.

(2) Release of certain looms. Looms which, between August 28, 1944 and October 19, 1945, produced or were assigned to produce any fabric not of standard commercial construction to fill a contract or subcontract from the United States Army or Navy, unless otherwise directed, may produce any fabric marked with an asterisk on Schedule A, to the extent that the looms are no longer needed for the filling of Army or Navy contracts or subcontracts, if the producer files, before making the change, with the War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., a written statement substantially as follows:

The undersigned hereby certifies to the War Production Board that his contract(s) or subcontract(s) from the United States Army or Navy, Number ---------- for ---------- (insert yardage) yards of ---------- (insert kind of fabric) per month will expire on ---------- —have been extended—have been completed—(strike out whichever is inapplicable) have been terminated in whole or in part; that he is unable to obtain further contract(s) or subcontract(s) from the Army or Navy which would require after ---------- the use of the looms assigned to produce fabrics to fill these contracts; and that he intends to produce ---------- yards of ---------- per month on the looms which formerly or until ---------- (insert date) are or will be used to fill such contract(s) from the Army or Navy.

(d) Reports and records. All persons operating looms for the production of cotton textiles of any kind shall file with the War Production Board at the times specified in the reporting forms, reports on Forms WPB–658–A, B, C, and D, giving the information therein required. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for a period of not less than two years, accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales. The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(e) Appeals. (1) Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, with the Field Office of the War Production Board for the District in which is located the plant or branch to which the appeal relates, referring to the particular provisions appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(2) In cases of appeal for suspension of the requirements of paragraphs (a) or (b) on the ground that compliance will result in production at a loss, an application for price relief on that ground must first be filed with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and a copy filed with the WPB appeal. If the WPB appeal is granted, the requirement of these paragraphs for increases above current production will be suspended until the decision by the Office of Price Administration upon the application for price relief. This paragraph does not indicate or limit the extent or kind of price relief, if any, which may be granted by the Office of Price Administration.

(f) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(g) Violations. Any person who wilfully violated any provision of this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(h) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref., L–99.

Issued this 19th day of October 1945.

PART 1306—IRON AND STEEL

[RPS 49,[1] Amdt. 35]

RESALE OF IRON OR STEEL PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Price Schedule No. 49 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1306.154 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Each purchase, showing the date thereof; the name and address of the person from whom purchased; the point from which shipment was made; the destination; a complete description of the material furnished, including quantity, size, grade and quality, and any special operations performed for which the person from whom the material is purchased is making a charge; the price, (if a shipping point price, a copy of the papers indicating all transportation charges actually paid); and, if the price is altered by the issuance of any credit or debit by the buyer or seller, a copy of papers indicating the amount and description of such alteration. On any material which the seller is buying for resale from his stock in substantially the same form as received he shall furnish his source of supply with a purchase order bearing the statement "for resale from stock." Such statement shall be a representation to the Office of Price Administration that the material is for resale from stock in substantially the same form as received and is not being purchased for use. On any material purchased which has already been put through the "operations commonly known as the warehousing of iron or steel products," a notation shall be made to that effect, including a statement as to the point at which such warehousing operation was last performed.

Such record of purchases shall be kept for a period of not less than two years after such purchase by the seller.

2. A new paragraph (h) is added to § 1306.156 to read as follows:

(h) Any seller of an iron or steel product may apply for an adjustment in the applicable maximum delivered price in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph (h).

(1) When application may be filed. An application may be filed when a seller can show that:

(i) The cost incurred by the seller for a carload quantity of the product involved has increased because he is unable to secure it from his customary source of supply or a supplier of the same class;

(ii) The seller's maximum selling price is below his actual carload cost delivered to his location;

(iii) The product involved is essential to effective transition to a peacetime economy; and

(iv) The product has not been put through the operations commonly known as the warehousing of iron or steel products prior to its purchase by the applicant.

(2) Contents of the application. An application pursuant to this paragraph (h) must set forth the following:

(i) The name of seller and place from which the product will be delivered;

(ii) Use for which the product is intended;

(iii) A description of the product setting forth size, grade, type and any other specification pertinent to the sale of the product;

(iv) The facts substantiating the requirements set forth in (1) above;

(v) A statement that the seller is unable to obtain the product from the customary source of supply or suppliers of the same class.

(3) Amount of adjustment which will be granted. When the Office of Price Administration finds that the circumstances listed in (1) above are present, it will grant an adjustment in the applicable maximum price sufficient to enable the applicant to recover his actual carload cost of the product involved.

3. Paragraph (c) of § 1306.157 is amended to read as follows:

(c) "Iron or steel products" includes all of the products listed in (1) below, but does not include any of the products listed in (2) below:

(1) The term includes: All new products listed in the Table of Capacity and Production for Sale set forth in the Annual Statistical Report of the American Iron and Steel Institute, for 1939, pages 42–43; all such products further finished by galvanizing, enameling, plating, coating, drawing, extruding, or otherwise in a manner commonly employed by or for steel mills and rolling works; all such products which have been subjected to the operations of picking, flame or machine cutting, or pipe threading. It includes such products in prime or secondary or rejected quality. It also includes used cotton bale ties.

(2) The term does not include: Pig iron, concrete reinforcing bars to the extent that the sale thereof is covered by Revised Maximum Price Regulation 159—Fabricated Concrete Reinforcing Bars; any iron or steel products fabricated by stamping, punching, forging, plating, machining, etc; cut nails or cut tacks; steel gates; lead head nails; rigid conduit or thin wall conduit; welding rod; wire rope slings; communication or power transmission wire; cast iron pipe; pipe couplings (except when sold attached to pipe); pipe fittings; or rolled or forged axles and car wheels. It does not include any used iron or steel products except used cotton bale ties.

4. In § 1306.157 (s) is amended to read as follows:

(s) The operations commonly known as "the warehousing of iron or steel products" means the actual receipt and unloading of iron or steel products into premises, regularly maintained for such operation, equipped with facilities for performing such functions as receiving, stocking, sorting and grading, pipe threading or cutting, shearing, flame cutting or burning to size or shape, and shipping which functions are necessary or incidental to the rescale and distribution of the particular products brought into such premises. In no case, however, will such operations be considered as having been performed unless the premises referred to are maintained and operated by the owner of the material at the time it was put through such operations and unless the owner placed on his purchase order to his source of supply the statement "for resale from stock", as required by § 1306.154 (a) (1) or which was acquired by such owner, prior to September 28, 1945, under authority to purchase for delivery into his stock for resale in substantially the same form as received granted by the applicable regulations of the War Production Board.

5. In § 1306.159 (k) (2), subdivision (iv) is amended to read as follows:

(iv) Certain secondary or rejected iron or steel products. The maximum delivered price for secondary or rejected iron or steel products for which prices are not established for less-than-carload quantities in § 1306.164, Appendix G, shall be the mill price as established by Revised Price Schedule, No. 6; Provided, That on application to the Office of Price Administration, Metals Price Branch, Washington 25, D. C., by a seller a higher maximum delivered price may be established for the sale or series of sales in question. Such application should include:

(a) The name of the seller and the place at which the material was or will be put through the operations commonly known as the warehousing of iron or steel products.

(b) A complete description of the material including type, kind, sizes; whether sorted to specific sizes required by buyer; a complete outline of the operations which have been performed or will need to be performed, if any, to put the material in usable condition; and whether such operation, if any, will be performed by the buyer, seller or a third party.

6. Section 1306.159 (l) is amended to read as follows:

(l) Maximum delivered prices for all other secondary or rejected iron or steel products for which prices are not established in § 1306.164, Appedix F. The maximum delivered price for all other secondary or rejected iron or steel products for which prices are not established in § 1306.164, Appendix F, after such shearing, cutting, straightening, bending, or pickling as may be necessary, shall be computed in the same manner used by the seller on April 16, 1941: Provided, That such prices do not exceed the maximum delivered prices for comparable iron or steel products of prime quality.

7. Section 1306.159 (q) is deleted.

8. Section 1306.161 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1306.161 Appendix C. This Appendix lists some of the products included in the term "Iron and Steel Products" as defined in § 1306.157 (b) of that schedule. [RMPR 26,[1] Incl. Amdts. 1-19]

DOUGLAS FIR AND OTHER WEST COAST LUMBER

This compilation of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 26 includes Amendment 19, effective October 23, 1945. The text added or amended by Amendment 19 is underscored. Deletions, redesignations and changes in tables are indicated by notes.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.[2]

Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE OF THE REGULATION

SECTION 1. Prices higher than ceiling prohibited. (a) On and after June 9, 1943, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver, and no person shall buy or receive in the course of business, any Douglas fir or other West Coast lumber for direct-mill shipment at prices higher than the maximum prices fixed by this regulation, and no person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of these things.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged and paid.

SEC. 2. What products are covered. (a) This regulation covers all Douglas fir (Pseudotsuga taxifolia), West Coast hemlock (Tsuga heterophylla and Tsuga mertensiana) and all species of true fir (Abies) lumber produced in those parts of Oregon, Washington, and Canada lying west of the crest of the Cascade Mountains, and in California and Alaska. Any such lumber produced in these areas is covered, regardless of the kind of mill or plant in which it is produced. The term "lumber" as used here specifically includes mouldings.

The regulation applies whether the particular item is specifically priced in the price tables or not (except switch ties and cross ties, which are covered in Maximum Price Regulation 556[3]—Western Railroad Ties and Wooden Mine Materials).

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

(b) If a mill is located in Oregon, Washington, or Canada near the crest of the Cascade Mountains, or in California, and has customarily graded and sold its lumber under the Western Pine Association Grading Rules, it may apply to the nearest office of the Office of Price Administration for special permission to use the maximum prices established in Maximum Price Regulation No. 94,[4] instead of prices established in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 26. Such an application may be made by letter, and should be supported by evidence of the mill's actual practices in the past.

SEC. 3. What transactions are covered—(a) Direct-mill shipments. This ceiling applies to all shipments originating at a mill, no matter who the seller is, and no matter whether he usually is known as a mill, wholesaler, retailer or anything else. It does not apply to sales out of distribution yard stock. (The prices for yard sales may be found either in Maximum Price Regulation No. 215,[5] or in the General Maximum Price Regulation,[6] depending on the nature of the sale and the purchaser.) A shipment is regarded as originating at a mill if the lumber reaches the purchaser without ever becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution yard. A sale is considered a sale out of distribution yard stock only if the lumber was a part of regular yard stock at the time the sale was made. For example, if a retail yard takes an order for a defense housing project, and then brings the lumber from a mill, puts it in his yard, and delivers it as needed, the sale is subject to this regulation.

(b) How to tell a mill from a distribution yard. The term "mill," as used here, covers what are known in the trade as sawmills, planing mills and concentration yards. Three types of establishments are described below: the first, (1), a typical sawmill or planing mill; the second, (2), a typical concentration yard; and the third, (3), a typical distribution yard. An establishment which resembles (1) or (2) more than it does (3) is considered a mill; and one which resembles (3) more than it does (1) or (2) is considered a distribution yard:

(1) "A typical sawmill or planing mill" is an establishment which is chiefly engaged in manufacturing lumber from logs or rough lumber by sawing or planing; which is located in or near a lumber producing area; which makes and sells chiefly Douglas fir and associated species of lumber;

(2) "A typical concentration yard" is an establishment which concentrates and prepares lumber for commercial shipment, which keeps in stock mostly Douglas fir and associated species of lumber, which has its lumber brought in chiefly in rough green form by truck from small local sawmills and sells chiefly for rail shipment, and which has been located at its particular site to be near the lumber producing area;

(3) "A typical distribution yard" is a wholesale or retail lumber yard which gets lumber from mills or other yards; unloads, sorts, stores, and resells or redistributes it; which regularly maintains a varied stock of lumber from different regions; which gets its lumber mostly by rail and sells mostly for truck shipment; which is equipped to make quick deliveries of many different items of lumber; and which has been located at its particular site in order to be near a lumber consuming area.

(c) No quantity limits. There are no quantity limits on the transactions covered by this regulation. All direct-mill sales, large or small, are covered.

[Paragraph (c), formerly (d), redesignated, and former (c) and (e) revoked by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

SEC. 4. What persons are covered. Any person who makes the kind of sale or purchase described above, for himself or others, is subject to this regulation. The term "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group, their legal successors and representatives, the United States or any government or any of their political subdivisions or any agency of any of the foregoing.

[Note: Under the provisions of Revised Supplementary Order 44 (10 F.R. 11065) Revised Maximum Price Regulation 26 is adopted and affirmed to be applicable to the Territory of Hawaii]

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES AND TERMS OF SALE

SEC. 5. Basic prices and cash discount—(a) Basic prices. The maximum prices f. o. b. mill are set forth in Article V—Price Tables.

(b) Cash discount. If cash is paid, the maximum price must be reduced by the seller's August 1941 cash discount. For example, if the August 1941 discount for cash was 2%, and the maximum price without discount according to this regulation is $30.00, the maximum price when cash is paid is $29.40. When a seller was not in business in August 1941, 2% cash discount for payment in 10 days must be allowed. On specific written allocations issued by the Office of the Chief of Engineers, War Department, the terms 30 days net may be used regardless of former practices.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

(c) Temporary adjustment in maximum prices of boards priced in Table 1. (1) The following adjustments in maximum prices may be made by mills subject to and in compliance with the requirements of W. P. B. Direction No. 1-a to Order L-335, as amended June 18, 1945, so long as they are granted no exemption from the requirement of manufacturing a total of 65 percent of their expected monthly production in boards and dimension. All prices in Table 1, except for No. 4 boards (and for paragraphs 285 and 289 for which no addition is permitted) may be increased $4.50 per M'BM. Prices for No. 4 boards may be increased $3.50 per M'BM. These temporary price adjustments are not applicable to thicknesses greater than 1" nor to shims (covered by footnote 3).

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 14, 10 F.R. 5323, effective 5-8-45; and Am. 15, 10 F.R. 7528, effective 6-18-45]

(2) Any mill granted relief under section (c) (2) of War Production Board Direction 1-a to the extent of being permitted to manufacture less than 65% of its expected monthly production in boards and dimension or any mill unable to produce 65% boards and dimension because of the requirements of an individual War Production Board directive, may charge these adjusted maximum prices only for thirty days after the effective date of the War Production Board relief or directive, unless it files an application for price adjustment with the Office of Price Administration, District Office in Portland, Oregon, in the manner described below, in which case it may continue to charge the adjusted maximum prices for a further period (not to exceed thirty days) pending action by the Office of Price Administration District Director in Portland. The Office of Price Administration District Director may grant an adjustment in the basic maximum prices, but not to exceed the amount of adjustment in subparagraph (1), as is necessary to enable the mill to meet its total costs of production while operating under the terms of relief granted or directive issued by the War Production Board.

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Am. 14, 10 F.R. 5323, effective 5-8-45]

(3) An application for relief under paragraph (2) shall contain the following information:

(i) Operating cost statements for the first calendar quarter of 1944 and for the third calendar quarter of 1944 submitted on O. P. A. form 675-994 and containing the information called for on that form.

(ii) Production out-turn by grade and thickness for the first calendar quarter of 1944 and for the third calendar quarter of 1944 submitted on O. P. A. form 675-2036, and containing the information called for on Schedule III of that form.

(iii) Detailed estimates, or actual experience, of the changes in cost and changes in grade and size out-turn from those for the third quarter of 1944, which will result or have resulted from complying with the decision granting relief under W. P. B. Direction 1-a.

(iv) The O. P. A. District Office may at any time request applicants to submit additional information and failure to submit such additional information within 20 days after it is requested shall automatically suspend the right of the applicant to charge any adjusted maximum price in effect at the time.

(4) This section 5 (d) shall cease to be effective on whatever date W. P. B. Direction 1-a to Order L-335, as amended June 18, 1945, is withdrawn or modified except that mills may charge the adjusted maximum prices on shipments prior to November 1, 1945, of boards on orders placed by C. P. A. prior to August 15, 1945 for water shipment, which were manufactured prior to August 16, 1945, provided that prior to September 1, 1945, the mill reports such unshipped orders from C.P.A. to the Portland District Office of the Office of Price Administration, giving the quantities of boards manufactured but not shipped prior to August 16, 1945 against such orders.

[Subparagraph (4) amended by Am. 15, 10 F.R. 7528, effective 6-18-45 and Am. 17, 10 F.R. 10395, effective 8-22-45]

[Paragraph (c), formerly (d), added by Am. 12, 10 F.R. 4661, effective 4-25-45 and redesignated by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45. Former (c) added by Am. 7, 9 F.R. 4227, effective 4-18-44, amended by Am. 8, 9 F.R. 7505, effective 7-3-44; Am. 11, 9 F.R. 12537, effective 10-14-44; and revoked by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

(d) Pallet stock sold by mills on Government contracts and subcontracts. Under this paragraph, and regardless of maximum prices established in the tables of this regulation for short lengths, the Office of Price Administration may authorize maximum prices for pallet stock, based on cost of remanufacture from longer stock, only on Government contracts and subcontracts, and only when produced by a "mill," as defined in section 3, or by any establishment owned, controlled, or operated by a mill, or under common control with it. No person may charge for pallet stock prices higher than the regular f. o. b. mill prices established in this regulation for short lengths, unless he has received authority from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., to charge different maximum prices.

[Paragraph (d), formerly (e) added by Am. 13, 10 F.R. 5099, effective 5-4-45; amended by Am. 16, 10 F.R. 9798, effective 8-13-45 and redesignated by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

SEC. 6. Direct-mill retail sales. An addition of $3.50 per thousand board feet may be made on a sale of less than 18,000 ft. BM (or less than carload if by rail), to any buyer who does not purchase for resale, where the shipment originates at a mill and the seller:

(a) Sees that the lumber is delivered to the job site at such time and in such manner as the buyer specifies;

(b) Gives the buyer the privilege of exchanging the lumber and returning unused material; and

(c) Agrees to make good any shortage promptly from stocks kept on hand for this purpose.

The size of the sale is determined by the total quantity involved in the transaction without regard to whether it is broken up into smaller orders or deliveries.

SEC. 7. Sales on delivered basis—(a) Rail charges. (1) Only two methods of selling are recognized by this regulation. Any other method is prohibited, as a device to evade the ceiling by manipulation of freight.

The two permitted methods are: on a delivered basis using the estimated weights in Article VII, or on an f. o. b. mill basis with actual freight (figured, of course, on actual weights) to be paid by the purchaser.

The two methods may not be combined in a single transaction; that is, a seller may not sell on a basis which gives him the benefit of favorable estimated weights but requires the use of actual weights on items where estimated weights would be unfavorable to him. Note that sales described as "ceiling delivered," or as f. o. b. mill with freight paid or included to a given destination, are to be treated as sales on a delivered basis. In such cases, the given estimated weights must be used. However, sales f. o. b. mill with seller to pay the freight to a stated destination and include it in his invoice to the buyer is a sale on an f. o. b. mill basis, and settlement on the basis of the actual weights must be made.

(2) The estimated green weights may be used only when green lumber is actually specified and shipped.

(3) The transportation charge, when estimated weights are used, must be evened out to the nearest quarter-dollar per 1000 feet board measure (or nearest 5 cents per 1000 pieces of pickets).

(b) Common or contract carrier (other than rail). Where transportation is by common or contract carrier (other than rail) the only rule is that actual cost of transportation may be added to the maximum prices established under section 23 and section 24.

(c) Private truck. When shipment is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the following amounts only may be added for transportation to the prices established in section 23 and section 24. For distances up to and including 10 miles, $1.50 per M'BM; over 10 and up to and including 20 miles, $2.00 per M'BM; and over 20 and up to and including 30 miles, $2.50 per M'BM. Where the distance is greater than 30 miles, the seller may charge the amount of the railroad charge at the carload rate for the most similar haul, or $3.00 per M'BM, whichever is greater. Distance, as used in this paragraph, means the distance from the mill to the point of destination as measured by the speedometer. No addition may be made for the return trip.

[Paragraphs (b) and (c) amended, former (d) deleted and former (e), (f), (g) and (h) redesignated (d), (e), (f) and (g) by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45. Former paragraph (d) amended by Am. 2, 8 F.R. 11508, effective 8-24-43]

(d) Truck delivery after rail haul. When truck delivery to yard or job site follows a rail haul, and is specified in the order, the actual cost of truck delivery may be added. This may include the actual cost of handling and reloading involved in transfer from rail cars to trucks.

(e) All-truck haul. When an all-truck haul ends in delivery to the job site, no special addition may be made above the charges provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(f) Portland rate on delivered sales to California. Regardless of other provisions of this section, on delivered sales to purchasers in California, if shipment originates at a mill in California, or at a mill in Oregon from which the railroad freight rate to the California destination is less than the rate from Portland, Oregon to the same destination, the addition for transportation may be computed by multiplying the appropriate estimated weight as shown in Article VII by the applicable freight rate from Portland to the California destination. This provision does not apply to f. o. b. mill sales nor to direct-mill retail sales.

[Paragraph (f) formerly (g), amended by Am. 4, 8 F.R. 16249, effective 12-6-43]

(g) Government bill of lading. Where shipment is made on government bill of lading, the maximum price payable to the shipper may be computed by determining what would be the maximum delivered price on the basis of estimated weights and commercial rates and subtracting therefrom the commercial rate times the actual weights.

[Paragraph (g), formerly (h), added by Am. 4, 8 F.R. 16249, effective 12-6-43]

SEC. 8. Mixed car or mixed truck shipments. (a) $2.00 additional per M'BM may be charged for mixed car or mixed truck shipments. No addition may be made for mixed cargo shipment without special authorization under section 12.

(b) A mixed car shipment consists of four or more items as defined in paragraph (c) below, of at least 1000 board feet each. A mixed truck shipment consists of four or more items of at least 250 board feet each.

(c) For the purpose of paragraph (b), the following classifications of lumber of any different species constitute separate items:

(1) Boards, shiplap or strips, dimension, plank and small timber, and timbers (one or all these classifications constitute one item).
(2) Flooring.
(3) Siding.
(4) Ceiling and partition.
(5) Finish and rough clears.
(6) Stepping.
(7) Mouldings.
(8) Silo stock.
(9) Gutter.
(10) Cribbing.
(11) Lath and shingle band sticks.
(12) Casing and base.
(13) Shingles—any species (minimum 20 squares).

[Paragraph (c) amended by Am. 9, 9 F.R. 9720, effective 8-14-44]

SEC. 9. Sales for export. Maximum prices f. a. s. vessel for lumber to be exported when graded in accordance with "N" Export Grading Rules adopted by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association and British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers, Ltd., 1929, are set forth in Article VI of this regulation. Otherwise, the maximum prices for export sales are governed by Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[7]

[Sec. 9 amended by Am. 2, 8 F.R. 11508, effective 8-24-43]

SEC. 10. Lumber produced in Canada. The maximum prices for lumber produced in Canada west of the crest of the Cascade Mountains and sold in the United States shall be the maximum prices f.o.b. mill set forth in Article V plus additions for transportation permitted by section 7: Provided, however, That the amount of such addition may not be greater than if the shipment had originated at Seattle, Washington.

SEC. 11. Maximum prices for Alaskan lumber. (a) The maximum prices f.o.b. mill for shipments originating in Alaska and delivered to points outside the continental United States shall be the maximum f.o.b. mill prices set forth in Article V plus an amount equal to freight under the Maritime Commission's published freight rate from Seattle, Washington to the mill's shipping point, including surcharges, War Risk insurance, and wharfage and handling charges under the published Seattle Wharfage and Handling rate for comparable lumber.

(b) The maximum delivered prices for shipments originating in Alaska shall be the maximum price arrived at according to paragraph (a) plus transportation charges permitted by section 7.

SEC. 12. Items, services, or extras not listed. (a) If a seller wishes to sell an item which is not specifically priced in the price tables, or wishes to make an addition for special workings, specifications, services, or other extras for which additions are not specifically permitted, he must apply to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a maximum price. He must provide the following information:

[Section headnote and above paragraph amended by Am. 19, effective 10-23-45]

(1) The requested price;
(2) A complete description of the item to be priced;
(3) The price differential between it and the most comparable item in the price tables, between October 1, 1941 and June 1, 1942, from the seller's own records, or if that is impossible, from the experience of the trade. If no established price differential existed, a detailed analysis of comparative value should be furnished.

(b) As soon as the request has been filed, quotations and deliveries may be made at the requested price, but the final payment may not be made until the price has been approved. Action on the request may be by letter or telegram.

(c) In all cases where special prices have been approved by the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration under § 1381.62, paragraph (g) of the earlier regulation, Maximum Price Regulation 26, these special prices shall no longer apply if specific prices for the items are established by this regulation; but if no specific prices are established in the price tables, the price approved under the earlier regulation shall continue in effect.

(d) On any sale involving a "nonlisted" price or addition contemplated by paragraph (a) of this section, if the seller, for any reason, shall have failed to apply for approval of a maximum price under paragraph (a), the maximum price for the item sold shall be $15.00 per thousand board feet, which maximum price shall include all allowances or additions for grade, size, condition, special workings, specifications or other extras.

[Paragraph (d) added by Am. 5, 9 F.R. 1016, effective 2-1-44]

ARTICLE III—SPECIFIC DUTIES AND PROHIBITED PRACTICES

SEC. 13. What the invoice must contain—(a) F. o. b. mill price. All invoices must contain a sufficiently complete description of the lumber to show whether the price is proper or not. Any working, specification, or extra which affects the maximum f. o. b. mill prices must be mentioned in the description. The amount added for these does not have to be separately shown. If no grade is designated on an invoice for a particular item or items, the price of such item or items shall be $15.00 per M'BM.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 13, 10 F.R. 5099, effective 5-4-45]

(b) Charges for transportation. In all delivered sales, the invoice must show the:
(1) Point of origin of shipment;
(2) Destination;
(3) Rail rate, if estimated weights are used; otherwise the actual amount added for transportation;
(4) The words "Direct-mill shipment."

(c) Delivery and related charges. Any separate charge which the seller is permitted to make for truck delivery after rail haul, or for trucking to railhead, must be separately shown on the invoice.

(d) Direct-mill retail sale. If the "direct-mill retail sale" mark-up is permissible and is added, this must be separately indicated in the invoice.

SEC. 14. Averaging out—(a) Different grades, classes or sizes. Different grades, classes or sizes of lumber may be sold and invoiced at an average price if all of the following conditions are observed:

(1) The footage of each item must be shown separately, and a piece tally must be furnished for each shipment.

(2) The average price for the lumber actually shipped must not be higher than it would have been if all the individual grades, classes, and sizes shipped had been sold separately at the individual ceiling price.

(3) If the order is shipped in more than a single carload, truckload, or boat shipment, the following invoicing and charging practices must also be followed:

(i) The invoice must show that it is part of a larger order and identify the order. It must also show the individual ceiling prices for the various items of lumber actually contained in each shipment, and the average selling price agreed upon.

(ii) The charges which may be made and collected on account for each shipment must not exceed the average price agreed upon or the total of the ceiling prices for the items in the particular shipment, whichever is the lower. Thus, if an average price was quoted on widths from 4" to 12", and if a car of all 4" was shipped, only the 4" price can be charged and collected on that car. But if a car of all 12" widths was shipped, only the average price quoted could be charged on that car.

(iii) Upon completion of the order the seller must render a final invoice showing the quantity of each shipment or delivery, the freight charge for each if sold on a delivered basis, the amount received on account, the total amount due on the order at the agreed average prices, and a reconciliation of the total amount so computed with the maximum prices permitted by this regulation. Final payment and all necessary adjustments between buyer and seller are to be made upon the final reconciliation.

(b) Different freight rates. When a single order, for which a single flat delivered price was quoted and accepted, is shipped from two or more mills to a single destination on varying freight rates, the seller may average out the transportation charges. For example, if a wholesaler bids $33.00 per MBM on a single order of a hundred thousand feet of lumber, the ceiling price being $30.00 per MBM and the estimated freight $3.00, he can ship half of it on a rate resulting in a $2.00 freight charge and half on a rate resulting in a $4.00 freight charge.

(1) Where this practice is adopted, the seller must observe all of the following conditions:

(i) Each invoice must state that the particular shipment is part of a larger order and identify the order. It must also show the individual rates for each shipment or delivery.

(ii) The transportation charges which may be made and collected for each shipment or delivery, on account, must not exceed the average transportation charge figured on the entire order or the actual transportation charge for the particular shipment based upon the permitted estimated weights, whichever is the lower.

(iii) Upon completion of the order the seller must render a final invoice showing the individual f.o.b. mill prices separately, the amount shipped from each mill, the freight charge for each shipment, and a reconciliation of the total amount so computed with the agreed delivered selling prices and also with the maximum prices permitted by this regulation. In the event that the sale was made at an average price for different grades, classes or sizes of lumber as well as an averaging-out of transportation charges, the provisions of (a) above shall also be observed. Final payment and all necessary adjustments between buyer and seller are to be made upon the final reconciliation.

SEC. 15. What records must be kept. All sellers and all buyers who, in any one calendar month, sell or buy 20,000 board feet or more of Douglas fir or other West Coast lumber, must keep records which will contain a complete description of the lumber involved, the name and address of the other party to the transaction, the date of the sale, and the price. Such records must be retained for two years, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 16. Prohibited practices—(a) General. Any practice which is a device to get the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollars-and-cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright overceiling price. This applies to changes in credit practices and cash discounts and to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings and the like.

(b) Specific practices. The following are some of the specific practices prohibited:

(1) Getting the effect of a higher price by changing credit practices from what they were in October 1941. This includes decreasing credit periods or making greater charges for extension of credit.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 2, 8 F.R. 11508, 12815, effective 8-24-43]

(2) Refusing, without good reason, to ship except in specified or restricted random lengths, or in mixed cars, or under other circumstances which bring the seller an extra return.

(3) Selling as specified lengths or widths, a specific lot or shipment of lumber which is substantially equivalent to random lengths or widths, or reselling intact as specified lengths or widths a specific lot or shipment bought by the seller as standard or random lengths or widths, unless specifically permitted in the price tables. This prohibition shall not apply to shipments or deliveries which have been sorted out as to widths and lengths and then resold.

(4) Grading as a special grade lumber which can be graded as a standard grade; or wrongly or falsely grading or invoicing lumber.

(5) Making additions for special specifications, services, or other extras which are not specifically permitted.

(6) Refusing to sell on an f. o. b. mill basis, and insisting on selling on a delivered basis.

(7) Failing to invoice properly and in accordance with the requirements of this regulation.

(8) Unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard.

(9) Quoting a gross price above the maximum price, even if accompanied by a discount the effect of which is to bring the net price below the maximum.

(10) Making additions for kiln-drying, anti-stain treatment or other services, treatments, or specifications unless they are expressly ordered by the buyer.

(11) Getting a higher price by charging the buyer for ripping or resawing, or charging on the basis of an original size larger than the item actually delivered (for example, charging the price of 4 x 4" ripped to 2 x 4" on a sale and delivery of 2 x 4's) except where the items ordered and delivered are nonstandard sizes not specifically priced in the tables. This prohibition has no application where the buyer specifies the larger size to be ripped or resawn into items of smaller size and the resulting items are priced higher in the tables than the original larger size; for example, the buyer may order 1" x 4" x 12' #2 common, priced at $25.00 per MBM, ripped to 1" x 2" x 12'. By buying the larger size ripped the price to the buyer is lower ($26.00) than it would have been had he ordered the 1 x 2" as such ($29.00). In this example the maximum price is $26.00.

(12) Making the buyer take something he does not want in order to get what he does want; for example, making a buyer who orders No. 2 Common take all the upper grades that develop.

(13) Breaking up an order or apportioning deliveries in order to get the $3.50 direct-mill retail sale addition.

(c) Adding commission to ceiling prohibited. It is unlawful for any person to charge, receive or pay a commission for the service of procuring (including buying, selling, or locating lumber, or for any related service such as "expediting") which does not involve actual physical handling of lumber, if the commission plus the purchase price results in a total payment by the buyer of lumber which is higher than the maximum price of the lumber. For purposes of this regulation, a commission is any compensation, however designated, which is paid for the procurement of lumber. This prohibition has no application to the case of a bona fide employer-employee relationship where the employee serves only one employer, insofar as lumber procurement is concerned, and where the compensation paid by the employer is a fixed salary and is not based directly or indirectly on the quantity, price or value of the lumber in connection with which the service is rendered.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Supplementary Order No. 77, 8 F.R. 14310, effective 10–26–43]

(d) Combined grades. Lumber sold in a combination of grades may not be sold above the maximum price for the lowest grade in the combination. For example, the maximum price for lumber sold as No. 2 and better is the maximum price for No. 2. It is permissible, however, to quote on the basis of specified higher or lower grades developing to be shipped at the respective maximum prices for each grade actually developed and shipped, Provided, That not more than a total of seven grades of any one size of the same species may be charged for on any one shipment by rail or water, or on any one order delivered by truck, without specific written authorization by the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. (The additions of paragraph 300, 301, 302, 303, or 305 and the addition of the suffix "a" to any grade shall be considered a separate grade for the purpose of this paragraph.) Where shipments are made in this manner, each piece (or bundle if bundled) shall bear some symbol of grade identification, and each grade shall be separately invoiced and the identification symbol used on the lumber shall be shown opposite the respective grades on the invoice.

Alternatively, shipper may separate grades in loading and clearly identify by symbol the grade of each separate lot in the shipment and on the invoice. If such grade identification is not made in the shipment and on the invoice, the maximum price which may be charged for a shipment of a combination of grades is the price for the respective sizes of the lowest grade named in the order or in the invoice. Shop grades when sold to millwork manufacturers and items priced in tables 16, 17, 18, and 19 when sold for direct-mill shipment and only where final delivery is to railroad car builders, railroad car and equipment repair shops, railroad companies, or other operators, builders, or repairers of essential transportation or communication equipment are exempt from the requirements of this paragraph insofar as it pertains to the use of grade symbols on lumber and invoices.

[Paragraph (d) amended by Am. 2, 8 F.R. 11508, effective 8–24–43; Am. 5, 9 F.R. 1016, effective 2–1–44; Am. 9, F.R. 9720, effective 8–14–44; Am. 10, 9 F.R. 11112, effective 9–8–44 and Am. 13, 10 F.R. 5099, effective 5–4–45]

SEC. 17. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of shipment; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after shipment. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price or to give the authorization.

The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

[Sec. 17 amended by Supplementary Order No. 50 and Amendment 1 thereto, 8 F.R. 10568, 14310, effective 7–27–43]

SEC. 18. Special pricing rules. (a) Where the buyer specifies restricted lengths or an average length and the shipment or order fails to conform, the entire shipment must be priced at the random length price (unless the agreed price is lower).

(b) Where the buyer orders a random length shipment, and the given percentages of lengths as specified in footnotes to some of the price tables are not met because there is too large a percentage of shorts, the excess shorts must be priced at the separate prices for the short lengths.

(c) Where random length shipments required to average a specified length (e. g., 12' in the Board Table) fall short of this average, the price may not exceed that of the nearest shorter even length below the average length actually shipped.

(d) Where the order fails to specify the grade required, the seller may only ship and charge for No. 2 Common, unless otherwise agreed.

(e) Where the invoice does not specify the grade shipped or delivered, the price of the lowest grade in the shipment shall apply to the whole order.

(f) Where moisture content requirements are waived by the purchaser, the maximum price for the whole order, shipment, or delivery shall be the price herein established for green lumber. Where such a sale is made on a delivered basis, the seller may only use the given estimated weights for dry lumber in computing transportation costs.

(g) None of the additions permitted in the footnotes to the tables in Articles V and VI may be added to the prices of the various items set forth in the tables unless the order expressly requires the working, grade, condition, size, or length for which the additions are permitted.

ARTICLE IV—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 19. Petitions for adjustment or amendment—(a) Government contracts. See Procedural Regulation No. 6 [9] for adjustment provisions on certain government contracts or subcontracts.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Supplementary Order 83, 9 F.R. 973, effective 2–1–44]

(b) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 [9] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(c) In treating with petitions for amendment or adjustment, consideration will not be given to log and bolt costs which are higher than the applicable maximum purchase prices for logs and bolts established in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 161 [10] (West Coast Logs), or Maximum Price Regulations 313 [11] (Prime Grade Hardwood Logs) and 348 [12] (Logs and Bolts), or any revision or amendment of these regulations. This rule shall be followed regardless of whether the petitioner gets logs and bolts by purchasing them, logging his own standing timber, contracting for the logging of his own standing timber, or any other means. All petitions in any way based on the cost of logs or bolts must show the actual cost to the petitioner of logs and bolts received at his plant during the three months immediately prior to filing the petition, and the cost which would have been incurred by the petitioner if all of these logs and bolts had been purchased by him at ceiling prices. To figure these ceiling prices the petitioner should refer to the regulation which fixes the maximum prices for purchases and sales of the kinds of logs and bolts received at his plant.

[Paragraph (c) added by Supplementary Order No. 47, 8 F.R. 5808, effective 5-8-43]

SEC. 20. Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) War procurement agencies and their contracting or paying finance officers are not subject to any liability, civil or criminal, imposed by this regulation. Persons who make sales covered by this regulation to war procurement agencies and buyers to whom lumber has been allocated by any such agencies are, however, subject to all the liabilities imposed by this regulation. "War procurement agencies" include the War Department, the Navy Department, the United States Maritime Commission and the Lend-Lease Section in the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department, or any of their agencies.

SEC. 21. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[13] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation or schedule. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.
